

INTERURBAN FROM LAKEVIEW PLANNED

WOULD HIT BONANZA

PROMISED SUCCESS OF HORSEFLY IRRIGATION SCHEME GIVES NEW LIFE TO ENTERPRISE BEFORE CONSIDERED

With the success of the Horsely irrigation project practically assured there is a story current that an electric line will be constructed from Lakeview to this city. According to what meager details are obtainable the work on the enterprise will be begun in the spring, and work will not be completed until the year following.

Whether the work will start on both ends of the proposed route simultaneously or begin at one end and work through is not stated, nor can the backers of the intended route be made known at this time.

It is expected to have the line come via Bly and Bonanza, either through the Yonah Valley, of which Dairy is the metropolis, or via the Poe Valley.

The distance to take in Bly and Bonanza is about 110 miles, and takes in some of the best farming districts in Oregon. It is believed that the introduction of such a line would mean a wonderful building up of the agricultural regions between the termini of the route, and result in a rich harvest for the promoters.

No doubt the construction of such a line would tend to cut down the business done by the stage lines, if it did not put them out of business altogether. It would handle both passengers and freight, the greater profit proportionately being in the freight traffic.

As it is now the means of communication between Lakeview and this city is by stage only, and a rough passage it is. If the plans of the electric line are perfected it will bring the capital cities of Lake and Klamath counties within about four hours' ride of one another, as it is no trick for modern interurban electric cars to cover thirty-five or forty miles, if not more, per hour.

A wonderful influx of settlers is predicted to follow the completion of the route, as small farming would pay in districts that are now too remote from markets. An electric line would bring the farmer working along intensive lines closer to his markets, and be a factor for furthering agriculture that is practically inestimable.

The proposed transportation proposition is not altogether new, for John D. Carroll had it in mind several years ago, when he was boosting Bonanza and trying to get agricultural acres cut up into small sections. He hoped to see enough small farms in sight to warrant an electric line across the country, but hard times in 1907 tended to impede his plan.

LA FOLLETTE STRIKES OHIO FOLKS WHO BRAVE STORM

To Hear Him in Army at Cleveland, Five Thousand in Audience, Despite Blizzard Which Hugged in Forest City—Will Talk to Railway Men

United Press Service
CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—La Follette left this morning, en route to Norwalk and Toledo.

Enthusiasm here was marked. Five thousand last night braved a blizzard to reach Gray's army.

At noon La Follette speaks to the railway employes and to residents of the rural community near Norwalk.

Toledo is tonight's stand. La Follette delivered address No. 3 to a big crowd in Norwalk. When told Taft has announced he would follow up the tour La Follette said:

"Progressives will sweep Ohio. I've watched the ground swell. I've met the breakers, and I know."

WATER USERS TO DISCUSS TOPICS

FOURTEEN SUBJECTS IN LIST OF MATTERS VITAL TO THEIR INTEREST WHICH WILL BE TALKED ABOUT

At a meeting of the Klamath Water Users' Association to be held in this city the first Saturday in January there will be discussion of a large number of topics of vital interest to the homesteaders who are patrons of the irrigation furnished by the government.

It is proposed to discuss the following questions:

1—The homesteader to be given absolute title as soon as cultivation and residence provisions of law are complied with. (Covered by recommendation of recent conference at Chicago.)

2—The three-year homestead law. 3—Recognition on the part of the water users in the matter of expenditures. (Covered by resolutions adopted at conference.)

4—The question of the competency of the engineers, and better service generally from the reclamation service.

5—As to whether proceeds from the sale of government town lots shall be applied locally or turned into the general reclamation fund.

6—That more liberal terms in the way of payments be granted to the water users.

7—The enactment of adequate laws protecting the water users in the ownership of all canals, reservoirs, power sites, water rights, and other properties and resources acquired under the reclamation act.

8—A plan by which individual users may be granted relief in emergencies through the local association in the way of extension of time of payments.

9—That every government irrigation project be affected adversely by seepage conditions, be provided with adequate and timely drainage facilities.

10—That with the approval of the board of directors of the Project, Water Users' Association, the secretary of the interior may extend time of payment of construction and maintenance charges for not to exceed one year at any time, adding interest at a reasonable rate per annum on all such deferred payments.

11—That the reclamation act be so amended that the secretary of the interior may, upon petition, turn over to the local Water Users' Association the management and operation of any completed project, or portion thereof upon payment of the first installment of construction charge for the major portion of the lands covered thereby.

12—That an extension of the time for making payments on the construction charges be granted giving the water users thirty (30) years from the opening of the project in which to pay for the same.

13—That the 160 acre unit of ownership and residence requirement as to private lands be eliminated.

14—That the reclamation act be so amended that it will be possible for water users to borrow money on their lands for improving the same.

The committee was instructed to call a meeting and report not later than today. This afternoon no report had been made to Judge Benson.

FORBIDDEN GRADE BOMB LABOR ANARCHIST USED

Question of Judge Bordwell Asked McNamara Brings Out That They Used Explosives 80 Per Cent Higher Than May Be Shipped

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28.—The significance of the single question asked the McNamara brothers by Judge Walter Bordwell in Los Angeles when the dynamiters stood up to receive sentence has dawned upon labor leaders here through the publication of the 1912 regulations for the shipment of explosives by the interstate commerce commission. Judge Bordwell asked:

"Are you sure the dynamite used in the Times building was not more than 80 per cent dynamite?" The reply was: "No, it was 80 per cent."

Regulations forbid entirely the transportation in interstate commerce of any dynamite containing more than 60 per cent of nitro glycerine.

Judge Bordwell's question is now said to have been asked for the express purpose of getting this statement of the McNamara into the record for future use. The McNamara refused to testify before the federal grand jury, yet caught off their guard they actually did give what the government expects will prove valuable evidence in the cases to come in Los Angeles and Indianapolis.
