Policeman and Reporter Engage in Fistic Encounter on Street

Chief Makes Statement "I was present last night when Hall and Hutchins met," said Chief of Police Smith this afternoon. "We had expected to meet Hutchins last night, but only to secure an explanation. Blows were being struck before I had any idea of such a thing. The story that we had been on the lookout for Hutchins with a view of assaulting him is an absolute falsehood. The trouble occurred on the main street of the city, and in the most crowded portion of the city. This should be evidence that we had not planned an assault."

As a result of a fight on Main street last night between William Hall, a member of the Klamath Falls police force, and R. Vance Hutchins, a reporter for the Northwesters, Sam Evans, sole owner, editor, managing editor and business manager of the morning paper, this morning asked for warrants for the arrest of Hall, Chief of Police Smith, Mayor Nicholas and two other members of the local police force. Mr. Evans stated at the time of asking for warrants that he was in communication with Governor West, and would soon place Klamath Falls under martial law. In the meantime the sole representative of the militia of Oregon in this city, Captain C. J. Ferguson, is planning to go on a hunting trip. There are many and diversified versions of the fight on the street last night. According to the story told by the Northwesters, Mr. Hutchins was assaulted without provocation because of an editorial which had appeared in the morning paper yesterday, and which attacked the police force. A bulletin from the bedside of the reported, according to the

Missing School Boy Returns to Home of His Sister Near Here

Lad Tells Story of Having Spent the Night With His Father on a Homestead About Two Miles From Worden. Mother was Worried of Whereabouts

Willie Jones, the 13-year-old boy alleged to have been kidnapped by his father Tuesday morning, is again attending the Worden schools. Instead of his father being en route to Springfield with the boy, D. W. Jones is on his homestead about two miles from Worden. Jones and his wife were separated about seven years ago, Mrs. Jones being awarded the custody of Willie. Several years ago Mrs. Jones was married to L. West, and has been living in Shipplington. Willie has been staying with his sister, Mrs. Velt, at Worden, and attending school there. Monday evening Willie accompanied his father to his homestead and did not return in time to start to school. Mrs. Velt became alarmed and telephoned to her mother in Shipplington. The mother hurried to this city and swore out a warrant for the arrest of her former husband, charging him with stealing the boy. Messages were sent to points south of here, asking the officers to intercept Jones and the boy. In the meantime Willie returned to his sister's house and explained that his father had been ill, and that he had remained with him to render all assistance possible.

RUBE MARQUARD PROVES PUZZLE TO BOSTONIANS

CHANCE TO TIE SCORE THROWN AWAY IN NINTH

Back-Handed Catch by Giant Outfielder Flashes the Game for the New Yorkers—Up to the Last Inning But Three Hits Are Chalked Up Against the Invincible New York Club Acton United Press Service BOSTON, Oct. 10.—After holding down the Red Sox for eight innings with but three hits, Marquard loosened up in the ninth in the world's championship baseball series, and allowed four safe hits. Perfect support, however, prevented but a single score being made. Boston fans were transferred into raving maniacs when, in the ninth, with the score 3 to 0, Lewis drove out a safe one and Gardner followed with a two-bagger, and Marquard continued the streak with a hit, but Gardner advanced to first, and was caught at third for the second out. The next man up, Wagner, landed safely, and the game would have been tied up had not Gardner tried to stretch his run to third base. The next man up, Cady, slid out, and the second game of the series was over, score, New York 3, Boston 1. This makes the standing of the two teams in the series, Boston one game, New York one game. Only Devore's sensational back-handed running catch of Cady's fly prevented a tie. There were showers early this morning, but the sky was clear at noon. The batteries were O'Brien and Carrigan for the Red Sox and Marquard for the Giants. The line-up of the two teams was the same as yesterday, except that Devore batted first and Snodgrass third for the Giants. First Inning Devore, first up for New York, singled, but was caught trying to steal second after Doyle filed out. Snodgrass was out on a long fly. For Boston, Hooper filed out. Yorken swung three times in the air and Speaker was put out at first. Second Inning Murray hit a fast one for two bases. Merkle advanced him a peg on a sacrifice. Herzog drove out a long sacrifice fly, enabling Murray to score. Meyers went out at first. One run. Lewis, first man up for Boston, landed on a fast one and reached first. Gardner sacrificed, advancing Lewis. (Continued on Page 4)
