SACCHARIN AGAIN

THE JOURNAL OF AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION says, in a recent editorial, that the attitude of the department of agriculture on any subject connected with public health is: When in doubt, let the public take the risk.

For years those who are competent to speak on the subject have declared that the use of saccharin in foodstuffs is deleterious to health, but the department of agriculture permitted its use in unlimited quantities with the understanding that the referee board was to investigate the question and report on it. In the course of time the report was sent in—and it was adverse to the use of saccharin! On the strength of the board's findings, the department declared that after July 1, 1911, foods containing saccharin would be regarded as adulterated within the meaning of the food and drugs act. Naturally enough those manufacturers that have grown rich in substituting a cheap drug—saccharin—for an expensive but wholesome food stuff—sugar—at once brought all the pressure possible to bear to have the decision of the department either rescinded or modified. As is usually the case, when the interests of the manufacturers clash with the interests of the public health, public health got the worst of it and the users of saccharin were given an additional six months during which it would still be legal to add this chemical to foodstuffs. As January 1, 1912, the end of the period of probation, drew near, a little more pressure was applied to those officials who are supposed to stand between the public and the food sophisticators. Again the officials yielded, and another extension of time was given to February 1, 1912.

The newspapers of January 30, 1912, contain the statement that still another extension has been given, to March 1, 1912. How much longer this will go on can be best judged by those who are familiar with the methods of official Washington. The spectacle is not a pretty one, and does not tend to increase public confidence in the department of agriculture.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN.

Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physics May Cause Distressing Complaints. You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given. Ordinary pills, cathartics, and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They sometimes cause griping, nausea, and distressing after-effects, and may actually injure the health, thus establishing a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee REXALL Orderlies as a safe and dependable remedy for constipation and associated bowel disorders. We have such faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

REXALL Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

MONEY FORCED TO CITY BY LAW, SAYS CARNEGIE

Former Ironmonger Says Finance Concentrate in Wall Street for Ready Cash for Speculators in That Thoroughfare

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Andrew Carnegie says there is a "money trust," not the kind of trust that the politicians in Washington want to investigate, but a concentration of money in Wall street because of the country's archaic banking system.

"Our national bank law," says Mr. Carnegie, "is responsible for the huge concentration of the country's money in New York. Do you realize that nearly one-sixth of all the real money in the United States is on Manhattan Island? This is the real 'money trust.'"

"The New York banks last year received $687,000,000 from the rest of the country and sent back only $468,000,000—net gain of $218,000,000. Why does New York get this money? The national bank law provides that a country bank must hold a cash reserve of $15 against every $1,000 of deposits, but the bank may keep $9 of this $15 in reserve in city banks. These reserve city banks must hold a cash reserve of $25 against every $100 of deposits, but they may keep half their reserves in the central reserve cities—New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

"The reserve cash in a country bank is idle—it earns nothing, but deposited in a New York bank it earns 2 per cent. It is this 2 per cent that lures the country banks' money to Wall street. You know what New York does with this money. It loans it to Wall street speculators at 3 or 4 per cent. Every $100 cash left in a New York bank by a country bank is the basis of $400 in loans to Wall street for speculation in stocks, grain and cotton.

"Isn't this a bad way of doing things. There isn't another country in the world that legally provides for such a concentration of money in one board to be used by speculators. We can't check the 'money trust' until we stop this pouring of money into Wall street for speculation.

"This is one reason why I believe the most vital question before the people today is banking and currency reform. We must stop the piling up of money in New York for speculative use, and we must enlarge the market for the use of loanable funds to promote agriculture, industry and commerce. Commercial paper, not stock brokers' notes, must be made the chief investment for bank funds here, as it is in Europe. This is one of the basic principles of the National Reserve Association.

"England, France, Germany and other countries have safeguarded their bank reserves, and can use them to prevent money panics. Hence their safety. We don't. Hence our danger. We are the only country in the world today that has money panics, the final burden of which is borne by business and the disaster of which falls upon innocent workmen and women. It is really criminal to delay action now.

"Congressional investigation of the 'money trust' will show that we have a dangerous banking system, a system that concentrates funds in Wall street and breeds panics, and this investigation will be an unanswerable argument for banking and currency reform."
