Your Child's Health Your First Thought

If you have children, natural, sour and feverish, are for their health. You certainly want them to develop strong, healthy constitutions. The most careful attention must be given when children show the first symptoms of the many common ailments. Perhaps they are troubled and ill, or show the first signs of declining strength. Worms and other apparently minor ailments may be the forerunner to a weak constitution for life.

Such children need Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge, which is especially a children's tonic. First of all, it will properly care for the child's stomach. It will also improve the appetite, and will add strength to the other organs of the body. In cases of thin or impure blood, it increases the number of red corpuscles, enabling the nutritious blood to keep the body healthy and strong.

Among the most common ailments that children develop is that of a disordered stomach, leading to an impaired digestion. In many cases this trouble is due to parasites in the intestinal tract. To expel such trouble, Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge is unsurpassed.

For more than sixty years millions of children have been restored to health through the use of this tonic. Make sure you get Jayne's; accept no other. Sold by druggists everywhere. Dr. D. Jayne & Son, Philadelphia, Pa.

KLAMATH FALLS - - OREGON

TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1912

HERBERT J. SAVIDGE

DETERMINED to prevent the Evening Herald from securing the city printing at any cost, Councilman Herbert J. Savidge was instrumental last night in pulling off one of the coarsest pieces of spite work ever attempted by any public official in the state. It was worse than rotten for the stench will remain with Mr. Savidge when his short political career shall have been buried in the distant past.

The Herald asks no favors of anyone, but will fight for what it is justly and honestly entitled to. If it had been simply a matter of favor or choice between two papers, we would most naturally expect to see Mr. Savidge show a preference for the Northwestern, and we would have been game enough to have taken our medicine without holding any grudge against the councilman. If we cannot win fairly, we prefer defeat, and will accept it with good grace. All we have to say is that we can afford to lose the city printing better than can Mr. Savidge to lose his good name and his reputation for broadmindedness and fairness.

There is another side to the question than a personal one. The taxpayers of Klamath Falls cannot afford to pay more than the recognized legal rate for its advertising, and they should not be forced to pay a matter of $1,500 a year or more simply to gratify the personal animosity of a few of the men they have honored by placing them in a public position. It would be just as honest for those councilmen to take that $1,500 from the city and put it in their own pockets, as to vote to give it to a newspaper man who happened to be a friend.

This action of the five members of the council is hardly in accord with their desire, on the plea of economy, to reduce the salary of the city police officers to $75 a month. If the council favors economy they should be consistent in all their actions. It doesn't sound good to the average property owner to have their representative make a big talk about saving a few dollars, and then turn around and absolutely give away thousands.

Mr. Savidge was hard pressed for an excuse for his action, when after his failure to reject all bids he objected to the bid of the Herald because no sworn circulation was given. Mr. Savidge and every councilman knows that the Northwestern statement was not circulation. If the council was sincere and wished to know the circulation of the two papers, they would have been justified in asking for a list of the names of the actual bona fide subscribers to the papers, accompanied by the sworn affidavit of the publishers.

The Herald is ready at any time to submit and prove its bona fide circulation by presenting the names and addresses of its subscribers, provided the Northwestern does the same. As only ordinances and notices affecting the residents and taxpayers of the city are printed, this circulation should be confined to people living within the city of Klamath Falls. The fact that a paper sees fit to print several hundred additional papers and send them free to all parts of the United States should have no consideration in awarding a contract for city printing. Any small paper could well afford to give away twice its circulation for $1,500 a year, as it would be making good profit on the cost of the paper at that.

Mr. Savidge naturally feels aggrieved because the Herald was instrumental in thwarting his scheme for firing the entire police force and replacing them with some of his own favorites. We have no complaint at his personal attitude in the matter, but will have to admit that we are disappointed in the man, as we sincerely believed that he was much bigger than his recent action has shown him to be.

PEOPLE YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

∴ ACTING MAYOR WEARS A SMILE ∴

There is a wide difference between running a great butcher business and administering to the affairs of a city of 6,000 people, in spite of the oft-repeated opinion of many politicicians that the people are a bunch of cattle, living only to be herded and driven. But C. B. Crisler is doing very well in both jobs right now. He's acting mayor, and, in addition, he's still on the job at the Klamath Meat company's place of business.

"How does it feel to be mayor?" Mr. Crisler was asked this afternoon.

But the new mayor has not analyzed his feelings, and declined to attempt to reply. There is one subject, however, the mention of which is sure to bring a smile to his pleasant countenance. Ask him how he voted on the city advertising steal. The writer was bold enough to ask.

"I was on the other side of the table," was the reply, accompanied by a chuckle, and his honor almost shook hands with himself.

You see, Mr. Crisler meant that he was presiding officer of the meeting, and did not have a vote coming to him. However, his friends are confident that had he not been acting for Mayor Nicholas, who is on a vacation, the Northwestern would not have succeeded in putting through the deal. For then he would have had had a vote, and the council would have been tied on the proposition.

Working for a city government is not exactly a new experience for Mr. Crisler. In addition to the time he has served on the Klamath Falls council, he served two terms as a member of the Ashland council before coming to this city.

Anyway, Klamath Falls officers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are contributing their mite toward the erection of that six-story sky-scraper, and the price of beefsteak is going up, too.

Wonder if Councilman Savidge buys supplies for his mill at the place where the highest price is bid?
