Inland Highway is Now Being Planned

Pioneer Good Roads Advocate of The Dalles, Ore., is Planning Organizing--Building of Roads

To encourage road building in Central Oregon, the Inland Empire Highway Association is soon to be organized in The Dalles, according to word just received from there. Peter Keuhling, father of the proposed association, is enthusiastic over the prospects, and in an interview had the following to say concerning his plan:

"Its excuse for coming into existence is to aid the building of a highway system, which will make accessible to our own, as well as those living to the south and north of us, the vast country known as Central Oregon, touching Cascade Locks, Hood River, Mosier, The Dalles, Wasco, Moro, Grass Valley, eKat, Shaniko, Antelope, Prineville, Fort Rock, Silver Lake, Paisley and Lakeview, on to Alturas, Calif. At Prineville a branch will run via Redmond, Bend, La Pine, Crescent and on to Klamath Falls. Later on laterals will run to Crater Lake, the Joe Cayes and the Lava Mountains and other points of interest can be visited along the Cascade Mountain range.

"In order to avoid any misunderstanding it might be well to state that the organization is not building highways or roads; it will advocate them, aid in every way possible, solicit from the counties, state or nation, or from private individuals, and see to it that they are properly expended. It will watch the roads or any defects in them, and report them to the proper authorities so as to have them looked after; well, at its own expense, build and place (if counties and communities refuse to do so) signs and information boards. It will advertise the existence of the highway by pamphlet and every other legitimate way; will help to get the traveler, the tourist, the homeseeker, the man looking for sport, to find the way; will try to make easier the way for the farmer, the rancher and the tiller of the soil; will try to have the wear and tear on the farmers' wagons and animals reduced to a minimum; to aid and help him to bring his products to the market, etc."

PIONEERS WANT NEW CITY PARK

PETITION URGING THE COUNTY COURT TO KEEP COURT HOUSE SQUARE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CITY IS URGED

Members of the pioneers' association are opposed to the selling of court house square. A petition embodying this opposition is now being circulated through the county. As soon as sufficient number of signatures are secured it will be presented for the consideration of the court.

The petition in part follows: "Whereas, the old site was centrally located and accessible, with its fine trees planted during the pioneer era, has long been a cherished resort for the people of both the city and the county, so that the conversion of the block to business purposes would be a serious loss and deprivation to the people, for which the sum that would probably be realized from a sale of the old block would be no adequate compensation. Therefore, we, the undersigned members of the pioneer association of the Klamath Basin, earnestly protest against the sale of the said block for business purposes, and pray that it will be set apart as a public park to be under the city or county authority as shall hereafter be determined. It is our cherished hope that it be made a site for the public library and for a memorial hall, or a memorial room in the library building, to be used as a meeting place for the Pioneer Association, where historic records, souvenirs and memorials can be gathered for preservation, interest and instruction.

ANDERSON TO BE VERY BUSY

WELL KNOWN LIGHTWEIGHT IS GOING TO CLASH IN MEDFORD WITH LAD KNOWN AS FREDDIE CORBETT

Before his match here with "Roughhouse" Kelly, Bud Anderson is to have a fight in Medford, according to the Medford Mail-Tribune. The following is from that paper: With the arrival of Freddie Corbett, who is to box Bud Anderson before the Medford Athletic Club on next Tuesday night, everything is in readiness for what appears to be a great boxing night for the local fans.

The coming bout will mark Anderson's sixth contest in Medford, Bud having won his last five in a spectacular manner. His coming opponent, Corbett, is said to be an altogether different type of ring man than Bud's last victim, Corbett being more on Anderson's own type of willing, and it that is the case there is sure to be something doing at the Home of Quirens next Tuesday night. In the six round special event Freddie Anderson, who, like his older brother, Bud, has all the earmarks of a comer, will meet "Young Terry McGovern," a new comer, who is said to be able to "go home."

Reclamation Chief is Irrigation Enthusiast

F. W. Newell, Chief of the Bureau Arrives in the City to Make an Inspection of Work Here

On his annual tour of inspection of the reclamation projects of the country, F. H. Newell, director of the bureau of reclamation, is in the Klamath country. He arrived last night, and today, with E. P. Henson, supervising engineer, and W. W. Patch, project engineer, he is making a trip over the Klamath project.

Mr. Newell is anxious to meet citizens of this section and discuss with them means of making the government work more effective. With this purpose in mind, he has extended an invitation to the residents to meet him at the White Pelican hotel tonight.

Mr. Newell is a most interesting conversationalist. Naturally he is enthusiastic on the subject of irrigation and the ways and means by which the people of the state can make that productive activity count for most.

Mr. Newell lays down the fundamental proposition that the first need, after irrigation becomes a fact, is to get the people onto the land; and then follow more or less discussion of the problem in regard to which land to keep the people off the land. In this last particular the real estate agent and the land speculator constitute a most active factor, although the very nature of their business would seem to point to an opposite conclusion.
