MODEL FARM NEAR BURNS BEING RAPIDLY COMPLETED

In Four Months 200 Acres Have Been Cleared, Most of This Plowed, and Number of Substantial Buildings Erected

Special to The Herald

CORVALLIS, Jan. 16.—Great progress in the working out of the plans of the branch experiment station of the Oregon Agricultural college in Harney county, five miles from Burns, is reported by Superintendent Leroy Breithaupt, who is in consultation with Director James Withycombe and Professor H. D. Scudder, and will spend several weeks with them, outlining the demonstration and experiment work to be conducted this year. Professor Scudder considers that area as presenting the most difficult problems in dry farming of any in the United States yet developed for this purpose, but he believes that persistence and good methods will result in successful production of crops.

When Mr. Breithaupt took the superintendency in September the farm was nothing but an arid stretch of absolutely dry virgin soil, with nothing but sage brush on it. In the past four months the whole 200 acres has been cleared of brush and 120 acres plowed. An excellent flow of water was found at a depth of 100 feet and a well sunk. The barn, machine shed, a combination cellar-wood house-pump house, teamster's cottage and a superintendent's residence have been built, and the farmstead laid out with a view to both convenience and attractiveness. The teamster's cottage is a model for the farmer who is just beginning, and cannot afford an expensive structure, while the superintendent's residence is a model for the man who has made his farm successful. The other buildings are also models of their kind.

Fences, gates, roads walks and lawns will be put in during the winter and early spring, and a thoroughly cultivated fallow will be given the entire farm this first year, to conserve moisture for the first crops to be produced in 1913. Some crops may be sown this spring, to prove that they cannot be grown successfully the first year on virgin soil in that district. The buildings and entire farm are to be equipped with modern conveniences, to demonstrate that farming in a dry region is not necessarily so full of discomforts, and that the house may be as convenient and attractive as one in the city. Both hot and cold water will be piped through the house, which will have a bath room and inside toilet, and a lawn hydrant for watering purposes and a barn faucet will also be piped from the well, which will have the pumping done by a gasoline engine. The same engine will operate a small dynamo for lighting all the buildings by electricity at small cost. Utility, convenience and economy as well as attractive appearance and the health of the residents have been considered in planning the barn, the two houses and all the buildings.

"Mr. Breithaupt has handled the work at the station very successfully so far," says Professor Scudder, "and he is imbued with enthusiasm and determination for the future. It is recognized by the authorities here that there are many extremely difficult problems to solve in the Harney district before dry farming can be made the greatest success. I regard the Harney area as presenting the most difficult problems in dry farming of any area in the United States yet developed for this purpose, but believe good methods and persistence will bring successful production."

GERMANY WANTS AFRICA'S CENTRAL PART, NEW RUMOR

Portuguese Colonies Predicted as Likely to Be First to Fall, King Manuel Said to Have Contemplated Giving Them to Germany

United Press Service

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Germany has its eyes on almost the entire central portion of Africa, according to stories circulated here, and it is publicly stated that Portuguese colonies will be the first to fall to Germany.

A well known Portuguese writer claims that the deposed King Manuel was eager to turn over Angola to the Kaiser for German support in regaining his lost throne. The Free Congo would come next, and so on.

KLAMATH REPUBLICAN

THE HOME PAPER OF KLAMATH AND LAKE COUNTIES

It has been estimated that half a million dollars was spent by the farmers of this section last year with mail order houses. A little money spent in judicious advertising would secure this trade to the Klamath Falls business man. Can any merchant afford to neglect this opportunity?

The KLAMATH REPUBLICAN covers every section of Klamath and Lake Counties

It already has the circulation. The farmers want to know what inducements you have to offer them to trade with you. If you do not tell them you alone are to blame for their patronage of mail order houses.
