

RENO DIVORCE COLONY SMALL

JUDGE ORR DENIES REPORTS OF THE GREAT NUMBER OF LEGAL SEPARATIONS ALLOWED IN THE NEVADA CITY ANNUALLY

"More divorces are granted in a single day in Seattle than in Reno in a month."

Thus does J. S. Orr, district judge of Reno, Nevada, deny the popular impression of the Nevada city.

Judge Orr is well known in Klamath Falls. He practiced law in the city for ten years, and was at one time county judge here. He arrived in the city last night, accompanied by his son and his nephew, H. W. Orr and wife.

"Last year there were between 300 and 400 divorces granted in Reno," said Judge Orr. "All of these were not granted to people from outside points, but many were local people. There are two judges in Reno, so that I try but half of the cases."

MAKE EARLY START THE FOR BERRY PATCH

Mr. and Mrs. Levi McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Will Sparks and Tom Sparks left this morning for the Long Lake berry patch. They will go by waterberry patch. They will first go to Rocky Point, where Mr. George McDonald and family and Mr. Bert Withrow and family are encamped, to get little Miss Joe McDonald, who is at present the guest of her grandparents.

The party makes this early start that they may have plenty of time to install themselves comfortably in a camp home before they begin on the berries, and also that the mosquitoes may have plenty of time to prepare themselves for the opening of the hunting season. From the premises made friends of venison dinners and "bar" meet they expect to work overtime on the hunting proposition.

ODD FELLOWS WILL GIVE A BIG BANQUET

The Odd Fellows will confer the Third degree on a class of six new members on Friday evening, after which a banquet and entertainment will be given. This will probably be the last class taken in until the fall work begins. It has been customary to forego degree work during the summer months, but this year there has been so many applications that it has been necessary to keep the work going well into the warm season.

The lodge has had a wonderful growth during the past year or so, and there has hardly been a month when there was not a class of from six to ten to initiate. The attendance has also been exceptionally large, even during the hot weather, and has averaged from forty to fifty at each meeting. The degree teams have their work perfected, and the new officers, who were installed in July, have entered into their offices full of enthusiasm, and it is predicted that this winter will see the greatest increase in the lodge of any in the state. It is stated that applications will not be accepted until the cooler weather begins, but the teams will continue their practice work, to be ready for the fall and winter.

WILL SPEND THEIR TIME AT ROCKY POINT

Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald and their grandchild, Joe McDonald, and Mr. Bert Withrow and family left yesterday to spend the heated term at Rocky Point. They went to Ship-pington in their machine, and from there their launch the "Langell Valley," will tow their new houseboat, the "Bonanza," to Rocky Point.

The "Bonanza" is completely furnished for trips of this kind, having all the necessary conveniences for outfitting trips, and that this party will have an enjoyable time goes without saying.

Mrs. Montgomery Joins Husband Mrs. E. R. Montgomery arrived here last evening to join her husband, who has been here for some months as the manager of a local mercantile business. The Montgomery's home has been in Tonapah, Nevada. Prior to coming to this city Mrs. Montgomery spent a few weeks with relatives in San Francisco. They will reside at Eighth and Bush, the former Chairman residence, a beautiful five-room bungalow.

Good Reports of Crops E. P. Combs is in the city today from his ranch on Lost River, fourteen miles south of the city. He reports that the crops everywhere in the valley are in fine shape. "You can see at most any of the ranches in the valley, some of the best wheat, barley and oats you ever laid your eyes on," said Mr. Combs today. He believes that a rain about this time would be a good thing for the crops, as it would prevent the hot sun from shrinking the grain, and permit it to fill.

McLEAN FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

(Continued from Page 1) fense brought out the fact that McLean was a show man, and, therefore, not very familiar with horses. But the evidence shows that McLean rode the ranges twenty years ago, and is well informed concerning horses.

"There may be others implicated in this case, but we are now only trying McLean. It is possible for 100 men to steal one horse."

W. H. Shaw, who was appointed by the state to defend McLean, spoke about an hour for his client. He censured H. E. Winnard, the complaining witness, for having started a criminal action against McLean, arguing that the case properly belonged in a civil court, and openly accused the witness, Campbell, of having deliberately lied while on the witness stand.

"If you convict this defendant you must do so entirely upon circumstantial evidence, and that of the slightest sort," declared the attorney.

"There is not an iota of evidence to prove that this man stole a horse from Winnard. On the contrary, there is ample proof in support of the explanation of the defendant as to how he came into possession of the animal."

"The fact that McLean had the horse in his possession for some time, and drove her around the vicinity of the Winnard place, making absolutely no effort to conceal her, should convince you that he had no intention of committing a crime. He thought it was his property. He had been told that the mare was his, and his mistake was a natural one. From the time he had turned his mare on the range until the lapse of about a year he had not seen the animal. Even after he had been arrested he supposed that the mare was his, and it was not until he had carefully examined the mare in the livery stable in this city that he concluded that he had made a mistake."

Prosecuting Attorney Kaykendall made the closing argument for the state. Briefly he summed up the case and ridiculed the claims of the defense that a case had not been made.

Judge Benson briefly instructed the jury, and the twelve men retired to deliberate at 2:30 this afternoon.

MAYOR'S HOUSE HAS CONNECTION WITH SEWER

There seems to be an error in the story printed in the morning paper to the effect that the residence of Mayor T. F. Nicholas is not connected with the sewer. Mayor Nicholas is out of the city today, but both the chief of police and neighbors of the mayor state that the residence is connected up with the city sewer.

SIMPLE CLOTHES TO AID BEAUTY CULTURE

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—Mrs. Lillian Stuart's lecture here on "Our Foolish Clothes" is the one topic of conversation with St. Louis women. Mrs. Stuart makes use of the leg of a skeleton, charts and pictures to illustrate her address, which was given under the auspices of Miss Alice Thomas, a sister of Augustus Thomas, the playwright.

"I might say I wear only three garments," said Mrs. Stuart. "They are a waist and a skirt, which snap together like the fastenings of a glove, and a one-piece union suit."

Mrs. Stuart then referred to the "one-piece union suit" as a "three-in-one" undergarment. Its principal advantage, as far as the laymen could gather, is that it helps eliminate the waist line. Mrs. Stuart does not like the habit of wearing thirty-eight inches of waist in a size 30 garment. She blames this as the cause of all manner of ills.

The capital stock is $15,000, divided into 150 shares of $100 each. The incorporators are C. D. Crister, Ben S. Owens and Burge W. Mason. It is stated that Chas. McElwan, formerly with the California Fruit Canners Association, is one of the stockholders of the new company, and will be the manager.

The company is to build a box factory on the railroad near the Savidgo Bros.' mill.

CATCH LIMIT OF FISH BACK FOR BREAKFAST

Chief of Police Smith is telling a real record fish story today, and he claims he can prove it with the aid of the Miller Photo company, who took a picture of the catch. A party consisting of the chief, George Biehn, Lou Martin, Oscar North and Karl Sharp, left the city at 4:20 this morning and returned at 7 o'clock with 16 trout weighing from 4 to 18 pounds apiece. The fish were caught just below the diversion dam in Lost River. There is plenty of trout in Lost River since the diversion canal was connected with Klamath River, and the fishing is good. It is predicted the river near the dam will become one of the great fishing resorts of the county.
