COLONEL DID NOT KNOW OF CONTRIBUTIONS

CANDIDATE URGES EXPULSION OF ONE OF HIS ACCUSERS

Former President Gives Evidence Before Senatorial Investigating Committee—Declares That He Urged Against the Acceptance of Any Contribution for Taft From the Big Money Powers

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt was called to the stand before the senate committee investigating the 1904 campaign contributions this morning.

"I hold that Senator Penrose should be thrown out of the senate because of his admissions before this committee that he advised John Archbold to try and purchase immunity from the government," declared Mr. Roosevelt. "Archbold testified that Cornelius Bliss, republican national treasurer in 1904, had tried to blackmail him. I have assurances that the Standard Oil company contributed nothing to that campaign."

The colonel declared that Harriman, through Secretary Loeb, had asked to be given an audience at the White House. It was granted, and Loeb was present. Harriman, according to the colonel, said that more money was needed to elect Higgins as governor of New York.

"He asked to have Cortelyou and Bliss assist in raising funds," said the colonel. "I then asked Loeb to phone to Cortelyou and Bliss, and ask them to help Harriman out."

Roosevelt declared that if the Standard Oil company contributed to the 1904 campaign fund it was done without his knowledge and consent. He quoted a letter written to George Sheldon, treasurer of the republican national committee in 1908, as follows:

"I am informed that some one on your behalf has requested contributions from John D. Archbold and Harriman. I protest against the acceptance of this money is tendered. It should be refused."

STEEL CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET

PORTLAND FIRM WILL SUPPLY THE FRAMEWORK FOR THE NEW COUNTY COURT HOUSE. WORK WILL BE RUSHED

The contract for the steel for the new Klamath county court house has been let to the Northwest Steel company of Portland. The contract price is $21,000, f. o. b. Klamath Falls, and delivery is promised within the next two weeks.

As soon as the steel arrives the work of construction will start. It is expected that all of it will be completed this fall, and the brick work will be started as soon as possible. Already several carloads of brick have arrived here.

The steel for the work is carried in stock by the Portland concern, and was made in Portland. Other bidders on the material would not have been able to supply the steel for a couple of months, which would have prevented actual construction work starting until spring.

Mrs. E. W. Vanance is reported seriously ill this afternoon.

Although the authorities have sent out information concerning the two men, they have not yet been apprehended. It is probable that Judge Benson will be persuaded to make several addresses from an automobile in different parts of the county. The judge is a well known campaigner, and the members of the league are confident that if his services can be enlisted their cause will be greatly aided.

Every voter in the county will be sent literature favoring equal suffrage, and some other plan may be adopted at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Professional Burglar Plans for Campaign During Winter

Quantity of Articles Needed by a Sneak Thief Stolen from Local Places of Business. Blank Keys and Firearms are Included in List of Goods Missing

- Articles Stolen
- One shotgun.
- One revolver.
- Six flashlight batteries
- Bunch of blank keys.
- One suit of clothes.
- One overcoat.
- One pair pants.

An unknown man, presumably a professional burglar, intent on outfitting himself for the winter season, broke into the Link River Electric company's store on Main and Third streets, and the bicycle repair shop of Carl Schubert some time last night and carried away a number of articles of value. From the electric supply store there was missing this morning a shotgun, half a dozen flashlight batteries and a fountain pen. At the bicycle repair shop the thief secured an overcoat, a suit of clothes, a revolver, some blank keys and a pair of pants.

The police were notified last night of an occurrence that may have had some bearing on the robberies. At the Sparks theater, just before closing the house for the night, an employee noticed a string with one end attached to the latch of the back door and the other end hanging outside in such a manner that a person on the outside by pulling the string might unlatch the door.

Anticipating an attempt at robbery an officer kept watch at the theater during the night, but no one appeared to try out the string combination.

An investigation at the store of the Link River Electric company showed that the thief had entered the place by using a "jimmy" on a window in the rear. A single foot print on the ground outside and under the window was unusually large.

The fact that the thief in each instance selected as booty articles calculated to be a part of a modern burglar's equipment leads the police to believe that the robberies were performed by some person who contemplates extensive operations along the burglar line this winter.

Father's Love to Stop Prosecution of Youth

The Complaint Against Young Rufus Stiles, Charged With Perjury, May be Dismissed by Officers

As a result of a father being reconciled to the marriage of his 16-year-old daughter, an indictment against Rufus Stiles, charging perjury, may be dismissed. Today T. D. Stiles, an uncle of Rufus, is in the city and called at the court house with the news of the family reconciliation.

Rufus Stiles was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of falsely swearing to the age of a daughter of Charles Plackus, a well known farmer of Yonka Valley. Miss Plackus was married to an uncle of Rufus, T. D. Stiles, against the wishes of her parents.

The father, when he learned of the marriage, came to this city and made a complaint against Rufus, who is but 18 years of age. The grand jury heard the complaint, and returned an indictment, charging the young man with perjury. He was arrested and released on $1,000 bonds.

It is now reported that Mr. Plackus has become reconciled to his daughter's marriage, and is willing to drop the prosecution which he started.

Miss Plackus, now Mrs. Stiles, is living with her husband on his homestead near Swan Lake.

"My father-in-law has not visited us as yet," said Mr. Stiles this afternoon, "but mutual friends who have seen him declare that he is ready to drop the prosecution."

Mr. Stiles met his wife in this city about three years ago. It was a case of love at first sight. The principal objection of her father to a wedding was the youth of the girl.

WHAT DOES THE PRISONER MEAN?

DEPUTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY GETS A LETTER FROM MAN SENTENCED TO BE HANGED FOR MURDER OF A MAN

"I hope to meet you soon." Thusly does Noble Faulder, condemned murderer, conclude a letter addressed to Deputy District Attorney Ferguson, and received here last night.

Faulder was convicted of murder in this county, and was sentenced by Judge Benson to be hanged some time ago, but Governor West granted a reprieve. If the anti-capital punishment amendment is turned down by the voters at the November election Faulder will be executed soon thereafter.

In a letter to Mr. Ferguson Faulder tells of a bit for a bridle which he has sent here to be sold for his benefit. "I see by the papers that you have some horses now," the prisoner wrote.

He referred to the three bucking bronchos bought by the Elks lodge following the last Rodeo.

Two Shoplifters Fail to Make Their Get Away

Chief of Police Smith Captures Two Men who are Accused of Stealing Shirts from Atkinson's

Acting on information furnished by C. E. Atkinson, Chief of Police Smith this morning arrested two men who stole two shirts from the Atkinson store, and who are suspected of being implicated in other petty thefts in this city recently.

En route to the city jail one of the men made an effort to escape, but he was captured by the officer.

The two men visited the Atkinson store this morning and shortly after their departure it was suspected that they had carried away some stock. Mr. Atkinson followed them to the Golden Rule store and took a couple of shirts away from one of the men. The shirts had been stolen from Mr. Atkinson's store.

One of the men has some trouble with his breathing apparatus, and is required to call into service a silver tube. He has been in the city, for several days, and has received sympathy from kind-hearted citizens. When arrested this morning he was slightly under the influence of liquor.

George Moore, one of the two men, declared this afternoon that he was the victim of a scammer. He was confined in a separate room in the county jail this afternoon, and will be examined by a physician.
