KLAMATH LAKE IS ON THE MOVE

OBSERVATIONS MADE BY THE GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES SHOW THAT THE WATER RISES AND FALLS AT INTERVALS
 People who regard Upper Klamath Lake as a peaceful and stationary body of water may have another guess, for they need one. The fact is that no matter how calm the lake may appear to be, outwardly, it is constantly on the move, up and down. Observations officially taken by the United States reclamation service show that this year the lake has varied in its surface level almost a foot and a half, or, speaking accurately, 1.48 feet.
 Taking January 1st as the zero mark, the lake rose .37 foot in a month, while March 1st it had risen .88 feet in the two months. The monthly stages subsequent were as follows: April 1, .68 foot; May 1, .35 foot; June 1, .59 foot; July 1, .37 foot. From July 1 to August 1 the lake fell .57 foot, and in the month of August it dropped .30 foot, the August stage being the lowest this year, as compared with the highest early in March, the difference between the two dates being 1.48 feet.
 Some folk wonder why the rains of late have not increased the water, instead of it falling, which is accounted for by the fact that not a great deal of water fell, and the land absorbed practically all of it, instead of running into the lake from the higher ground. When the snows begin to come off the mountains in the cold months it increases the stage of water.
 The Klamath River is high in April and May and low in September and October.

Will Hold Window Sale

The Ladies Aid Society of Grace M. E. Church will hold a window sale next Saturday at the Monarch Grocery. Up and Down? Go To Your Doctor

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic. It does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic. Ask your doctor all about this. Trust him fully, and always do as he says.

CAR SHORTAGE IS NOW THREATENING

Unless there is co-operation between the railways and the shippers, it is predicted that there will be a serious shortage of cars next month. Word to this effect has been received by Agent Bailey of the Southern Pacific from the traffic officials of the company.
 According to official information, unless preparations are made at once and shippers act with the railways, the situation next month will be the worst since October, 1907, when the shippers and railways suffered.
 Conditions that are likely to cause a heavy demand for and a rapid reduction in the supply of cars exist. The amount of traffic handled varies greatly during the different parts of the year. During about eight months there are usually large car surpluses. During about four months, beginning around October 1st, there are apt to be shortages. This is owing chiefly to the fact that that is the season of heaviest crop movement. Now, the crop prospects in the West this year are unusually good. That helps to make the prospect of a car shortage unusually bad.
 It has been suggested that the shippers and consignees can co-operate in the following ways:
 By moving all lumber, coal, cement and other freight that can within the next few weeks, instead of delaying and throwing it all on the railways when they are staggering under the crop movement.
 Shippers and consignees can greatly help themselves, the railways and all other shippers and consignees by loading and unloading all cars delivered to them as expeditiously as practicable. Every time the loading or unloading of a car is needlessly delayed the available supply of cars is needlessly reduced.
 Shippers can help greatly by loading all cars to as near their capacity as conditions make practicable.

SCIENTISTS WILL VISIT THE LAKE

Next Monday the party of eminent European scientists who are touring the United States will leave Medford for Crater National Park. They will spend Tuesday in going over the famous lake, and will then start for Klamath Falls.
 Some time ago it was the plan to send a committee of prominent citizens from this city to meet the eminent Europeans at Crater Lake and escort them to this city, but the plan was dropped. It is possible that some arrangements may yet be made to entertain the visitor.
 The following scientists from abroad are in the party:
 Austria—Dr. Eduard Bruckner, University of Vienna; Dr. Fritz Machschek, Vienna; Dr. Eugen Oberhum, Vienna.
 Belgium—Jules LeClercq, Brussels, Paul Elsen, Antwerp.
 Denmark—Professor Ole Oluf, Copenhagen.
 France—Henri Baulig, Paris; Albe Demangeon, Paris; Emmanuel De-Margerie, Paris; Edouard-Alfred Martel, Paris; Lucien Gallois, Paris; Antoine Vachen Lille; Pierre Bastain, Paris; Antoine Vachen Lille, Pierre Bastain, Paris; Jacques Goubert, Paris; Francois Herbet, Paris.
 Germany—Dr. Erich von Drygalaki, Munich; Dr. Fritz Jaeger, Berlin; Dr. Gottfried Merbacher, Munich; Dr. Joseph Partsch, Leipzig; Dr. Alfred Ruhl, Berlin; Dr. Carl Uhlig, Tubingen; Harry Waldbauer, Leipzig; Erich Wunderlich, Berlin; Dr. Gustav W. von Zahn, Jena.
 Great Britain—Henry O. Becht, Oxford; George G. Chisholm, Edinburgh; Alan Grant Oglivie, Oxford; William H. Miles, Dunbar, Scotland.
 Hungary—Dr. Eugene de Cholnoky, Kolosvaar; Count Paul Teleki, Budapest.
 Italy—Dr. Olinio Marinelli, Florence; Dr. Decio Vinciguerra, Rome; Professor G. Ricchieri, Milan; Dr. Cesare Calcisti, Piacenza.
 Holland—J. F. Niermeyer, Utrecht; Dr. Carl Oestrich, Utrecht.
 Norway—Werner Werenkiold, Christiania.
 Russia—Waldimir Doubiansky, St. Petersburg; Jules M. Schokalsky, St. Petersburg.

PIONEER CLEARS AN OLD MYSTERY

Captain O. C. Applegate's knowledge of the death of a man at Crater Lake over two score years ago has enabled him to assist in clearing up what was, to the family, a rather mysterious matter, and will tend to enable the widow to secure a pension.
 The man who died was Dr. W. C. Munson, who was appointed by the government to be physician to the Klamath Indian reservation, and who went there in the spring of 1871, dying in the mountains the following August, while on an exploration trip with two other young men.
 Mrs. Mary Munson Whitney of Chicago, now in Central Point, Ore., wrote to Captain Applegate asking if he could give her, a daughter of the deceased, some information as to the manner and circumstances of Dr. Munson's death. She said that the best information at the family's command was that the doctor and his companions had gone in search of Crater Lake, and after climbing two or three rugged mountains in the fruitless search, the physician had suddenly expired.
 Captain Applegate also received a letter from Mrs. Whitney's step-mother, Mrs. R. M. Munson, of West Burlington, Iowa, widow of Dr. Munson, saying she was endeavoring to get a pension, as the doctor had served in the Civil War, and that the pension was all arranged save for data as to the post mortem papers or evidence of the death.
 Captain Applegate recalls that the unfortunate physician's companions were a man named Bentley, of Ohio, and William F. Maxwell of Edinburgh, Scotland, a nobleman, who has since become Sir William F. Maxwell, baronet, to whom the captain had written a letter in 1896, at the time of the dedication of the lake, and received a thankful acknowledgement.
 The captain was one of the party who went thirty miles into the mountains at night to assist in bringing the body of Dr. Munson back, and helped in the post mortem examination.
 There was no trail to Crater Lake, and the work was difficult and dangerous.
 Dr. Munson was a large, fleshy man, and to get the remains down the steep bluffs it was necessary to lower them by ropes a distance of about 500 feet, a short distance at a time. The post mortem examination demonstrated that the dead man had fractured a small blood vessel of the lungs, causing apoplexy of the lungs, so that he smothered to death.
 Captain Applegate has also helped the relatives to get from Sir William F. Maxwell his evidence as to the manner of death of Dr. Munson, which, with his having named Munson's Point near the place of the doctor's death, as a monument to the explorer has won for him their strong gratitude.

A Clean Scalp And Healthy Hair

Many of your friends have found that a luxuriant growth of hair—soft and glossy—and a scalp free from dandruff, will result from the use of NYAL'S HIRUTONE.
 This is the procedure—Wash the hair with warm water and a pure soap—rinse thoroughly—rub the scalp with a stiff brush—apply Hirutone—rub it in well and dry the hair before combing.
 Please understand that Hirutone is not merely a hair wash—it is a tonic—a food.
 While it thoroughly cleanses, it also prevents bacterial action—nourishes and stimulates the roots of the hair—removes all dandruff—prevents its return—and preserves the natural beauty and color of the hair.
 Nyal's Hirutone should be on your dressing table. It sells at 50 cents and $1.00 the bottle.
