"The Post Telegraph," a subject in two reels, of war with the Indians, that carries a great history, for the accidents that happened while making the picture; 3 were killed and several seriously wounded, which can be distinguished in the picture. KLAMATH FALLS - OREGON
THURSDAY, AUG. 15, 1912

BAND OF SHEEP IS UNCLAIMED

A BUNCH OF 200 HEAD GRAZE AROUND AND ARE FINALLY PICKED UP BY RANCHER, WHO WAITS FOR OWNER

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Aug. 15.—Three hundred and twenty-six head of sheep, found by James Gleason, a Klamath stockman, in the isolated wilds of Butler canyon in the Simcoe mountains, have been turned in with the flock of Uri Trumbo.

Mr. Gleason kept the sheep for some time in his pasture, thinking the owner would inquire for them, but so far no one has appeared. The sheep are 2-year-old wethers, and it is thought they became separated from one of the bands brought from Oregon this spring to graze on the Yakima Indian reservation and the Columbia forest reserve, while trailing through the Simcoes. Small bunches of lost sheep are often picked up in the mountains, but it is seldom that a large bunch is isolated from the main band very long.

OTTERBEIN HAS QUITE A GARDEN PATCH

Raises Big Variety of Good Things to Eat in Back Yard, and is Surprised at Development of Beets, Sweet Corn and Other Items.

Speaking of gardens, Nate Otterbein has one at his home, Fifth and Klamath, that would do any one's heart good. It does his. It is a fair sample of the success that gardening is attaining this year, since the season has been favorable, especially with its abundant rain.

In the yard are beets, peas, lettuce, onions, potatoes, string beans, cabbage, tomatoes, cucumbers and sweet corn. The silk on the corn is beginning to turn, and Mr. Otterbein expects to have roasting ears on the table next week. Tomatoes are also coming fast, and by the end of next week will be ready for the table.

"I've been surprised and mighty agreeably, too, at the success of the enterprise," said Mr. Otterbein. "People have talked as though Klamath Falls was not a good place for garden truck, but my experience so far has certainly convinced me that the reverse is true. All the vegetables in my garden appear to be flourishing to the utmost, and indications are that everything will be of good size and quality."

THE BLIND GODDESS MAY STOP JOURNEY

With Justice of the Peace Charles Graves' Going to Boost Feet at Lakeview, Although It would Be Incomplete Without Him.

While business in the justice line is not particularly rushing at this writing, or, to speak more correctly, this typewriting, it may be that the blind goddess will need the assistance of Justice of the Peace Charles Graves just at a time when it will interfere with his getting away to the meeting at Lakeview of the Central Oregon Development League. He usually makes pilgrimages to such events, which are hardly complete without his presence.

"I am not sure whether I'll be able to get away or not," said his honor. "I've got a case coming up next Monday, possibly, that will cut Lakeview out of my schedule, although I may be able to get through with it in a day and get started that night. It is the issue of the state versus Walter Sears, Charles Hunter and John Killerman, charged with peddling without a license. Will Baldwin made the information, and the men, who are under $1,000 collective bond, may waive a hearing, which will be a brief procedure, or may go into the evidence, which would take longer."

W. H. A. Renner of this city represents the accused men, whose Portland counsel is Ralph Dunway.

VACATIONS ARE FEW FOR GERMAN LABORERS

Less Than One Per Cent of West Army of Workmen Permitted to Have Annual Breathing Spell, According to Investigating Medico

United Press Service
BERLIN, Aug. 15.—That less than one per cent of Germany's vast army of workmen engaged in the various industries are given an annual vacation is the statement made by Dr. Heyde, of the International Arbitration Union for the Protection of Workingmen. Dr. Heyde says that comparatively few German employers seem to think that his workmen are entitled to a vacation with pay. A few of the mines are granting a five-days vacation to married men, and then only after they have been employed ten years.

In the metal industry, with almost 1,000,000 men, only 11,455 were given vacations.

REGIMENT NOT TO BE FIRED

GOVERNOR WEST HOLDS ONLY DISOBEDIENT OFFICERS OF THE BATTALION RESPONSIBLE AND THEY WILL BE OUSTED

SALEM, Aug. 15.—Controverting the general impression that the Second battalion of the Third Infantry Oregon National Guard, was disbanded by the resolution passed by the general staff and approved by him, Governor West has called attention to the fact that the disbanding order affected only those officers and men who participated in the mutiny at Gate, Wash., at the time of the recent maneuvers.

"Only those who refused to obey orders are dismissed from the service," said Governor West. "Not one of the others is affected."

KIT CARSON SHOW A HIT

CROWD IN WELL PLEASED WITH PERFORMANCE UNDER THE BIG TOP THIS AFTERNOON. ANIMALS PERFORM WELL

The Kit Carson Wild West show attracted a good crowd this afternoon. The program is well selected and entertaining. Some good circus acts are introduced. Notable among these are the Powell family of gymnasts and acrobats and the Flying Millers, in sensational aerial casting.

The Wild West numbers are taken care of by cowboys, cowgirls, real Indians and Mexicans. No better horsemanship or lariat throwing was ever seen here. The performance begins with a grand review of characters, introducing a son of Kit Carson, the noted scout, and ends with a delineation of the battle of Wounded Knee, near Pine Ridge, South Dakota, in 1890. Two of the Sioux chiefs who took part in that battle are with the Kit Carson show. Daredevil Cosacks and a pair of elephants are also in the performance.

The show will be repeated tonight, the doors opening at 8:30. Beforehand there will be a concert by the show band on the streets.

SEATTLE TEACHER FALLS TO DEATH

YOUNG WOMAN IS VICTIM OF A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT WHILE ON A TRIP TO THE SUMMIT OF FAMOUS PINNACLE PEAK

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 15.—Seized by dizziness as she gazed down from the summit of Pinnacle Peak, Miss Charlotte Hunt, aged 30, a Seattle school teacher, suddenly pitched into space. Her body was picked up by other members of the pleasure party, 500 feet below, in Paradise Valley. It was carried to the railroad in a pallet of alpenstocks and blankets. Nearly every bone in the body had been broken. The other women, unnerved by the accident, were carried down the mountain by the men. Miss Hunt's mother lives at Tama, Iowa.

GRAND JURY HAS LITTLE WORK

AT LEAST INDICATIONS ARE FOR LIGHT DUTY, THERE BEING NO CRIMINAL CASES NOW PENDING THAT BODY'S ACTION

When the grand jury meets the next time the situation will be decidedly different from last year, for indications are that this time the body will have pretty nearly a water-bowl, as far as criminals already under charge are concerned. The jail is empty, and there are no people bound over to the grand jury from justice courts, although there might be writing and the time the grand jury is called to assemble, which will be probably in the next thirty days.

There don't seem to be anything for the grand jury in the way of criminal cases as far as my records show," remarked Justice of the Peace Charles Graves, "and it looks as if there might be very little for the jury to do. There does not appear to be anybody on the books here bound over for grand jury action."

Last year the jail was filled to overflowing, and there was a clamor for the grand jury to get together and determine on true bills or no true bills for the accused men, and also a clamor to have the regular trials of criminal cases got under way.

The most important matter which will probably be considered by the inquisitorial body will be the graft charges, which have been preferred against councilmen.

MANY INDIANS ARRIVE HERE

CIRCUS ATTRACTS CROWD FROM THE KLAMATH RESERVATION. VISITOR REMARKS ON THEIR INTELLIGENCE

The circus here today attracted a number of Indians from the reservation. Most all of the prominent ranchers there were arrivals early this morning and last night, while a few straggled into the city later in the day.

Notable among those seen on the streets today were Shakespeare Hick, Harry Wilson, Charles Cohn, George Gray, Robert Wilson, Andrew Jackson, Clyde Pitt, Solomon, Edward Wilson, Frank House, Joe Weeks and Mike Weeks.

Crops on the reservation are reported excellent this year, and the Indians expect to have plenty of money this fall.

"I have never seen a more intelligent group of redskins than those on the streets here today," said L. G. Cogswell of Seattle, who has made a deep study of Indians and their customs. "Most of those I conversed with were well educated."

Mix 'n' Up

By Joe Bush

Earl Rogers, attorney for Darrow, says the rich feed on bees' knees and hummingbird tongues. Who wants to be rich?

"I can recognize everyone of the pieces the band plays," said a sweet young thing at the band concert last night.

"Indeed, and how is it that you have become so familiar with the repertoire of the band?"

"I live next door to one of the musicians, and I hear him practicing almost every day."

"What instrument does he play?"

"Bass horn."

If the weather keeps up all day as it started out this morning this will be a good day for ducks but poor for the circus.

Of course the only reason that you went to the circus this afternoon was because the children wanted to go.
