THE EVENING HERALD

W. O. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor J. M. STOWELL, City Editor Published daily except Sunday at 115 Fourth Street KLAMATH FALLS, - OREGON FRIDAY, DEC. 15, 1911

AVOIDING THE HORNET'S NEST

W. O. SMITH announced that he would suspend the operation of the Oregon criminal law which provides capital punishment for those convicted of murder in the first degree, he picked for the uttering of his manifesto a particular time.

Maybe some will term it a physiological moment. At any rate it was a certain period which would find his excellency absent.

That he wished for absence in order to escape any possible criticism or the flutter of comment that would naturally follow such a proclamation seems the natural inference.

It is said that he "who fights and runs away may live to fight another day," but Governor West has acted in a way that indicates that he is not fond of a scrimmage, and that he would rather let the turmoil his doings cause to be vented on some of his subordinates rather than on himself.

His motto is evidently to the effect that "he who runs away and fights not, may never feel the battle hot."

For his message telling the people of the state of Oregon of his intention to suspend the operation of a law which he was sworn to uphold and execute, the governor chose the time when he would be speeding to the far East with governors of other states on the "Governors' Special" train which will advertise the advantages of the great Northwest.

Some of them were killed, a number of others severely beaten, and the remainder took refuge in flight.

LOVER INSANE, CHARGE AGAINST ARDENT SWAGMAN

Has Wooded Object of Affections Ten Years, Only to Be Lodged in Ward of the Detention Hospital Said to Say

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—Ten years Emanuel McKeon has spent in a case of love at first sight. Miss May Keunerman, only to be lodged in the detention hospital on charge of insanity, as a result of his attentions.

According to McKeon's story if a young lady did not take kindly to his attentions and avoided McKeon when possible. In order to see her, McKeon worked as a conductor line which she rode frequently.

CHINESE PIRATES LOOT A PASSENGER CRAFT

City of Wu Chow Terrorized, Pirates Vengeance Attack by People of Canton, Whom Robberies Have Stirred Up

HONGKONG, Dec. 15.—One of the most impudent acts of piracy occurred on the West River, when a passenger boat steaming along near the town of Shiu Hing was looted almost completely of the contents of the cabin.

Some of them were killed, a number of others severely beaten, and the remainder took refuge in flight. Robberies continue in Canton, and thieves, when caught, are at once headed.
