

ANNUAL MEETING OF WATER USERS

Irrigation Congress, as well as a member of the informal meeting of Water Users' Associations.

Fourth—Power Development for Pump Lands

Your board has not confined its work solely to the land now receiving water. They have, individually and as a board, urged at all times the development of the available power possibilities held by the government under the Klamath project, to the end that power may be created for lands that lie above the present system of ditches. At a conference held by and between your board and the reclamation service, on the 29th day of March last, the early development of the various power sites within the project, was urged by your board.

Mr. E. G. Hopson, supervising engineer, in a letter to the association, dated April 1, 1912, among other things, said, with reference to pumping projects:

"The service will do its best to encourage the development of these by offering attractive rates, consistent with the interests of the water users and the United States."

Fifth—Pee Valley, or Second Unit

The board has repeatedly urged that this system be constructed. On the 8th day of April, 1912, it was again urged in a letter to the honorable secretary of the interior, that the legal difficulties concerning rights of way be speedily adjusted, and that this system be completed. The condition of the settlers who have waited seven long years for water was indicated, and further, it was stated that this board could not fall of sympathizing with them, more or less, in their contention that the government was not playing fair with them.

It was also recommended that where the land owners and the government failed to agree upon terms for a right of way, that a board of arbiters be appointed to fix a value just to all concerned.

These matters were presented to the secretary of the interior by Congressman Hawley. A dispatch from Washington in the Evening Telegram (Portland, Oregon) of April 20, 1912, stated that Congressman Hawley had taken the matter up with the secretary, and that the plan is being considered, and Hawley hopes it will be adopted.

Sixth—National Water Users' Association

An effort has been made by your board, together with other associations, to form a national union of Water Users' Associations. It is necessary and desirable, as well as the right of the water user and settler, that his interests be presented. No legitimate opposition can be advanced counter to such a movement. It is only when conditions are fully understood that justice can be done to both parties to an undertaking. It is believed that much good will result from such an organization, and that as the conditions surrounding the water users and settlers are fully realized, then and then only will justice be approximated.

At the informal meeting held in Chicago last December, ten associations were present by delegates, and eleven voted their approval of the movement. A number of important matters were considered and recommended by resolution, to-wit:

- 1—An extension of time to twenty years.
- 2—Submitting of plans, progress and cost of irrigation works to Water Users' Associations will promote harmony.
- 3—Plans and specifications of contemplated work to be submitted to water users for approval before work is begun.
- 4—Quarterly itemized reports of all charges and expenditures under any irrigation project should be furnished water users.

The National Irrigation Congress approved and adopted similar resolutions and others, among which the following will interest you, to-wit:

- 1—That before the sale of any power developed by any reclamation project is made, it shall first be submitted to and approved by Water Users' Association.
- 2—Adequate provision for seepage
