

WILL DETERMINE BEST FIVE BUSHEL WHEAT

The Details Are Being Worked Out Just How the Judges Are to Find Out Who Will Be Entitled to the $5,000 Prize

Special to The Herald

PORTLAND, July 6.—How the judges will find the best five bushels of wheat grown in the American Northwest and determine who is entitled to the $5,000 prize offered for five bushels of wheat by the Northwest Development League, is told by President Lewis Penwell of the league, who has given much time to working out the details.

How many people will pick over five bushels of wheat in order to get the kernels uniform, remove weed seed, have only plump, bright, sweet seeds in the sample, and thus get the grain a little nearer perfect, is a question which is interesting the Development League, but it appears that a large number are willing to "hand-pick" the wheat.

"Four hundred farmers have written the secretary and declared their intention of entering this contest," said Mr. Penwell in a letter to the Portland Commercial Club. "With prospects for the best grain crops the American Northwest has ever known, there will be plenty of competition for the prize offered at the Northwest Products Exposition in November."

"Three judges will be selected by the president and agronomists of the agricultural colleges of the seven states competing. Oregon, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington. The judges must come from without the American Northwest. It is not expected that these judges will be all agricultural college people; some one of them will probably be from one of the grain exchanges of the country—a judge of commercial grains."

"Judging will be in three ways: First, according to the accepted score card; second, by a milling and baking test, and third, by the yield per acre."

Mr. Penwell says the judging by the standard score is probably the most interesting, as the exhibitor can gain points by carefully selecting his grain. In the milling test, the exhibitor cannot tell what kind of bread his wheat will make, but he can have the wheat clean and free from impurities. This score card shows the test which all wheat is given in one way or another at the great grain markets to determine its commercial grade. The judges, in determining the best wheat at the exposition will, of course, be guided by the same requirements. Thirty points will be allowed on yield, 25 being on the weight per bushel and 5 on the uniformity of the sample; 15 points will be allowed on variety characters, 3 of the points being on color; 10 on purity, which means the kernels must be true to the type of breed represented; 2 points are allowed for the kernel shape, which varies with the breed.

Thirty points are allowed for vitality, 5 being for luster, as a dead, dull color is objectionable; 15 points will be allowed for plumpness, as all kernels should be well filled and well rounded, having no sharp angles and with the creases well closed; 7 points are for odor, the samples should be sweet and free from all foul smell or mustiness.

Twenty-five points are allowed for market conditions, 10 points being for cover weed seed; 3 points for dirt or dust; 2 points for injured kernels, 5 points for smut and 5 for the condition of the bran. This means the samples, to stand any chance of securing the prize, must be free from weed seed, especially wild oats, darnel, quack grass, cheat and mustard. No dust must be present. All broken, lighted or scabby kernels will count against the wheat, while the bran or weed coat must be smooth, bright and free from dirt and weathering.

The rules for judging take away one point for each pound less than standard weight of 60 pounds. The judges will count out 100 seeds as they run. They will cut the score in proportion to the weed seed found. Color, purity, kernel shape, luster, plumpness, germ, odor, dirt, dust, smut and condition of bran are all a matter of judgment. President Penwell has been receiving many inquiries from farmers who want to know whether it is fair to "hand pick" the wheat. To these the officers have replied that anyone who wants to pick over five bushels of wheat in order to win a prize, and who knows good wheat when he sees it, may enter the competition and win the prize if his wheat can make the score. The officers do not care how much hand picking is done, but they have asked for five bushel samples, which makes it highly probable that only one sample in a hundred will be hand picked.

Social Events of the Week

INDEPENDENCE DAY BREAKS IN ON THE SOCIAL ROUTINE. AND AFFORDS DIVERSION—CARD CLUBS AND MATRONS ENTERTAIN THE SMART SET

Patriotism has been the keynote of the week—Redmen, screaming eagles, soaring rockets, flags and bunting have attested to the joy of our success at arms, long years ago, at Yorktown. Since the days when the flag of Betsy Ross was first unfurled to the breeze, there have been many stars added to the galaxy in that blue field, and when in 1859 the star of Oregon glimmered to the world, there was born the emblem of a state beneath which we shall continue to dwell with ever-increasing pride and prosperity.

At the home of Mrs. C. C. Hogue on Tuesday afternoon occurred a delightful "500" party, given by Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Mrs. C. E. Hogue and Miss Faye Hogue. Many vases and bowls of flowers added their beauty to the rooms, and the pleasure of the afternoon was largely increased by the excellent music rendered by Mrs. Parmelee and Mrs. Gamble on the violin and piano. After the game the first prize was awarded to Mrs. A. M. Worden and the second to Mrs. Don Zumwalt, and refreshments were served. The invited guests were Messrs. Elmer Applegate, Geo. Baldwin, W. H. Baldwin, F. Zim Baldwin, H. L. Benson, J. C. Brockenbrough, C. P. Chastain, A. R. Campbell, C. C. Cofer, K. G. Cummings, A. B. Cleveland, Geo. Capron, Cole, W. L. Clarke, C. H. Daggett, A. A. Bellman, R. A. Emmitt, Ida Fink, Louis Gerber, J. F. Goeller, E. W. Gowen, B. E. Hayden, Roy Hamaker, Thos. Hampton, E. B. Hall, Sophia Henley, O. L. Harshberger, Geo. Humphrey, E. B. Henry, Geo. R. Horn, W. C. Horn, Mary Jackson, Frank Jennings, J. J. Knapp, J. C. Kent, Anna Leach, Chas. Mel-drum, Fred Melrose, G. H. Merryman, F. H. Mills, A. D. Miller, Burge Mason, C. P. Mason, Chas. Martin, R. S. Moore, E. J. Murray, Helen Marks, H. F. Murdoch, Henry Newnam, Geo. Noland, Mark, Silas Obenchain, R. M. Richardson, E. R. Reames, Nellie Rogers, Fred Schallock, W. O. Smith, R. E. Smith, Oscar Shive, C. F. Stone, S. T. Summers, R. C. Spink, C. F. Shepherd, W. W. Patch, C. H. Underwood, Frank Vannice, E. W. Vannice, L. H. Voorhees, Fred Williams, Frank Ward, R. E. Wattenburg, F. I. White, F. M. White, G. W. White, A. E. Whitman, W. S. Wiley, L. F. Willis, A. M. Worden, Geo. I. Wright and D. J. Zumwalt; Misses Maud Baldwin, Cummings, Louise French, Eliza Stills, Lily Stills and Fanny Virgil.

Tuesday evening an informal dance was given at the home of Mrs. F. J. Williams. The party was given by Mrs. William Hurn and the Misses Katherine and Marguerite Williams in honor of Miss Beatrice Cummings. Dancing continued from early evening until midnight, and the gay participants were, with the hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Capron, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, Miss Cummings, Miss Faye Hogue, Harold Merryman, Clarence Motschenbacher, Duncan, James Lytle and Harry Galarneau.

Mrs. Mary Jackson entertained at luncheon in her apartments at the corner of Main and Pine, on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The occasion was planned and given for Miss Beatrice Cummings, who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. B. Hall. The perfectly appointed table was lovely with patriotic colors in flowers and ribbons, and those gathered around it were: Misses Cummings, Gibbs, Boivin, Katherine and Marguerite Williams and Mrs. Wiley. Fortune telling and stories beguiled the later hours of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Reames were hosts on Thursday at noon to a few friends, including Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall, Mr. Day and Mr. Gilliam.

The White Pelican launch sailed on her maiden trip early Thursday morning. This beautifully equipped little craft was launched under the command of Mrs. W. Paul Johnson, who is her captain and owner, and under full steam this new bird flew to the bay for which she was named. The congenial party on board was Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Miss Marian Doe, Miss Eltinge Marshall, Mr. Walter Innes and Mr. R. L. Mikel. They were guests at the Harriman Lodge for the night, and returned to Klamath Falls Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Roberts left for Spring Creek on Thursday morning, and there set up a camp for a few days fishing.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stone will entertain at cards: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Reames, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Noland, Mr. and Mrs. Don Zumwalt, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mills, Frank Jennings, Mrs. Helen Mark and Mr. Barrett. The ladies of this party form the Bridge Club, which generally meets Saturday afternoons.

Miss Marian Doe, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Paul Johnson, for the past two weeks, left this afternoon for her home in Ben Lomond, Calif.

Mr. Grove C. Fluke, from the City of Mexico, is in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough at "La Casita." Mr. Fluke came from Mexico via Progreso, Havana and New York, and from thence he has traveled leisurely westward, stopping at various points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Capron, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, Miss Cummings, Miss Faye Hogue, Harold Merryman, Clarence Motschenbacher, Duncan, James Lytle and Harry Galarneau.
