CHILD'S WELFARE IS TO BE EXHIBIT

The exposition of eugenics and child's welfare department which is to be made a part of the Oregon State fair (week of September 2-7) for the first time, promises to be one of the most important steps ever taken, looking as it does toward the better rearing and development of its children; the citizens of tomorrow.

Prominent men and women of Oregon who are interested in the betterment of the human race are giving this movement their fullest support, among them being President Campbell of the University of Oregon; President W. J. Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural College; Prof. R. A. Alderman, state superintendent of instruction, and Dr. Calvin S. White of the state board of health.

Dr. Kittie Plummer Gray, president of the Women's Medical Association, assisted by Dr. Bertha Stewart of the University of Oregon and Dr. Zoe Crayne of Oregon Agricultural College, with the united help of practically all the women physicians of the state, will have charge of the work of judging the children and the giving of lectures to parents.

Mrs. R. H. Tate, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers, working in harmony with a strong committee from the Oregon state grange, will have charge of the child's welfare exhibit.

As has been widely circulated, the state fair board is giving $500 for expenses and cups in this department, and any child of Oregon over six months and under four years of age may compete, physical fitness being the standard. Entries and examinations may be made at the fair Monday, Tuesday and up until noon Wednesday. Welfare exhibit will be held entire week.

From all parts of Oregon arrangements are being made to send representative children to the exposition, Albany, Eugene, Forest Grove, Oregon City, Astoria, Pendleton and Klamath Falls being some of the cities in line. The eugenic pavilion will be the headquarters of the state grange, and they are particularly requested to come to the fair and visit the exposition.

Every physician in the state is urged to give the matter attention and to advise parents with promising babies to go to the fair. The press has already given this feature enthusiastic mention, and are asked to put this letter before their public and to comment editorially upon the subject.

We have one of the finest state fairs in the United States, and every man, woman and child who can should spend at least one day this year in helping to make it a huge success.

Mix 'n' Up
By Joe Bush

Colonel Charley Mann—he is the superintendent of the house press gallery, and has been for a score or more of years, was reminiscing the other day about lunatics and things.

"Did you ever hear the story about 'Muggsy' McGraw of the New York Giants, and the lunatic?" he asked his two friends.

"No," they replied, and gave him the signal to unspool.

"Well, it was back in the days when McGraw was with the old Baltimore Orioles. The Orioles went down to Willow Grove, Md., one day to play ball with a team from the lunatic asylum there. The lunatics might have been short on some things, but they were long on baseball knowledge, and it was quite a game.

"One of the players on the lunatic team was a man with the odd delusion that he was a kernel of corn. Believing that if a chicken appeared in sight the chicken would eat him up, he being a kernel of corn, he always fled on first signs of approaching poultry. Now it happened that one of the attendants knew of the man's queer affliction, and when the game was going along very nicely, let a chicken loose from a crate. The fowl gave a loud cackle and off went the lunatic at high speed for the shelter of the asylum. McGraw happened to be in the man's path, and when he saw the lunatic running at top speed he thought he was pursuing him.

"It was a great race. McGraw got all the way to the asylum before he found out that the lunatic was not chasing him. When he got back to the ball field even the other lunatics were laughing at him."
