Assessor in Washington Burg Decides to Enlist Help of Women as Deputies to See That Fraternity Pays Its Right Share of Personal Taxes

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 8.—Determined to get a proper valuation of diamonds, jewelry, furs, rugs and other expensive trappings of wealthy Spokane women, Assessor G. R. Creighton has sworn in seven women deputies, who begin work on March 1.

CRATER LAKE ROAD URGED BY MORROW

only, and then the grading of the Rim road from the lodge to near Round Top (about twenty miles) should be completed. The principal hotel of the Crater Lake company will ultimately be located on the Rim road near Round Top. After completion of this work, if the Natron cutoff is completed, the Bear Creek road should be graded. These roads should then be improved by surfacing, while the remainder of the Rim road is being graded. The road to the Pinnacles should be undertaken last of all the road work, as a wagon trail can be easily opened up for use during the early work.

"The initial appropriation for the work should be about $100,000 to provide plant, shelter and camp buildings and stores, in addition to a working fund. For the succeeding two years the annual appropriation should be about $75,000, after which time it should be increased to about $100,000 annually, provided the Natron cutoff is completed, as is anticipated. Under this plan it will require about seven years to complete the work, but the grading from the Klamath entrance to the Bear Creek entrance, including about twenty miles of the Rim road connecting the two establishments of the Crater Lake company, together with considerable of the surfacing of this much of the road system, would be completed in three working seasons, and all of this road, together with the Medford entrance, could be graded and surfaced by the end of the fourth season.

"It is the opinion of this office that as much of this work as possible should be completed prior to the San Francisco exposition of 1915. If this is done, a visit to this park will be one of the favorite side trips, especially as it can be included with a tour of but one day and at little expense by all tourists making the trip via Portland. More rapid progress than outlined above could be made if the work were authorized under some such system as the continuing contract system used in some of the river and harbor work.

"In closing this report this office desires to state that the improvement outlined herein is an exceptionally worthy one. It is doubtful if any view existing in the world today is as impressive and at the same time as beautiful as the view of this lake from its rim. Hundreds of people make the trip now year after year under adverse conditions for the pleasure of this view, and as the railroad approach is improved, as it shortly will be, the park should be made as accessible as possible for the thousands of tourists that annually travel between San Francisco and Portland."
