

LABOR LEADERS TO HAVE INDICTMENTS

GRAND JURY RESULT

PAIR OF TRUE BILLS AGAINST UNION CHIEFS TO BE RETURNED SATURDAY, AND TWO MORE LIKELY SOON TO BE MADE

United Press Service LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Two indictments will be returned by the grand jury Saturday against two prominent labor leaders of San Francisco.

It is said they were responsible for the order which caused James McNamara to dynamite the Los Angeles Times.

Two other San Francisco laborites are likely to be indicted also.

Under a heavy guard, Orlie McManigal, star government witness, is likely to leave for Indianapolis Monday.

A request that he be sent here as soon as possible has been received here, and preparations for his departure were started today.

Although the federal jury probing the California end of the dynamiting cases are holding only afternoon sessions, great progress is being made.

FUN FANT AND FURIOUS AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Did you ever have a stage fright? Did you ever wake up in the middle of the night with a horrible nightmare and try to shout, and find you couldn't utter a sound? Did you ever slip and fall on an icy pavement or in a skating rink, when a large crowd were gazing at you, and you felt foolish? Well, all these things, and more will happen at the opera house tonight, when that bunch of fourteen amateurs strike the center of the stage and start to do their individual stunts.

TVELTMOE AND ANOTHER SOUGHT FOR TESTIMONY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—It is believed that Olaf Tveltmoe, secretary of the San Francisco Building Trades council, and Antone Johannsen, his companion, missing for two weeks, will soon be found by the federal authorities, who want them to testify before the federal grand jury in Los Angeles.

It is expected that Johannsen will appear, as his little daughter, Loreta, died suddenly at their home at Corte Madera.

Tveltmoe's attorneys say he will be here Christmas.

WANTS SMALL PORKER, BUT TAKES MOUNTAIN OF FLESH

Portland Man Asks for Diminutive Suckling Swine, But Is Favored With One That Will Give Prover-der for Some Time

PORTLAND, Dec. 14.—When it comes to designing a torpedo boat to wallop a dreadnaught or planning a fireboat that will make the Fire Flood take water, Fred Ballin feels at home, but when it comes to tackling a 250-pound hog (the farm, not street car variety), Ballin will draw the line next time.

Instead of a turkey, Ballin decided that a nice suckling pig would be the piece de resistance for the family dinner, so Ballin sent word into the country for a pig. He got plenty, more as plenty, more as he could use, for instead of a young pig the farmer shipped in a 250-pound hog.

First he canvassed the neighborhood to see if he could gather any orders for some prime pork, but the neighbors weren't hungry for that kind of meat. The market being glutted, Ballin found he would have to solve the problem himself. This he did by cutting up the hog and converting the kitchen into a smoke house.

He was clerk of Jackson county, Wisconsin, for several terms.

On June 6, 1909, he was stricken with paralysis, since which time he has been confined to his home.

ELKS' DOINGS ON FOR THIS NIGHT

NEW MEMBERS WILL BE ADMITTED TO SHARE PRIMEVAL FEELING WITH OLDER MEMBERS OF ANTIERD HERD

Tonight will be a night for doings by the Elks. Of course the Elks' pranks are strictly private, but at the same time the institution is a semi-public one in Klamath Falls, at least so far as notice of its doings are concerned.

Tonight, according to a ballot notice which has been sent out, the antlered herd will gather to admit a few members of a new class to roam in the forest primeval.

The new members will be nudged in the ribs by Elks' horns, and will, if overcome with emotion, be revived by the judicious use of latent extract of cervus alces. This term is taken from the Elks' inner code, and signifies—well, consult Exalted Ruler E. B. Hall he knows.

Notices have been issued by the order to members, stating that the night of December 29th will be devoted by the lodge to a celebration at the White Pelican hotel in the nature of an epicurean and intellectual feast.

The program will be an impromptu affair entirely, and will include musical selections and speeches. Every one called upon will be expected to "sing a shong, tell a story, or—wind the clock."

All members of the subordinate lodge are earnestly requested to be present and enjoy the evening with Ewauna Encampment.

JURORS EXCUSED; CASES NOT READY

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE MAKES VAIN EFFORT TO FIND WORK FOR MACHINERY OF LAW TO GRIND ON THIS WEEK

Judge Percy R. Kelly called the attorneys before him in circuit court this afternoon in the hope of getting some work for the jury and judge before Monday, but it was impossible. In such cases as one side was ready the other was unprepared, and in a good many neither side was able to take up the case.

In the case of Brager Bros. vs. F. C. Bamber, Attorney F. H. Mills announced that a petition in bankruptcy would probably be filed within a few days. This is a law case for the recovery of money.

As no cases were set the special venire of jurors, including William Irwin, J. B. C. Taylor, Carl Adams, Percy Scholl and S. B. Lowe, was dismissed, while the other jurors were ordered to report Monday morning.

SHORT CIRCUIT BURNS FACE OF CHEHALIS MAN

While Soldering Joint Artisan's Metal Pot Slips, Striking Wire, and Causing Short Circuit, the Flash Striking the Man

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 14.—While A. G. Nimerick was soldering a joint in the street car cable of the Washington-Oregon Corporation, his solder pot slipped and fell on the wire, causing a short circuit, the flash hitting Nimerick squarely in the face.

His left cheek was badly burned, as was also his forehead. He was particularly fortunate, though, in that his eyes were unharmed.

M. Nimerick was taken to the hospital, but was out again yesterday morning. His face is bandaged so that his friends have difficulty in recognizing him. His face will probably be scarred as a result of the accident.

DOUGLAS NOT AT HEART CRIMINAL

SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE INSANE ASYLUM INDORSES VERDICT OF LOCAL COMMISSION IN LUNACY, HOWEVER

That Alexander Douglas, self-confessed firebug, who was declared insane by a commission in lunacy consisting of Drs. C. V. Fisher, R. R. Hamilton and George H. Merryman, is undoubtedly so, and that the commission made no mistake in its finding, is the declaration of Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the state insane asylum at Salem.

Dr. Steiner, a former Klamath Falls resident, has written to this effect to Dr. R. R. Hamilton, in a letter which reads:

"Dr. R. R. Hamilton: My Dear Doctor—I am in receipt of your letter of the 8th of December with newspaper clippings. The insanity commission, of which you were a part, certainly made no mistake in declaring to the court that Douglas was insane. He did feign and try to string you fellows with his breathing and spasmodic actions. His is one of the most peculiar cases I have ever known. The fellow at heart is not a criminal, and never was. His physique indicates a degenerate and, probably, he is a victim of glantism."

RENSON SPEAKS OF SALEM'S GAIT

The Salem Statesman of Sunday last says: "Judge Benson of Klamath Falls, who was in the city yesterday, gave expression to the statement that Salem in the past four years has grown faster than any town in the Willamette Valley."

which the Klamath Falls district contains but two. But the five counties in the former district are compact, well settled, and enjoy rapid connection, in many instances by electric roads, which makes it easy to get from one county seat to another.

In the local district, however, it is a different proposition. The two counties are large ones, and it is a day's hard travel, and not by rail, to go from one county seat to another. Just when Judge Benson will return to this city cannot be learned. Judge Kelly will leave for Dallas probably Tuesday next.

STRONGLY DEMOCRATIC. ARIZONA'S LEGISLATURE

PAVING MAN ILL, STATE IS SERIOUS

SAMUEL A. McMAHON, SUFFERING FROM A SEVERE COLD WHICH DEVELOPS INTO CONGESTION OF LUNGS

Samuel A. McMahon, who with James H. Hughes of the Rudolph S. Blome Paving company, Chicago, came here Saturday to answer to charges of bribing Mayor Fred T. Sanderson and President Marion Hanks and Councilman Russell A. Alford of the city council, is severely ill at the White Pelican hotel.

Mr. McMahon caught cold in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, just before coming to Klamath Falls, and while he was able to be on the street yesterday morning he was attacked by severe pains later in the day which proved to be from congestion of the lungs.

JAIL DELIVERY FOILED BY OFFICERS AT COLFAX

Forger Caught in Clever Attempt to Gain Freedom From Durance Vile Imposed as Result of Wrongly Signed Check

COLFAX, Wash., Dec. 14.—Louis Rowlan, who has been sentenced to the Monroe reformatory for forgery, was caught in a clever attempt to break jail here. Rowlan was concealed on top of a water tank in the corridor of the jail, planning to be locked there for the night.

He had made a lamp out of a tin can, and had several case knives cached away, expecting to dig through the brick wall during the night, but was caught by Deputy Sheriffs Cole and Estep. Rowlan claims he will not go to the reformatory. He has a wife and an infant at home. Rowlan forged a check on John Keating of Colfax for $25, and attempted the second forgery when caught.

SCHOOL HOUSE IS DEDICATED

DISTRICT NO. 42 OPENS TEMPLE OF LEARNING WITH APPROPRIATE CEREMONIES—DISTRICT IS LATEST ORGANIZED

On Tuesday evening, January 12th, the beautiful new school house building in School District No. 42, fourteen miles southeast of Klamath Falls, on the Merrill road, was dedicated by well selected exercises. The program consisted of an excellent number of songs and recitations by the school children, a clarinet solo by Mr. Spidell and music by Mrs. Russell Elliott and Miss Donelson, and a short address by County Superintendent Swan. Mrs. Donelson deserves much praise for the success of the program. After the program the many chil-

POINTER SETTLES IN PATELLA CASE

AGREEMENT REACHED

BROKEN KNEECAP ISSUE WINDS UP BY THE PLAINTIFF TAKING SLIGHTLY LESS THAN JURY'S OLD AWARD

Settlement of the case of H. E. Pointer vs. the Klamath Falls Land and Transportation company last night led to Judge Percy R. Kelly and the jurors left out of the venire—who number just an even dozen, by the way—having a little time hanging heavy on their hands this morning. When the case of Cantrall vs. Carroll came to a conclusion yesterday the court dismissed the jurors, with the understanding that they should appear at 9 o'clock this morning it being expected to go ahead with the Pointer case.

The new school building is a frame structure, of the most modern architectural design for a rural school building. The lighting is excellent, and as soon as possible the board will install a modern heating and ventilating plant. The building contains a large school room, well furnished, two entry rooms and a teachers' room and library. The interior walls are plastered, the wainscot and casings are stained a warm brown. There are ample blackboards of natural slate.

The grounds consists of two acres, all of which is under irrigation. These are being leveled, and will be seeded to grass and flowers and planted to trees and shrubbery.

The school is under the care of Miss Mollie Donelson as teacher. Miss Donelson is teaching her first term in Klamath county, and if she continues as popular as she is in her present school she will be in demand as teacher in our schools.

The directors are E. C. Ream, John Matney and Levi Ward, and the clerk is J. Russell Elliott. These men were influential in organizing the district, and have worked faithfully in getting the building erected and the school started. They deserve much credit for the thorough way in which they have done their work.

A community that will take this interest in school affairs and do things in the thorough way in which they have started their school, will attract the most desirable home seekers, and make rural life pleasant.

WEATHER STUDY FOR SINGLE DAY

NO NOTABLE EXTREMES RECORDED BY MERCURIAL THERMOMETERS—RECORD LOW FOR SEASON WAS 14, MONDAY A. M.

Last night's low was 21 at 8 this a. m., against 19 yesterday and 17 Tuesday. The temperature at 8 a. m., 21, compares with 19 yesterday and 20 Tuesday. Last night at 8 o'clock it was 24, against 23 Tuesday night and 24 Monday night. At 3 o'clock yesterday the mercury stood highest for the day, 40, against 33 Tuesday and 36 Monday.

The lowest temperature so far this winter recorded in Klamath Falls was on Monday at 7 a. m., 14 degrees.

When Pointer had the case up in the circuit court here the jury awarded him $2,750 and interest, although there were some of the jury who wished to make the amount higher than this, $9,000 or $10,000. But the element who were unwilling to give the plaintiff such a large sum were obdurate, and as a result the $2,750 was finally the amount the jury rendered its verdict for.

The bill of the plaintiff asked for $10,000 general and $3,000 special damages, but Judge George Nolan, then presiding on the circuit bench in this district, decided that there was not a showing sufficient to pass a special damage issue to the jury, so the twelve men were instructed to pass on the case as to the general damages in issue.

When the supreme court considered the case, on its being appealed by the defendant, the higher bench decided to send the case back to the circuit court for another trial, holding that the lower court erred in allowing opinion of witnesses as to whether it was negligence for the plaintiff to ride standing in his wagon. The upper court said that the testimony of witnesses could be allowed if it were merely to show whether such manner of riding was customary.

Pointer, it appears, was riding in his wagon across the street car track of the defendant in the good old days when the single "boss" car plodded its weary way homeward or otherwise, up and down Main street. The jar of striking the car track upset Pointer, and a broken patella, or kneecap, resulted, for which damage he sued.

The $2,500 settlement is for just $250 less than the old verdict would have secured to the plaintiff.

By a garnishment proceedings the plaintiff tied up $3,500 of the defendant's money on deposit with the American Bank and Trust company, after which an order was secured from Judge Henry L. Benson, before his departure for Dallas, lifting the garnishment, the defendant paying $1,500 on the claim. George C. Clark's contracting firm is building the Lost River diversion dam for the government.

Evidently, from Mr. Innes' statement today, the entire claim has been paid.

Settlement Announced in Case in Which Clark's Money is Attached

Walter Innes of the Innes-Clarke Lumber and Box company stated this morning that the proceedings entered by that company against George C. Clark for the recovery of money had been settled. Neither the circuit court docket nor the circuit court journal had an entry of dismissal at the time this morning when Mr. Innes gave the information to the Herald.

The action was entered November 25th, the plaintiff company claiming $2,704.68 as a balance due out of a bill of $7,226.93 for lumber furnish-

Eloping Juror Gets Home, Asks Food, Is Arrested, Thought Insane

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Tired and haggard as a result of dodging the police for three days, Juror Waldron, whose disappearance stopped Dr. Hyde's murder trial, reappeared at his home today, and asked his wife for breakfast.

He was arrested. Waldron said he escaped because he was worried over business affairs and suffered with homesickness.

At 11 o'clock he was brought to Judge Porterfield's court, and the judge began an examination to determine whether the jury should be discharged on account of Waldron's mental condition, as it is believed he is insane.

Later—Judge Porterfield dismissed the jury on account of Waldron's mental incapacity. A retrial will probably be ordered immediately.
