Reversing the order this division will return and form in the rear of the main column on Main street.

SUMS UP VIEWS OF DISASTER

CHAIRMAN OF INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE OF TITANIC DISASTER MAKES HIS OFFICIAL REPORT TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Teeming with eloquence, combining praise for heroism and scathing rebuke for negligence and cowardice of the most appalling marine disaster of history, was the final and official report yesterday in the senate for the victims of the Titanic.

Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, chairman of the senate investigating sub-committee, summed up his views of the evidence developed.

That every soul aboard the giant steamer might have been saved but for the indifference—almost criminal neglect—of Captain Stanley Lord and other officers of the "California," was the most startling charge Smith bitterly made.

"Needless sacrifice" of at least 500 lives because the "strangely insufficient number of lifeboats" were not filled was also charged.

"Obsolete and antiquated shipping laws" and "laxity of regulation and hasty inspection" by the British Board of Trade were denounced by Senator Smith. As a contributory cause, he named the indifference of Captain Smith of the Titanic for ignoring the warnings and forcing the Titanic full speed through the north-western waters.

That Captain Smith had expiated his offense by a heroic death was Smith's tribute to the dead commander.

Lack of discipline among the crew and cowardice of some of its members, indicated after the crash, was scathingly arraigned. To the two Titanic wireless operators, Philip and Bride, the senator paid a glowing tribute. He lauded Captain Rostron of the rescue ship Carpathia.

Not a word of criticism for J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line was uttered by the Michigan senator, but he caustically criticized the White Star line for the action in withholding news of the disaster, received, he said, sixteen hours before it was reluctantly divulged.

In eloquent terms the chairman depicted the folly of sending out the greatest ship afloat without sufficient tests, a strange crew, and no drills of discipline. The Titanic, he said, was following the proper course, although one known to be dangerous at that season, but the speed was gradually and continually increased until the maximum was the deathblow.

Rebuke for those in half-filled lifeboats who stood by and refused aid to struggling, drowning swimmers until "all noise has ceased" was voiced.

Upon that broken hull, the senator concluded, "new vows were taken, new fealty expressed, old love renewed and those who had been devoted in life went proudly and defiantly on the last life pilgrimage journey. In such a heritage we must feel ourselves more intimately related to the sea than ever before, and henceforth it will send back to us on its rising tide the cheering salutations from those we have lost."

SNOW IS DEEP IN LAKE VICINITY

MARKS ON TREES SHOW THAT THE SNOW HAS BEEN 25 FEET DEEP DURING THE PAST WINTER—MUCH SNOW REMAINS

Superintendent W. F. Arant and Chief Ranger H. E. Momyer returned last evening from a trip to Crater Lake National Park. Mr. Arant states that it will probably be July before travel to the lake will be good. The snow in the park is from seven to ten feet deep, while in the timber it is even deeper, in some places being twelve to fourteen feet.

According to the marks on the trees it is figured that the snow near the lake has been twenty-five feet deep during the past winter, and Mr. Arant states that he has never known such a heavy snow fall at the lake before. Everything was found in good condition except one of the houses at Camp Arant had been broken into, but no damage done.

A VOLCANO THAT BECAME A LAKE

GEOLOGICAL HISTORY HAS BEEN ISSUED OF CRATER LAKE, THE UNIQUE WONDER, BY DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Unique among the natural wonders of America is the lake in Crater Lake National Park in Oregon, which is described in a publication entitled "Geological History of Crater Lake," just issued by the department of the interior. The traveler who, from the rocky rim of the lake, looks across its limpid waters to the cliffs beyond stands where once the molten lava of Mount Mazama boiled and seethed in its efforts to find an outlet, for Crater Lake is all that remains of a great volcano that ages ago reared its lofty summit high above the crest of the Cascade range.

Before the Cascade range existed the region now included in the state of Oregon was a great lava plateau that extended from the Rocky Mountains to the present Coast range. Gradually mountain making forces became operative; the surface of the plateau was arched, and there rose the great mountain system now known as the Coast range. With the hardening of the crust the centers of eruption became fewer, until they were confined to a few high mountains that were built up by the flows of molten lava. In this way were created Hood, Ranier and Mazama, from whose sides and lofty summits the streams of lava poured across a desolate land. Hood and Ranier still lift their snowy caps to the clouds, and fling a defiant challenge to the mountaineer to scale their steep, ice-covered slopes. Mazama alone is gone, engulfed in the earth from which it came. In what is left of its caldera lies Crater Lake.

Mount Mazama in its prime rose to a height of over 14,000 feet above the sea. Mount Scott, which towers above Crater Lake on the east, was only a minor cone on the slope of Mount Mazama. The portion of the mountain that has been destroyed was equal in size to Mount Washington in New Hampshire, and had a volume of 17 cubic miles.

From the crest of the rim surrounding the lake the traveler beholds twenty miles of unbroken cliffs which range from 500 to nearly 2,000 feet in height. The clear waters of the lake reflect the vivid colors of the surrounding walls and whether in the soft glow of early morning, in the glare of the noonday sun, or in the rosy hues of the dying day, the view is one of awe-inspiring grandeur and beauty.

This publication contains a detailed account of the formation of this wonderful work of nature. It is well illustrated by photographs and is written in non-technical language, so that it may be readily understood by the reader who has not the advantage of scientific training.

WOODMEN PLAN A CELEBRATION

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO ARRANGE FOR BIG LOG ROLLING CONTEST—EXPECT TO BRING 5,000 VISITORS

A committee has been named, composed of Cale T. Oliver, F. T. Sanderson and John W. Ross, to formulate plans for a "log rolling" contest, in which every camp of the Woodmen of the World in the Pacific jurisdiction will participate. It is expected by the committee in charge to bring 5,000 wood-choopers to this city for the log rolling contests and various other amusements that are scheduled to take place during the three days of the W. O. W. celebration.

While it has not been definitely decided on what dates this event is to take place, it is generally presumed by Ewauna Camp No. 799 that Labor Day will be the most suitable time for all. No financial aid will be asked of the city for defraying the expenses of the various sports along with the log rolling contests, as the committee in charge have a proposition whereby everything will be free to all.

Two representatives will be appointed from the local camp to visit every W. O. W. camp on the Pacific coast, so as to arouse enthusiasm among the members of every camp they visit. It is expected by this that special trains will be chartered by the members and their families from the South as well as from the North, bringing them to this city for the three days of gala times.

Competitive drills by W. O. W. uniformed drill teams will be one of the chief attractions, along with a tug of war, field sports and a grand barbecue. Sub-committees are to be appointed to have each individual event in charge. More definite plans relating to the Labor Day "Log Rolling" events will be published later.

SOLUTION TO COUNTY DIVISION

BILL WILL BE DRAFTED PERMITTING COMMUNITIES TO SETTLE THEIR OWN COUNTY DIVISION PROBLEMS

PORTLAND, May 29.—Another initiative measure for the November ballot was set in motion by a conference at the Imperial hotel, when a committee was named to frame a bill to provide by general law for division of counties and the annexation of territory by cities. The committee consists of A. W. Norblad, Perry C. Stroud, city attorney of St. Johns, and J. C. Johnson, city attorney of Cottage Grove.

The chief object sought is to provide means by which county division might be confined to the territory affected, and to so map out the procedure in annexation elections that there will be no question as to the steps that should be taken.

St. Johns recently failed to become a part of Portland by reason of a supreme court decision that invalidated the vote that had been taken. Cottage Grove people have long been interested in county division, and have unsuccessfully tried to separate themselves from Lane county. At the last election six county division schemes and two other plans for annexation of territory of other counties to Multnomah county were defeated by vote of the people in the state at large.

It is the idea of the movers in the present plan that the people will be willing to let the communities directly affected settle their county division problems. It is expected that the bill to be framed will provide a certain area, population and assessed valuation for a new county, so that limitations will be set on the ambitious county dividers.

One of the chief problems to be met will be whether to require a vote in the remaining part of a county when it is sliced in two, and what percentage of vote should be required in the new territory and in the old in order to form a new county.

An effort to provide for county division by general law was voted down in 1910, at the same time that all separate county division schemes were turned down. The plan then suggested provided for a petition by 30 per cent of the voters of a proposed new county, a board of impartial commissioners to be appointed by the governor to decide whether or not the question of county division should be submitted to the people of the district affected, and a majority vote of the residents of the proposed new county in its favor.

Under this plan no vote in the remaining part of the old county or counties from which new counties were to be formed was provided for, and this is thought by some to have caused its defeat. Strong objection was also made to the plan of giving three commissioners power to reject a new county plan, and thereby defeat submission to the people.

The committee just appointed will try to avoid the rocks on which the 1910 bill foundered. The first meeting is to be held at Mr. Stroud's office in St. John next Thursday.

COLONEL MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP

CARRIES EVERY DISTRICT IN NEW JERSEY

Roosevelt Will Now Turn His Attention to the National Committee, With the Purpose of Controlling the Temporary Organization of the National Convention When it Meets in Chicago in June

United Press Service NEWARK, N. J., May 29.—Based on practically complete returns, Colonel Roosevelt carried every district by comfortable pluralities except the Sixth, where his plurality was about 500. He gets the solid state delegation.

Wilson carried ten of the twelve districts, the other two being controlled by Senator Smith.

The Colonel Grinned OYSTER BAY, May 29.—Roosevelt grinned when yesterday's election was mentioned. Referring to New Jersey he said:

"I have nothing more to say. I believe I've said previously all that could be said now."

"The Colonel has turned his attention to the national committee, with the intention of controlling the temporary organization of the convention at Chicago. He leaves this afternoon for Gettysburg to deliver the Memorial Day address."

BOWLERS PLAY FIRST TWO GAMES OF SERIES

The first two games were played last night in the bowling tournament between teams from the Encampment and Subordinate branches of the Odd Fellows' Lodge. The former lost the first game by four points, but won the second by 91 points, making them 87 points ahead in the total score for the two games. The third and fourth games will be played on next Tuesday night.

The members of both teams were considerably out of practice, and no high scores were made on either side. These are the first teams that have been organized by the lodge, and there was very little knowledge of the ability of the players. There is talk of organizing another team to challenge the winners in this first tournament. R. E. Guthridge, of the Subordinate team, made the highest total in the two games played last night. The scores were as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Name, Subordinate Lodge, Encampment. Rows include Guthridge, Rice, Wells, Goeller, Boyd, Totals, Smith, Bremer, Sholl, Chicote, De Lap, Total.

BETSY ROSS FLAG TO WAVE WITH TODAY'S

One of the first of the Betsy Ross flags to appear in Klamath Falls will form part in the decorations tomorrow. The flag, which is 6x8 feet, is owned by Dr. Fred Westerfeld, and will be strung across the street in front of the White-Maddox building, along with one of the new Stars and Stripes of today, furnished by C. M. O'Neill.

The Betsy Ross flag is manufactured in Portland by Chas. Goodman, who conceived the idea of reproducing the flag that was designed by George Washington, first made by Betsy Ross of Philadelphia, and accepted as the national emblem by congress June 14, 1777. The flag has 13 red and white stripes and 12 white stars arranged in a circle on a field of blue. They are wrought out in heavy silk and form an effective decorating scheme when blended with the stars and stripes of today, with the field of 48 stars.
