Don't Blame Your Over Worked Stomach

When your stomach will not digest food, the worst thing you can do is to take a lot of digestive medicines. These give temporary relief, but your stomach is the sufferer. Loss of appetite, indigestion, dyspepsia and headache can only be permanently relieved by removing the cause. In many cases, various remedies taken to relieve these conditions result in ruining the stomach and preventing it from digesting food in a natural way.
If you want your stomach to do its own work properly, without resorting to artificial digestion, or medicine, take small doses regularly, preferably before meals. In a little time your stomach will again do its own work and you will eat heartily, live well and enjoy living. Jayne's Peppermint Cure is not a digester in itself, but it tones up the stomach and intestinal giving you all the strength and strength from the food you eat.
Many forms of stomach indigestion are the result of intestinal parasites for which Jayne's Peppermint Cure is unsurpassed. Insist on Jayne's; accept no other. Millions have gained in far more than eighty years, and by drug giving everywhere. Dr. J. Jayne & Son, Philadelphia, Pa.

CITY DADS GET BUSY ON WORK

WITHOUT FRICITION, COUNCIL MEETS AND TRANSACTS MUCH BUSINESS—MCGOWAN TENDERS RESIGNATION

Harmony prevailed at the meeting of the city council last night, and, as a result, the accumulation of business was disposed of with neatness and dispatch. Curious citizens who attended the meeting expecting to witness a repetition of scenes of the past month were disappointed. Instead, the city dads proceeded to business with a spirit which indicated that the conduct of the affairs of the city was the most important duty of the council after all.

Councilman McGowan, before handing in his resignation, made a final effort to bring about the establishment of a fire bell in the municipal hose tower, instead of a whistle, and in the argument on this matter there was a flash of old-time scenes, but the majority of the council agreed with Councilman Savidge and voted for the whistle. Mr. McGowan accepted his defeat gracefully, and then tendered his resignation, which was accepted. It appears that he has moved from the ward from which he was elected, and is no longer qualified to serve.

"I do not like to accept the resignation, Mr. McGowan," said the mayor. "We will be lonesome without you."

The fire alarm matter was brought up following the passage of an ordinance authorizing the employment of a man to take care of the fire equipment of the city. It was stated that at the present time the equipment, for want of attention and care, is going to rack and ruin. With but the dissenting vote of Councilman Doty, the ordinance was passed, and Ed Wakefield was appointed to the place at a salary of $33.33 1-3 per month.

Councilman McGowan moved that the city recorder be instructed to purchase a 1,500 pound bell to install in the hose tower. The motion was lost, however, and a motion by Councilman Savidge to call for bids for a fire whistle was carried.

A. M. Crystal made application to move his saloon from 21 Main street to 130 Main street, in the building owned by John Houston. There was no objection raised, and the application was granted.

E. J. Powell made application for the transfer of his liquor license for the place known as the "Smoke" to G. B. Gazad. This was granted.

A resolution introduced at the request of the city treasurer for the transfer of funds from the bond and sinking fund to the general fund was adopted. This action became necessary because of the failure of several taxpayers to pay street assessments and the necessity of the city meeting the interest on the bonds.

The bill of $750 of J. J. Knapp for services rendered in preparing plans for a new city hall was brought up again, and Attorney Mills argued that the claim be paid. Objections arose, however, because it was held that Mr. Knapp had agreed not to ask for money for the work unless the city sold bonds for the erection of the building.

A resolution introduced at the request of the Women's Civic League, urging the Southern Pacific to beautify the region in the vicinity of the depot by the establishment there of a park was adopted.

Lights were ordered installed on Lewis street south of Bridge street; at Front and Orchard streets, and at Stukle and Orchard streets, in Mills addition.

Two building permits were granted. They were:
P. M. Reidy for a one-story brick building on Seventh street, near Klamath avenue.
L. O. Will, frame garage on lot 13, block 201, Mills addition.

LOVE OF RICH CHINK SPURNED

DAINTY SCOTCH LASSIE WITH THE GRIMAT RAYMOND HAS AN OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME ONE OF ROYALTY

Miss Marie Dean, one of the pretty little assistants of the Great Raymond, has an unique souvenir that she prizes very highly. It was during Mr. Raymond's last visit to Pekin, when at a banquet given to him by the cousin of the late emperor, Miss

But that was not all. In the box was a beautiful diamond sunburst, containing thirty-two diamonds, and attached to the same was a note, again asking for her hand in marriage. Needless to say, she refused his hand, but kept the sunburst.

Miss Ethel Danby, his other charming assistant, has in the course of her travels with Mr. Raymond, received over fifty proposals of marriage. One in particular was funny. It was during the company's stay in Siam, that Miss Danby received a proposal from a cabinet minister. Along with the offer was sent a baby elephant, with a small Siamese servant as attendant. Miss Danby was forced to take the elephant along with her on the steamer when she departed, as it would have been a gross insult to have left

THE GREAT RAYMOND

Dean was introduced to one of the richest Chinese in China. He was a highly educated man, and spoke English fluently. He became madly infatuated with the little lady, and during the evening he proposed marriage.

Miss Dean in her blunt Scotch way, informed him that she would never marry a man who carried a "pig-tail behind," meaning his queue. He smiled, but said nothing. The next day, at her hotel, Miss Dean was waited on by three Chinese servants in gorgeous uniform, and was presented in her suitors' name with an enormous basket of champagne. In the center of the basket was a gold box, in which when opened, she was astounded to find the "pig-tail."

Needless to say, she disposed of it at the next stand.

Both these young ladies come from the best English families. Miss Dean is related to Lord Londale. Mr. Raymond became acquainted with them at a private theatrical given by the Duke of Manchester, and was interested in seeing them do a few tricks of magic. He induced them to take the present trip, more to see the world than anything else. Both young ladies are wealthy, and are in love with their work and enchanted with their trip. This is their first visit to America.

The Great Raymond will appear at the opera house for a limited engagement of three nights, starting Friday, November 8th.
