

STATE FORESTER VISITS TIMBER

F. A. ELLIOTT MAKES INSPECTION IN KLAMATH

New Forestry Board Is Doing Good Work in Protecting Timber of the State From Fires—Local Organizations Assist—C. C. Chittwood Is to Be Retained as Supervisor of the District

F. A. Elliott, state forester, has returned from a trip through the timber in the western part of the county with J. F. Kimball, representative of the Weyerhaeuser company, and also secretary treasurer of the Klamath-Lake Counties Fire Protective Association. After a conference with the local timber owners, Mr. Elliott will leave in the morning for Portland.

Mr. Elliott expresses himself well pleased with the conditions of the timber from the standpoint of fire protection, and is laying his plans for the proper protection of the timber during the coming season. C. C. Chittwood, supervisor for this district, will begin his work soon, and will attend to having the necessary slashings burned so as to reduce to a minimum the possibility of fire getting started when the dry season sets in.

The state forest service was only started last year, and an immense amount of work has been accomplished by Mr. Elliott and his assistants during that short time. Mr. Elliott states that he receives the greatest assistance from local organizations among the timber owners, and it is the object of his office to co-operate with these and assist them in the timber. Oregon is a great timber state, but the first work of the board of foresters is to secure adequate protection from fires. Experiments are also being made, with the assistance of the state agricultural college, in growing certain trees to determine what are best to plant on desert tracts of the state. Eventually the work of reforestation will be taken up.

During the winter the office force was engaged in preparing plats of all the timber of the state, and maps are made showing all the large holdings, so that whenever a report is received of a fire it can be seen at a glance who is the most interested party, and who would be the most likely ones to look to for assistance in controlling the fire. Mr. Elliott's long and practical experience in the timber business makes him a most fit man for state forester. He is probably the best acquainted of any man in the state with all the vast timber sections.

On the recommendations of the supervisor all of the old slashings in the property acquired by the Weyerhaeuser company near Pokenama are to be burned. J. F. Kimball, local representative of the company, announces that within a week or ten days he will have a crew of men begin clearing up these slashings and all of the dead timber, limbs and tops will be burned.

Following Oregon System in Purchasing Supplies

United Press Service
SACRAMENTO, May 11.—Refusing to allow the $3,000,000 annual expenditure by the state for supplies for its institutions to be gathered in by small rings of contractors henceforth, without an attempt to secure really competitive bidding, the state board of control has sent to every chamber of commerce and large wholesale house in the country a letter announcing that the state is about to ask for bids. Supplies are to be furnished to six state hospitals, two reform schools, two prisons, normal schools in San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Fresno, San Jose, San Francisco and Chico, and various state homes and institutions for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1912.

It is hoped by the faculty that the pleasant weather will continue, so as to make the trip more enjoyable, and from present indications it will so continue.

HEAD HUNTING IS NIL, PEACE REIGNS INSTEAD

Great Changes Among Wild Tribes of the Philippine Islands Since the Establishment of American Courts of Justice

MANILA, May 11.—Dean C. Worcester, secretary of the interior, in charge of the wild tribes of the Philippine Islands, has just returned from a 1,000 mile trip, partly by automobile through the mountain province of Luzon. He reports head hunting nil by reason of the substitution of American courts of justice. Igorrotes, Hlongotes and Ifugaos, formerly hostile tribes, united in one grand canoe at Campote, a neutral settlement, and pledged themselves to peaceful pursuits in future. The word of these mountain people, Mr. Worcester says, is absolute. They are earning peaceful livelihood by cultivating rice and sweet potatoes on mountain slopes and manufacturing salt by evaporating sea water at the coast towns. Mr. Worcester carried with him moving picture films of scenes about Washington, Niagara Falls, skyscrapers of New York city, the Brooklyn bridge and shipping about San Francisco. When the picture of President Taft was shown many of the tribesmen threw their spears in the air as a token of delight, they having seen the big "Apo" or white God, as they call him, during his trips through their villages while governor general in the islands.

WORDEN TRIES DAIRY BUSINESS

Judge W. S. Worden, who recently returned from a visit to his ranch near Fort Klamath, states he is getting quite a dairy started on his place. He now has fourteen cows, from which he is producing a considerable amount of butter. They expect to get a creamery started at the Fort very soon, and the milk will then be sold to the creamery. Senator Weed also has a good band of milch cows on his place.

Judge Worden believes that the Wood River country will eventually be one of the greatest dairy sections of the state, as he believes, with its abundance of feed and excellent climate, it is particularly adapted to the industry.

INDIFFERENCE THE CURSE OF KLAMATH, SAYS WHISTON

"No longing is so dominant in the soul of the Christian as the longing to see Christ, and no fact is more clearly taught in the Gospels than His second coming. Idolatry is but the expression of this desire to see visible representation of the Deity. Here we see Christ by faith, but later we will see him face to face. The second coming of the Christ was the inspiration of the early church, and they expected his re-appearing in their generation. The Apostles put the fear of God into the hearts of men as they preached the speedy coming of the Saviour.

"All scriptures concede that Christ will come in bodily form, surrounded by His angels, and the manner of his coming will be 'as lightning from heaven,' in like manner and as a 'flaming sword.' The time of His coming is not given in the Bible. The emphasis is put upon the fact of His coming and the necessity of preparing for it. The church is asleep on this question. We are playing at religion. We profess Christ and play fast and loose with our duty and influence. The curse of indifference to our souls welfare is the curse of Klamath Falls. The great majority feel kindly toward the church, but there is little active participation in religious zeal and service. I am here to wake you up. Get ready to meet God. The purpose of Christ's second coming is to crown us, as well as to judge the world."

The illustrations of this sermon were classic and often dramatic. Mr. Whiston has the faculty of making one see the facts he reveals. These great meetings are approaching a close, and every night will be better and more interesting. Last night three more adults took their stand for the church. Tonight the evangelist will preach on "A Fateful Decision."

FATHERS SHOULD HAVE PREFERENCE OVER WOMAN

LONDON, May 11.—That fathers of young children should be given preference over single women in ships lifeboats is the contention of many women who are following with interest the inquiry into the Titanic disaster the inquiry into the Titanic disaster. A correspondent of the Yorkshire Observer says: "The father of young children is too precious to the state to be sacrificed to notions of chivalry. For some twenty years his life is more valuable to train and support his children than that of childless women."

THE NEW BOAT WILL BE SAFER

MACHINERY BEING PLACED IN NEW MASAMA—FREIGHT IS FILED ON DOCK AWAITING ITS COMPLETION

Parker & Taylor, proprietors of the steamer Masama, have the hull for their new boat practically completed, and are now placing the machinery from the old boat into the new, which is anticipated by the owners to have the boat in commission by next Wednesday or Thursday. Considerable freight has piled up at their dock awaiting transportation to various points on the lake. The new boat will have a great deal larger capacity than the former, thus doing away with the barge, which it was necessary to tow when large consignments were handled. The speed of the new craft will be about ten miles an hour. Accommodations have been made for passengers who wish to go to Crater Lake or elsewhere.

Messrs. Parker & Taylor are very proud of the Masama, as it is better constructed in every way, and is much safer should it encounter rough weather.

GERBER MAKES PREDICTIONS

SAYS LA FOLLETTE WILL NOT BE THIRD IN CALIFORNIA RACE, NOR WILL ROOSEVELT BE FIRST

Louis Gerber, the well known stock man, who a few days ago returned from California, where he has considerable property interests, says in connection with the election in the neighboring state next Tuesday: "I am willing to bet that La Follette will not be third in the race, and I am also ready to assert that Roosevelt will not be the first. I have offered to friends of Roosevelt odds that he will not head the fight in California."

The democratic sentiment in California inclines to Champ Clark. The influence of Governor Johnson, who is stumping the state for Roosevelt, after he had for months proclaimed himself an avowed supporter of La Follette, is conceded to recoil, not only to the detriment of Johnson's prestige, but to the inevitable downfall of Roosevelt.

California's fight will settle the destiny of the running mate of the head of the ticket.

Sunday is Mothers' Day

The seventeen "fiancées" were all in court, where they announced they still wanted to marry him, and would wait until his jail sentence expired. Albert looks relieved as he was marched off to jail.

MAY DECIDE FATE OF REVOLUTION

HUERTA EXPECTS TO MEET OROSCO TODAY

Reports From Front Indicate Sweeping Rebel Reverses at Barmejillo—Rebel Leader Has Called for All His Reserves Available to Join Him at Once—Looks Like Last Stand of the Insurgents

EL PASO, Tex., May 11.—Unofficial reports from the front indicate sweeping rebel reverses at Barmejillo. Orozco called for all reserves available to join him immediately. Fighting at Barmejillo continued most of last night, and is still progressing.

Deciding Battle Expected

PERONAL, Mex., May 11.—General Huerta's troops are today passing across alkali wastes, toward Escalon, expecting to meet Orozco at noon, and open a great battle, probably deciding the fate of the revolution. Huerta told a United Press correspondent that a federal victory was certain. In fifteen days the revolution will be over.

Rebels Are Routed

EL PASO, Tex., May 11.—Sitting on the box-car telegraph office at Barmejillo, Federal General Joaquin Tello at 4 o'clock this morning talked to a United Press correspondent over 1,000 miles of wire. He said General Huerta was then thirty miles away. Tello stated: "Friday morning I came up with Huerta, who tonight started north to meet General Orozco's rebels, who are tired and hungry. In the desert we met Tracy Aubert's cavalry against them, killing over a hundred and routing them. These rebels were Salazar's force."

General Orozco is censoring all wires, which makes it impossible for the United Press correspondent to get in communication with the rebels.

SAY DECISION IS DANGEROUS

GREAT INTEREST IS AROUSED OVER ANNULING OF CITIZENSHIP OF MEN ADVOCATING RADICAL CHANGES

SEATTLE, May 11.—There is the greatest interest here in the decision of Federal Judge Hanford in annulling the citizenship of Leonard Olsson of Tacoma, because "He admitted he is a socialist, advocating a propaganda for radical changes in the institutions of the country."

Lawyers here say if the decision is unchallenged that the citizenship of any foreign born who at time of application for papers held such views may be revoked, and the decision is so broad that any advocate of the initiative or recall may lose his citizenship if he is foreign born.

Does Not Surprise Wilson
CHICAGO, May 11.—J. Stitt Wilson, Berkeley's socialist mayor, when interviewed on the Hanford decision today, said:

"I am not surprised at Hanford's action. He is serving his master well, but in this instance he overstepped even the bounds of judicial wisdom. I don't believe the man brought before him did anything to make such an action justifiable, because, if he was following the principles of socialism he was upholding the constitution he had sworn to support."
