

STRONG ADVICE TO HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

WHETHER AND WHAT

EMMA DRAKE GIVES PRIVATE TALK TO BOYS AT HIGH SCHOOL—STUDY OF BOYS AN INTERESTING SUBJECT

Mrs. Dr. Emma F. A. Drake, the well known physician and educator, who has been doing so much good and giving so much helpful advice to the different clubs and societies, journeyed to Klamath Falls this morning to give the boys a private talk. She took as her theme "Whether and What?"

She treated these as a nucleus and covered them at length, varying the subject with apt illustrations and examples of the different walks of life into which people are daily treading. She said it was with the boy that she particularly wanted to speak, and to him she wanted to guide the path which may have gathered about him and lead him to see just where he is. No boy is lost in this world that there is a chance for him to start right, and that every boy may go somewhere. No matter who his companions are in this world he should have some aim in view, some goal to reach, or a destination that he hopes to attain during his walk through life. It is his moral training in the guiding step, and no success can be attained without this. Mrs. Drake said that she had had the boy and his habits, environment, capacity and disposition for years, and that he was the most interesting subject that she had come to deal with. The boy's interests are many more than that of the girl, and what that influence is to be can only be determined by a careful study of the right and wrong to which he is daily subjected. If all would master self and it would facilitate his desire that which he thought would bring the betterment of his character. She showed by an example the ancient Ulysses had been held by the fair enchantress and had obtained from the temptations which had presented themselves in a like manner the boy should raise his standard of morals to an extent that he would not be led by temptation.

The doctor advocated the pursuit of education as the one great end of self control, and if every boy would endow himself with right habits, with the pure and clean life, his would not be in danger of jumping on the right side of the fence of life or the wrong side. "What" of life is what we are going to do, to live it the way we know how. What will our life be? The boys of this country are influencing the people of humanity as the whole nation.

and if he is in the right path it will not only make the best of an impression at home, but just as well abroad. The high school student of the present day is looked up to as an example of what our future great men are going to be. If they set themselves the "right kind of standard now it develops into his future life. The doctor quoted the words of Mr. Moody, "Character is what one is in the dark." She said that there was a world of meaning in this, and the whole problem was centered around it. Is the boy of the present day willing to stand by what he does in his every day life? Is he willing to let others know just what he is doing? Is he satisfied that his best friend should know his every action? Our thoughts must be such that were they to be quoted to others we would not be ashamed of what we say. Cleanliness in speech and cleanliness of thought should be the ambition of every high school boy, and he should work toward this aim. Refrains from temptations, ignore bad company, disdain to do anything of immoral character and it will be pretty sure to follow that an upright life will be instilled.

The doctor completed her talk by saying that she would answer any question which might be submitted to her. As a result of this visit that many of the problems of the daily life were asked her, and Mrs. Drake answered them to the best of her ability.

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—The house rules committee is planning a trip to Lawrence to probe the entire textile industry. M'HATTON BACK FROM SO. AMERICA

HAD A FINE TIME, BUT THE OLD FLAG IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM—VISITED THE PANAMA CANAL

Thad McHatton has returned from an extended trip to Panama and Central America, where he went in company with Alex Davis, the cattleman. Mr. Davis returned as far as San Francisco, and will remain in that city for a few weeks.

McHatton has been absent for about two months, and has traveled about 20,000 miles. From San Francisco they went to New Orleans and then to Colon, Panama, where eight days were spent in investigating the work on the Panama canal. Mr. McHatton states that the engineers and men in charge of the work were very accommodating, and went to considerable trouble in explaining the work to visitors. Special excursion trains were run several times a week, to give everyone an opportunity to see the great engineering feat being accomplished by the United States government. He states that during the time of his visit fully 1,000 visitors and sightseers were at the canal.

A stop was made at Costa Rica in Central America, and from there side trips were made into the mountain country. They thoroughly enjoyed every portion of the trip, and Thad says that he believes he saw everything that was to be seen. He says that they were thrown out of bed by an earthquake, and decided that it was no country for boys, and so started for home.

"I had a fine time," said McHatton, "but the flag looks good to me, and the old rag is good enough for Thad."

United Press Service WASHINGTON, March 14.—In the house today the democratic ways and means committee presented the "Excise Tax" bill, designed to provide $53,000,000 revenue that will be lost if free sugar passes.

The report favors an income tax, but expresses doubts as to its constitutionality. It allows but few to escape whose earnings exceed $5,000 annually.

The senate finance committee, by a vote of 8 to 6, decided to report adversely the democratic house bill revising the metal schedule.

NOBLE FAULDER TAKEN TO THE PENITENTIARY

MAN SENTENCED TO DEATH PENALTY WILL BE TURNED OVER TO SUPERINTENDENT OF THE STATE INSTITUTION

Deputy Sheriff James Wheeler and E. B. Henry left on the morning train for Salem, having in custody Nobel Faulder, who was convicted of murder of Louis Gebbert, and who was sentenced Wednesday by Judge H. L. Benson to be hung on May 3, 1918.

Mr. Faulder will be turned over to the superintendent of the state penitentiary for confinement. His attorney, C. M. O'Neill also left on the morning train for the north, and he has been given thirty days in which to file a motion for a new trial or to appeal. Even should no appeal be taken, it is not probable that Faulder will be executed on the date set, as Governor West has so far extended the date of all executions until after the election in November, when the people will have an opportunity to vote on the question of abolishing capital punishment.

RACE FOR MAYOR STIRS INTEREST

MANY CANDIDATES ARE BEING TALKED OF ON THE STREETS FOR MAYOR AT THE ELECTION IN MAY

No one has as yet entered the race for mayor against F. T. Sanderson, although quite a number of names of suitable men have been mentioned. It is generally understood that Mr. Sanderson will be a candidate for reelection, although he has made no public announcement to this effect.

With two chapters to be voted upon and with such a wide difference of opinion in regard to the financial policy of the city, the indications are that there will be more interest taken by the voters in the coming city election than in any that has been held for years.

Among the names mentioned on the street as suitable candidates for mayor in addition to Mr. Sanderson are Judge T. F. Nicholas, R. A. Emmitt, Hunter Savidge, Judge A. L. Leavitt, Councilman G. W. White, Horace Dunlap, W. A. Deitzel, H. Manning, A. E. Elder, J. A. Maddox, E. R. Romnes and Judge L. F. Wilts. While none of those mentioned have as yet announced that they would permit their names to be considered for the position, it is evident that there will be plenty of material for the people to choose from when the time comes.

WILL INCREASE MILL CAPACITY

ALGOMA MILL WILL CUT 125,000 FEET TIMBER—COMMENCE SAWING DAILY FOR SAME SATURDAY

H. Hovey is down from the Algoma Lumber company's headquarters on the Upper Lake. He says that George C. Clark, the contractor, is busy driving the piles for the foundation for the new saw mill. The company has decided to enlarge the mill over the plans first made, and more power is to be added, so that the mill will have a daily capacity of 125,000 feet for a ten-hour shift. The mill will be equipped with both band and gang saws.

The new saw mill, which was purchased by the Algoma company, will be started in operation Saturday, and will cut the timbers for the new mill and for other buildings and residences. As soon as this is done the old mill will be torn down. Work on the residences has not commenced as yet, as there is considerable snow still on the ground, but as soon as this goes off the new mill town will become a busy place.

Judge Thornton Massie had just sentenced Allen to three years imprisonment when his friends opened fire, killing Judge Massie, Attorney Foster, Sheriff Blankenship, Juror Douglas and another juror. TWENTY PASSENGERS HURT AS TRAIN HITS BAD RAIL

United Press Service POUGHKEEPSE, N. Y., March 14.—A broken rail wrecked the Twentieth Century limited near here yesterday morning early. Twenty passengers were injured, eleven seriously. Five cars went into the river and were three-quarters submerged. The occupants, many in their night clothes, were imprisoned in the icy water until they broke windows and crawled through. Women tore their undergarments to make bandages.

The fact that the cars were of heavy steel is believed to be the only thing preventing heavy fatalities.

United Press Service ROME, March 14.—An attempt was made today to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel II, while on his way to the Pantheon to attend memorial services in honor of the birthday of his father, King Humbert, who was assassinated in 1900.

Three shots were fired at the king by Antonio D'Alba, an anarchist, one of the bullets seriously wounding Major Langa, commanding the king's cavalry escort.

Only by the most strenuous efforts on the part of the police and military prevented the lynching of D'Alba, who made no effort to escape.

After the shooting the king continued on his way to the Pantheon, and sat through mass, remaining perfectly cool, and apparently not the least excited over the attempt to remove him.

News of the attempted assassination spread rapidly over the city, and thousands hurried to the Pantheon, cheering enthusiastically and giving other evidence of unrestrained joy at the king's escape.

The king visited Major Langa, and then returned to the quirinal, later visiting his mother, Dowager Queen Margherita.

The pope gave a thanksgiving service, thanking God fervently for saving the king's life.

At this time it is impossible to determine whether or not D'Alba had accomplices.

King Victor Emmanuel was born in Naples in 1849. He succeeded to the throne July 29, 1896, as the result of the assassination of his father, King Humbert. On October 24, 1896, he was married to the Princess Helena, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro. They have two daughters, Princess Yolanda Margherita and Princess Mafalda.

The Japanese are noted as expert gardeners, and it was thought that it would be a good idea to import a number from down below and see if they can make a success of it. Celery, among other things, will be tried, and if it proves successful, as it is hoped, provisions will be made to carry on the production on a large scale.
