The Best Advice On Lumber Costs The Least Money

and when we say to prospective home builders that "now's the time to build," we are offering you really sound advice. No matter what you have heard about cheaper lumber, take it from us that you're on the safe side if you build right now. We haven't been in the lumber business for years for nothing—we know a thing or two and we're willing to admit that you do, too, but in the face of all this talk nowadays about timber conservation, we believe you'll agree that lumber has a fixed value, and that by delaying the building of your new home you will gain nothing but inconvenience.

We believe we can convince you the above is good advice—let's talk it over.

CHANGE THE SYSTEM

IT IS an encouraging condition when the people of a city or community begin to take more than a passive interest in the management of the business of their city, and this is just what the people of Klamath Falls are beginning to do today. From the conversation you hear on every hand, on the streets and in the home, it is evident that the people clearly realize that the business of the city is not being handled in a proper manner under the present system.

While there are many suggestions being offered as a remedy, it seems to be the unanimous opinion that present conditions are not right, and that a change must be made in order that Klamath Falls should grow and develop as its resources and location would warrant it to do so. There are many who will tell you that all that is necessary is to elect a new mayor or some certain councilman whom they might mention, but we contend that it is not wholly the man, but rather the system that is at fault. There is no corporation or individual who would trust the management of their business to a person or persons who made that business secondary to their own personal interests, and who could only devote such time to the work as they might be able to conveniently spare from looking after their own affairs. Then why should a city depend on such an unbusinesslike system of conducting their business affairs?

There is only one way in which to get results desired, and that is to hire capable men to give their entire time to the service of the city, and hold them personally responsible to the people for everything done or undertaken. A corporation will pay a man what his position is worth, and he must make good or his job is gone. Why cannot a city do the same? The bigger the business, the bigger the man needed, and the business of the thousands of people who constitute a city is certainly of more importance than that of a single individual, and needs greater ability in its proper management.

This fact is realized in all of the most progressive cities of the country, and for this reason years have been devoted to the best solution of the problem by the biggest men both in private and public life. As a result, city after city is adopting the commission form of government, until now it is recognized as the only modern method of city government. Commission government is no longer an experiment, and Klamath Falls would be taking no chances in adopting it. There are plenty of proofs to be obtained as to its working.

United Press Service
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—As the work on the Panama canal draws to a close and it becomes apparent that the difficult problems of construction and engineering have been successfully solved, interest in social conditions in the canal zone increases, and visitors returning from Colon and other places in the vicinity are eagerly questioned as to "what takes the place of the theater and other amusements in the zone?"

Unfortunately no data are available either here or in Panama to make possible a comparison between this country and the canal zone, but it is the opinion of careful observers that the American canal workers have as many breaks and see of as good quality, in their lives as they had in their "home country."

Moving pictures of instruction and entertainment to home when price and stability is considered, are the principal source of entertainment in the zone. A large number of "waxie picture" houses, many of them as elaborate as those in the States, dot the Isthmus, and these draw their nightly quota of amusement seekers.

A fact that attracts the attention of canal zone visitors almost immediately is that different classes of pictures are popular in different parts of the zone, and the managers, realizing this, cater to the tastes of their audiences. At Empire and Christofol the slaughter of Indians and like Western pictures elicit the most applause; at Gatun the residents seem to care more for the slightly pathetic or tragic films, while at Culebra, Coronal and Colon there is a distinct leaning toward the more romantic scenes.

The commission club house, as a response to the demands for dancing and music, have secured the services of bands which play at stated times at the popular clubs, while dances, to which the only necessary invitation is a respectable character are of frequent occurrence. In addition to this there are a number of minstrel shows given every winter by organizations in the different cities while itinerant theatrical troupes have been known to visit the zone. It must be admitted, say the returned visitors, that theaters—as such—are not much of a success in Panama. Amateur theatricals, particularly when the play presented is a well known one, are extremely popular, however.

Last year a choral society was organized at Empire and rendered effectively several oratorios. This year a similar society is practicing at Gatun, and a glee club is rounding into shape at Culebra for a tour of the canal villages.

So that the American in Panama, be he visitor or permanent resident, will have but little trouble in finding something to while away the long tropic nights.
