KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON
FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1912

THE A. S. O. K.

WE PRESUME that it was the intention of the morning paper, in referring to the Amalgamated Society of Kickers, to cast ridicule upon the voters of the city who favor a business administration for the city of Klamath Falls, and are opposed to an administration whose financial policy has brought ruin to the credit of the city. An attempt at ridicule is not an argument, and is only resorted to when there is no defense.

We are afraid that the morning paper will wake up and discover that the so-called A. S. O. K. in this instance, has among its membership a large majority of the taxpayers and citizens of Klamath Falls. While our friend has used over two columns of type and has said absolutely nothing, he has shown to the people of this city what he might have done in a very few words, that, without experience and knowledge of the true state of affairs, he allies himself with Sanderson and anything that Sanderson might represent.

ISN'T IT RIDICULOUS?

TALK about argument. Here is one that ought to please Mr. Sanderson, and be sufficient to defeat the commission charter or any measure that would change the present method of doing business by the city of Klamath Falls. We will quote the exact words:

"And this brings us to the question as to whether we need to rush about this matter. Let's see. Let's suppose that the A. S. O. K. charter is adopted.
The petition asks us to vote on it at the general election, May 6. All right. Assume that it is voted upon and passed. Then where are we? We will straightway have to amend the charter if we want to build the sewers and make it possible to refund the city's warrant indebtedness. And we must do both of these. Right now, city warrants are selling all the way from 75 to 85 cents on the dollar, exclusive of salary warrants. That means that when any man sells the city a dollar's worth of goods, he gets back only 75 or 85 cents. Of course, he does that only once. The next time he adds enough to his price to make up for this. And so the city has to pay a higher price for its wares than anyone else. Because its credit is bad. Isn't that ridiculous, when you come to think of it? Isn't it ridiculous for the affairs of a municipal corporation to be in any worse shape than those of any other corporation?" We will leave it to you, Mr. Taxpayer if it is not indeed ridiculous.
The above conditions prevail in this city after Mr. Sanderson has had four years of absolute control. The conditions have reached such a state that the advocate of Mr. Sanderson asserts that it is imperative that something be done. We must permit the mayor to issue more bonds, borrow money, or something. The trouble is Klamath Falls is too small a city for Mr.
Sanderson. He should go to San Francisco and run for mayor there. The opportunities are greater there, and this is too small a place for a man of his ability.

AS TO SEWERS

"As to sewers. They are very badly needed in the Mills addition and in other portions of the town. The people who live where there are sewers have no right to deprive the families living in other portions of town from adequate and sanitary sewers. Every minute that sewers are not installed adds to the danger from disease and this is outrageous for the people who live in the sewerless portions of town, and dangerous for all the rest of us as well."

THUS reads the argument of Mr.
Sanderson, by which he expects to get the support of the voters of Mills addition. What excuse is he going to offer these people for not giving them this badly needed sewer system long ago? Let us figure a little.
The city is limited to a bonded indebtedness of $150,000, which we claim is amply sufficient for a city of the property valuation of Klamath Falls. We have issued $40,000 for sewer bonds, $10,000 water bonds, and expect to spend $45,000 for a city hall and fire apparatus. This will use up to $95, 000 in bonds, which leaves a balance of $55,000. Surely this should be sufficient to build all the additional sewers Klamath Falls will need for years to come. Why has Mr. Sanderson neglected to protect the rights of the people of Mills addition for these four years he has been in office, when he had authority under the present charter to supply them with sewers which they are justly entitled to?

Many of the residents of Mills addition are already asking this question, the same as other parts of the city?
No, Mr. Sanderson, you must stand on your record, for it is a long one.
Promises won't go. Even your sudden activity in attempting a bluff toward giving Mills addition that street connection which they have been asking for three years, will have no effect in fooling these people longer.

SERVIAN KING SNUBBED BY ENGLAND'S MONARCHY

Peter, High Mogul of Former Diminutive Domain, Fails to Gain Favors With George, British Sovereign, But Takes It Placidly

United Press Service

LONDON, March 1.—The king of Serbia has been snubbed by the king of England. In the very politest manner known to royalty King George has caused it to be intimated that he is "not at home" to King Peter. But the peace of Europe is not at all endangered thereby, for Serbia is much too small a state to resent the slight.

Having recently been socially recognized in such a handsome manner by the czar of Russia by reason of his daughter's marriage into the Russian royal family, Peter concluded it was about time to pay a few friendly calls on his brother monarchs throughout Europe. Therefore the foreign office at Belgrade was directed to tout for the necessary invitations. Emperor Franz Josef of Austria consented to receive him, but some of the other courts, although willing to forget and forgive the fact that Peter's ancestors were goatherds, felt that the murder of King Alexander by Peter's friends was of too recent date to make him a desirable guest.
