30 Head Steers

As fine as ever bred the sweet alfalfa of this glorious Klamath Basin are now being fed, lamb-like, to the sacrifice pen to feed the good people of Klamath Falls for the holidays. These cattle were secured over two months ago for this special occasion.

An extra fine line of milk-fed veal and lambs. Harley-fed pork, turkeys, chickens, celery, cranberries, oysters galore.

Take a walk up. I will show you as fine and artistic line of meats as you ever saw.

Take a walk up. I will show you as fine and artistic Display of meats as you ever cast a critical eye over, and we have put them up from New York to San Francisco and from Alaska to Mexico.

Idle Hands and Idle Lands

The Herald of the 14th, inst., contains a very interesting article by Mr. John Austad, setting forth the deplorable condition of labor and discussing at some length the remedy, or means by which the present social system may be altered so that one and all may be able to make a living.

Referring to idle hands and idle lands, I think Mr. Austad will agree with me that the single tax system will certainly free the land and all natural opportunities and make them accessible to those who would have need of them and who would use them. It would do more than that. The full rental value of land produced by the people and taken for the needs of the people, would mean that each and every one of us would have an undivided interest in all the natural resources of the country in which we live. The rental value of land represents the utility value of all inventions, discoveries and improvements ever brought forth to ameliorate man's condition on earth. It represents the value, or combined values, of human beings to one another.

Statistics taken in Detroit, Mich., show that for each baby born in the city there is a corresponding increase of from two to three hundred dollars in land values.

That "very few workers could settle on land, even if it was freed," is partly true. But that is considering conditions as they are today to continue to exist. When they are freed for being industrious, freed for building a house, a chicken coop, for having a cow. Locked in by a robber tariff. Driven by land monopoly far away from the centers of population and transportation, production hampered an trade prohibited as if it were a crime, is it any wonder? If men were free to produce and free to exchange, does Mr. Austad think that an able-bodied man would continue in want? Suppose we should try the experiment of setting labor and land free an experiment that has never been thoroughly tested, is it not highly probable that labor, labor that produces everything, could support itself?

The farmer, whose average wage is $29 a month, is not so much a land owner as he is a laborer. He is, strictly speaking, one of those "ultimate consumers," upon whom is saddled a horde of indirect taxes. The machinery trust exists by virtue of the protective tariff. The wholesaler must have his "pound of flesh" to give to the landlord, and also a pound to give to the tax collector for the taxes on improvements an building wherein he carries on his business; taxes extra for street improvements, etc.; and the farmer pays. Moreover, production is not at an end by having market his corn and cattle, but when they have been converted into what he needs of clothing, coffee, sugar, books, toys for his children, or anything else. And if that part of production called exchange is interfered with, enclaved as it is today, then he is subject to being exploited. With the single tax in full force all this robbery would disappear. I do not deny that there are other swindlers in operation in our present social order, as, for instance, the present monetary system, which has no other reason for its existence than that the majority wants it, and are willing to pay the price. But I see no need of government ownership of everything under the sun until we have set production and exchange free and given labor an opportunity to exert itself in a land of liberty.

There is a book called "Progress and Poverty," and if Mr. Austad will kindly study that book carefully he will find that the single tax will appeal to him as it has to all who desire to establish justice on earth.

Oceano, Calif.

WHAT'S THE REASON?

Many Klamath Falls People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Likely the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood, and that is the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills.

Below is grateful testimony from a sufferer in this locality.
Mrs. M. L. Merrill, 219 South street, Redding, Calif., says: "For some time I had severe pains in the small of my back and hips, and was so lame that I could hardly get out of bed without assistance. My kidneys were weak, and I was caused much annoyance by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and I was soon free from kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills have my highest endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Capital and Labor Must Be Kept Busy

In the right channels to keep the nation prosperous. National prosperity is the collective result of local prosperity and "confidence" is the mysterious thing back of both. Confidence is necessary in all walks of life to bring success, for without it there can be no future. Our own town needs the confidence of her people. A town is known by its works just as a man is known by his deeds. There's no better way to show your confidence in the town than to be known as a home owner and no quicker way to gain your share of the independence for which our Revolutionary fathers fought than to own a home. Better start today—come in and talk-it over with us—we can give you a good idea of the total cost as well as the kind of timber you'll need.
