ARNEY GIVES BOOSTERS TIP

RAILROAD IMMIGRATION AND INDUSTRIAL AGENT TELLS BEST WAY TO ATTRACT SETTLERS TO ANY SECTION OF COUNTRY

"The best way to reach prospective settlers and get them interested in buying their products of the soil," says, C. E. Arney, Western immigration and industrial agent of the Northern Pacific.

"Let the people see what you can produce and give them an apple or pear or two to taste, and you have them interested, and they seek more information. Realizing this, the Northern Pacific is now keeping me busy getting together a very comprehensive exhibit of products of Oregon, Washington and Idaho that will be shown at the state fair at Detroit, the Northwest Land Products show at Minneapolis and then to be taken to various cities in the Middle states on an exhibit train.

"I have already secured a great many splendid specimens, and we have a professor, M. J. Wessels, at work at Spokane, putting up the exhibits in fine shape. The exhibit car will be started out January 1st, and will be kept on the move until July 1st. At the fair and land show the company will have practically every member of its immigration and industrial department on hand to explain to the visitors conditions in the Pacific Northwest states.

"The crops in Central Oregon and throughout the entire Pacific Northwest are simply magnificent this year, and the farmers are happy. It is a pleasure to travel through the country these days. The demonstration farms in Central Oregon were a revelation to us, and they will prove of immense value in encouraging development work.

"One thing that impressed me was that the most reasonable land values I know of in the Northwest were in the Central Oregon country, and especially around Bend. And again, speaking of conditions in general, the great problem that confronts the commercial organizations of the Pacific Northwest today is an adjustment of land values so that they will meet the hopes and expectations of prospective settlers. On the whole, land values in the Pacific Northwest are held too high, and this is impeding the immigration movement. The railroads are doing all they can to interest a good class of settlers and with success, although perhaps not as great as they would like."

Mr. Arney is a former newspaper man, and was appointed to his present position last March, when the office was created. He plans to make a tour of the Willamette Valley in a few weeks, and will also make an extended trip through Central Oregon to get closer in touch with the field.

WILKINS HOPES FOR RIVER DRIVE

posite the boulevard, from which you could reach it either by a bridge or by fording, for the river there is not deep enough to be troublesome.

"To have a little park, with drives, benches, trees and flowers, just opposite the rapids, would, to my mind, be something fine, and I hope that the scheme, as now under way, will come to a realization. As it is this city has no park worthy of the name, and no drive that has the scenic beauty which would be afforded along Link River to the Upper Lake. Let the good work go on."

Colonel Wilkins, although past his 74th milestone, is as active as many men just about half that, and although but recently recovered from an illness of several weeks, which took 41 pounds off his weight, he was out gardening today.

OUT OF RESPECT TO COX'S MEMORY

POWER COMPANY WILL STOP ALL POSSIBLE WORK TOMORROW NOON—FUNERAL DETAILS AWAIT RELATIVES

Owing to the death of Horace G. Cox, and the desire to show respect for his memory, the California-Oregon Power company will close its offices at noon, and all work in connection with the enterprise that can possibly be avoided will be dispensed with. Only enough force will be kept at work to furnish needed power to local industries. Employees will act as an escort to the remains of young Cox to the Southern Pacific depot when the time of leaving is fixed.

Mrs. Maude Cox, the young man's step-mother, had word sent last night to an Indian at Spring Creek who signified his willingness to act as courier to locate her other son, Edwin, and her brothers, Postmaster Clyde K. Brandenburg and Floyd Brandenburg. The courier crossed the reservation toward the Bly district, and found the trio, who were returning from their outing trip to the Paisley territory, whom he notified of the sad death of their relative. They were heard from this morning, and later, Edwin Cox, brother of Horace, was brought to Klamath Falls by Henry Rabbes in Mr. Rabbes' machine. Mr. Rabbes had gone out in his auto and overtaken the party.

William T. Shive planned to start at noon in his auto, with another man, to meet the Brandenburg brothers, leaving the man to bring to this city the team with which the camping party had traveled, while he brought the Messrs. Brandenburg home. It was figured that a couple of hours or more could be saved this way. Mr. Shive figured that he would be able to catch the party in the neighborhood of Dairy.

This afternoon the probabilities were that the funeral services would be held tomorrow evening and the funeral party leave Sunday morning for Salem.

The late Horace Cox was brought up as an adherent of the Episcopal faith, and his godmother was Mrs.

Chitwood. A service in accordance with his belief is to be arranged for prior to taking away the remains for their final resting place in Salem, beside the bodies of his parents. If Bishop Robert Paddock, who is to conduct services in the Church of the Redeemer Sunday, should arrive here in time, he may be asked to officiate.

SPECIAL MEETING OF I. O. O. F. ENCAMPMENT

At the regular meeting of Kwauna Encampment No. 46, I. O. O. F. held last night the question of weekly meetings, instead of bi-weekly, was taken up and discussed at considerable length. It was the consensus of the opinion among the members present that such a change was most desirable, and for the purpose of further discussion the meeting was adjourned until next Thursday night, at which time all members of the Encampment are requested to be present and assist in choosing a meeting night in case it is decided to make the change.

The presence of all members is further desired owing to the fact that at the next regular meeting work will begin on a class of twelve applicants, and a degree team is to be chosen for the coming winter. After the mid-summer cessation an active campaign has been started.

battle which has waged between Governor West and Morson. A board of arbitration was suggested.

Perhaps the most important matter to be taken up was the future of the development league. It was intimated at a meeting held last night and which was attended by the county judges and commissioners of the four counties included in the development league membership, that William Hanley had been the sole financial backer in the past of the league. The county officials indicated that they would favor the work being carried on in the future by the county courts. No official action was taken, but the sentiment expressed indicated that the different counties would take some such action.
