United Press Service
VANCOUVER, B. C., July 25.—Two masked highwaymen held up the branch of the Northern Crown bank in Central Park, a suburb of this city, at 1:30 this afternoon. They secured $1,500 and made their escape.

Manager C. C. Temple was beaten into insensibility when he attempted to resist the commands of the bandits. A clerk in the bank was clubbed.

There were several people in the bank when the robbers entered, but they were covered by the guns flourished by the two masked men.

Socialist Picnic

The socialists have just discovered why their picnic some time ago had to be called off on account of rain and bad weather. The weather man was on the fence, and didn't know on which side to get down. Quite recently, however, he did get down, and landed in the socialist camp, and he says:

"There will be no rain on Sunday, August 11th, for on that day the socialists are going to have their long-talked-of picnic. Come. Leave your umbrellas at home, as shade will be plentiful on the picnic grounds. Program will appear later."

BOURNE MAY BE CANDI- DATE FOR U. S. SENATE

PORTLAND, July 25.—A rumor that has been in circulation for several weeks in political circles, that Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., who was defeated for re-nomination by Ben Selling in the republican primary, will become a candidate for reelection on an independent ticket, took more definite form when it was learned that the senior senator from Oregon had been communicating with friends in Oregon as to the advisability of such a move.

It is reported that Senator Bourne will make an announcement in this regard following the progressive convention at Chicago August 5th.

On account of his adherence to Theodore Roosevelt, even when it seemed possible that Senator La Follette would secure the republican delegates from Oregon to the republican national convention, supporters of F. W. Mulkey, who has announced himself as candidate for senator on the progressive ticket, declares that he is the logical progressive candidate, and that he will remain in the contest to the finish.

'FRISCO MAN LIKES SECTION

ALEXANDER VOGELSANG, SUPER- VISOR, BELIEVES THIS COUN- TRY HAS FUTURE AS RESORT FOR TOURISTS

Alexander Vogelsang, supervisor of San Francisco, believes the Klamath country is destined to become the favorite summer outing district of the entire West. He has just returned to this city after spending a couple of weeks outing in this section, and will leave for home tomorrow.

"There is no other part of the West that offers the advantages to tourists on an outing that does this section," said Mr. Vogelsang. "The Crater National Park is one of the wonders of the world, and it is my opinion that it will soon take its place as a popular point for tourists to visit."

SHAPIRO GIVES HIS PALS AWAY

NEW YORK DISTRICT ATTORNEY RECEIVES CONFESSION

Details of the Night Preceding Murder of Rosenthal Recounted by One of the Party of Murderers—He Will Be Important Witness for the State—Police Officers to Be Denied Immunity.

United Press Service
NEW YORK, July 25.—Late this afternoon Shapiro made a complete confession to District Attorney Whitman. He recounted in detail all of the events that transpired on the night Rosenthal, the gambler, was killed. He will probably be a witness for the state.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Sam Paul this morning withdrew his habeas corpus application.

District Attorney Whitman invited Police Lieutenants Becker, Costigan and Reilly to testify, stipulating that Becker must waive any right to immunity. Not one of the trio was subpoenaed.

Lieutenant Becker said he would testify, although his attorney did not advise him to do so.

At the request of the district attorney, the corner postponed the inquest until Monday.

John Reiser testified that he had seen Weber running from the scene of the murder of Rosenthal.

AUTOISTS WILL GO BY LAKEVIEW

PART OF DELEGATION TO MEET- ING OF PACIFIC HIGHWAY AS- SOCIATION GO THROUGH EAST- ERN OREGON

PORTLAND, July 25.—The greatest auto tour ever undertaken on the Pacific coast left Portland Tuesday and Wednesday. It is the tour of the Pacific Highway Association, to attend the annual meeting of the association in San Francisco August 5, 6 and 7.

Judge J. T. Ronald of Seattle, president of the association, at the head of a large automobile party, reached Portland Tuesday, and were guests of Samuel Hill at the Arlington Club, after which they left for Maryhill, Wash., where they were given an opportunity to see the famous Maryhill road.

While Judge Ronald and his party take the marked course of the Pacific highway along the old stage road west of the Cascade mountains, over the Siskiyou to the California line, Mr. Benson and Mr. Hill will traverse the alternate, unmarked route, from Wasco to Lakeview and through the valley of the Pitt River to California. Mr. Hill is of the opinion that the route east of the Cascades may ultimately become the favored Pacific highway tourists, as it is not so much affected by weather conditions.

The tour in all will be the most extensive, and possibly determinative, that has been attempted on the Pacific coast. Many of the Northwest delegates to the Pacific highway convention in San Francisco will tour on through Southern California to the Mexican border, where the Pacific highway, as marked, ends.

The trip will be important in defining the known, but undeveloped and undeveloped scenic attractions of Oregon. It is found that the average auto party spends from $5 to $20 a day in the country it traverses. This amount means between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 to Switzerland, yet, Mr. Hill says, there are seven Switzerland out of Portland.

The Klamath Military band is going to entertain next Sunday with an excursion to Pelican Bay. The band boys have a lot of new music they are going to try out, and promise to provide ample entertainment for the excursionists.

Mayor Proposes to Abate Germ Breeding Nuisance

Ankeny Ditch is Condemned by Health Authorities and City Council Will be Asked to Take Legal Steps to Compel Water Right Owners to Give up for the Public Welfare

That something must be done at once looking toward the abatement of the Ankeny canal nuisance is the opinion of Mayor T. F. Nicholas. The mayor has been quietly working on this matter for some time, gathering all of the information possible in the matter, so that the facts could be properly presented to the city council. The matter has also been gone over with officials of the reclamation service.

The old Ankeny canal has been the bane of every council for years, and the late Mayor Sanderson spent many days during his last two administrations trying to find a solution to the difficulty. The reclamation service has also been anxious to see this troublesome burden off their hands, but there always remained a few stubborn owners of water rights, who seemed disposed to hold up both the city and the government.

"This is one of the gravest menaces to health of the city," said Mayor Nicholas today, "and I am convinced that it is the main cause of the epidemics of typhoid we have each year. It is nothing more nor less than a public nuisance, and I am determined that it shall be abated. I have a plan by which I think this can be accomplished, and I shall ask the council for authority to secure options on these forty odd water rights by paying the owners a reasonable compensation. I am confident that a majority of these will be fair, and we will have no trouble, but if there are a few who are disposed to be unreasonable, and will not concede anything for the public good, then we will be forced to permit the law to take its hand. This ditch is a menace to the public health and the state law is sufficient to back us up in our efforts to clean the city of this disease-breeding sewer."

The canal referred to passes through the city of Klamath Falls, along the foot of a hill, upon the slopes of which and lying at its foot the town is mainly built. The construction of the canal is through a soft rock part of the way, so that the banks have never been water tight, and probably cannot be made so, unless by concreting the banks the whole distance through the town, a very expensive proceeding.

The seepage from the canal has always been troublesome, but in recent years, as the city has grown rapidly, it has not only been troublesome, but has been a menace to the health of the whole city, partly because it is sluggish, is filled with weeds, and thus is a breeding place for millions of mosquitoes, but mainly because the water supply of the city is taken from a spring lying below the canal. Between the canal and the water supply are old water closets which have saturated the earth with filth for unknown distances. Through this filth

'RINGER' IS SOME BOXER

STORY OF ROSCOE CONKLIN AND ENGLISH PUGILIST IS REVIVED BY THE WASHINGTON RUBBER- NECK WAGONS

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—Washington's rubberneck wagon men are retelling a new story to their audiences about the late Roscoe Conkling, New York's famous senator, and his skill with the boxing gloves. The story is always sprung when the wagons round Fourteenth and H streets, where stands the building that used to be the residence of the late Zach Chandler, who occupied a seat in the senate at the same time that Conkling did.

It appears that Chandler took great pride in giving stag dinners which were always followed by entertainments of one sort or another. Conkling was very often a guest, and at these entertainments he would often call for the boxing gloves and offer to mix it up with anybody that was willing.

Now Chandler was no boxer, although he tried conclusions with Conkling several times, much to his regret. Conkling put it all over him, and Chandler cooked up a scheme to get revenge.

Chandler gave a dinner and invited Conkling. The latter, at the conclusion, called for the boxing gloves, and offered to "spar a bit." After much persuasion a guest who disclaimed all knowledge of boxing, offered to put on the gloves with him. The guest and Conkling started in, and Conkling landed rather heavily several times. Then the guest started in to hammer Conkling like a real professional and Conkling got suspicious.

"I thought you said you didn't know anything about boxing," said Conkling.

The guest modestly replied that he didn't, and hostilities were resumed. The hammering continued, much to the discomfort of Conkling.

"I think I have had enough," the senator panted.

At this stage Senator Chandler intervened. Addressing Conkling he said: "Senator Conkling, let me introduce you to Joe Coburg, champion middleweight boxer of England." Conkling saw that the joke was on him, and joined in the general laugh at his expense.

JUROR THINKS DARROW GUILTY

ATTORNEY FOR DEFENSE OP- PERS TO PROVE CHARGE

Judge Declines to Excuse the Blamed Juror, and Trial of Famous Attorney Proceeds—Darrow Hits Daring Argument With His Head Buried in His Arms—Hard Blow is Given to Case of the Defense

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—When the court opened this morning, Earl Rogers, attorney for the defense in the Darrow case, charged that Juror Leavitt had expressed his opinion that Clarence Darrow was guilty of the charges against him. This opinion had been expressed before Leavitt had been called to jury duty.

The attorney declared that he had several witnesses to prove the bias of the juror, and asked that Alternate Juror Blakesley be substituted.

Judge Hutton said that he was in doubt whether or not any law enabled him to stop a case to try the qualifications of a juror.

District Attorney Fredericks said that under the law Blakesley could not serve unless a regular juror dies, and a long argument between the attorneys ensued.

Judge Hutton overruled the demand by Rogers that Leavitt be disqualified because he had said he believed Darrow guilty, and the case proceeded. In closing the Leavitt argument, Rogers said:

"The only question now is, shall we go ahead with this farce? If this juror has a state of mind as indicated by his statements to relatives and friends, our efforts will be futile. We are doing an idle, useless thing. If what we hear is true, we are here trying to argue a case to no purpose." During the statement Darrow sat with his head buried in his arms.

COURT ROOM GUARDED TO PROTECT WITNESSES

United Press Service
NEW YORK, July 25.—Coroner Feinberg resumed the Rosenthal inquest this morning. The court room is guarded, and admission is gained only by ticket. This is to prevent gangsters from intimidating the witnesses. The grand jury has resumed the inquiry.

PRIVATE BANQUET ROOM AND NEW GRILL SOON

The Hotel Hall is having its grill room fitted up, and will have the cafe open for the public in a few days. The grill is to be redecorated and the floors and stairways carpeted and covered. In addition to the grill a private banquet room is also to be arranged adjoining the grill. This will be the only up-town dining room in the city, and the lack of the city in this respect is the main reason for the Halls adding a cafe to the hotel.

PIONEER IS HERE VISITING FRIENDS

As active as he was years ago when he had to travel several days to get to the homes of more than eight "neighbors," Steve Stukle came to town this morning on a business trip from his farm below Merrill. He is a pioneer among pioneers, and years ago farmed the lot now known as Mills addition to Klamath Falls.

Mr. Stukle is 72 years of age. He has unbounded confidence in the future of this section, where he has spent the best days of his life. This morning Mr. Stukle was busy renewing acquaintances with pioneers who reside in the city.

OREGON THIRD IN SCHOOL PER CENT

SALEM, July 25.—State Superin- tendent of Schools L. R. Alderman has returned from attending the meeting of the National Educational Association at Chicago.

"I was delighted with the interest shown among the educators of the country in the rural school problem," said Superintendent Alderman.

"There was great interest shown in the Oregon exhibit, which illustrated the work we are doing in this state."

Mr. Alderman said that this state stands third in rank of those that have the highest percentage of students attending colleges according to population. Kansas is first, with one college student to every 112 inhabitants; Utah second, with one to every 121 inhabitants; Oregon third, with one to 155; Nebraska fourth, with one to 155; Indiana next, with one to 163; Iowa, one to 184, and Illinois, with one to 199, while Missouri is at the bottom of the column.

MAY SPRINKLE PAVED STREETS

MOVEMENT IS ON FOOT TO RAISE FUNDS TO PAY EXPENSE—THE STORES WILL BE BENEFITED, IS ARGUMENT

A movement is on foot to arrange for the sprinkling of the paved streets in the city during the day.

The expense of this has in the past been borne by the business houses on the principal streets, but some time ago street sprinkling was discontinued except when the streets were cleaned by the city.

It is argued that sprinkling has a tendency to make it more agreeable for shoppers on warm days, and, therefore, indirectly benefit the stores in the downtown district.

AN UNSINKABLE SHIP IS MAXIM'S LATEST

The Great Inventor Plans a Semi-Sub- merged Cruiser, Which Will Com- pletely Change Naval Warfare and Put Dreadnoughts on the Run

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Plan-ning a semi-submerged cruiser which will put all dreadnoughts into the discard, Hudson Maxim, the inventor, is satisfied that he has a design which will materially change the aspect of naval warfare.

Maxim's new vessel will be lightly armored, but of high speed. It will float like any other ship in ordinary use, but when it goes into action will be submerged until its decks are almost awash. The inventor believes it will be practically unsinkable.
