

CREDITOR'S SALE

The Klamath Jewelry Co., Successors to H. J. Winters, is now in the hands of Creditors and the stock and fixtures will be sold out to the public

The present manager of this sale wishes to announce to the public that Mr. Winters has turned the entire stock and fixtures over to his creditors for their benefit. As most of his creditors insist on having their money without delay, Mr. Winters finds that he can no longer continue in business, and therefore the entire stock and fixtures will be turned into whatever cash they can realize and the money will be divided pro-rata among the creditors.

GAYNOR TELLS OF GRAFT

district attorney was furnished with that the police tried to shield these a complete case. Then the ones who hired the murderers turned state's evidence against Becker, and showed that he instigated them to do the murder, and thus he was indicted and convicted of the murder.

"In place of standing in the way to shield their fellow officers, the police did their whole duty in the matter. I could go on, multiplying instances to show the efficiency of our detective force. They do fine things every day. Of course I am a novice in such matters, and I suppose would make a very poor detector of crime, but I cannot help sometimes being greatly interested in the work of the police in this line. Of course they come to tell me about it, and I like to listen to it, to make them feel good, and to encourage them, if for no other reason.

"I should not leave the subject without saying that we have a splendid police commissioner, Mr. Rhinelandt Waldo. Up to the time of the Rosenthal murder the entire press of the city were saying that we never had his equal. Then the degenerate press began to attack him. I sympathize with him all the more because I know that they attacked him only to attack me. And since that a great many have been talking at random against Commissioner Waldo, but he is the same Commissioner Waldo that he was before the Rosenthal murder. It is true that Becker was under his immediate orders in the suppression of gambling and other vices, and that he was grossly deceived by Becker. But that might have happened to any of us. Many other men have been grossly deceived by employes or subordinates. In the commercial and banking world it is happening every week. And the notion which some people have of what a police commissioner should be is contemptible.

"Only last night a gentleman said to me: 'You must remember, Mr. Mayor, that it takes a crook to catch a crook, and what you want as police commissioner is that kind of a man. You want a man like the late Brynes, who was head of the detective force. I acknowledge that he was a grafter, and that he did not scruple to make up perjured cases to convict individuals. But he was efficient. He got the result.' I listened to him only with disgust. The result that Brynes got was that he went out a millionaire and corrupted the whole force as other heads of the police force had been doing for years.

"I came in as mayor determined to stop all this. And so I said to this fellow: 'Sir, if I need to put a thief or a grafter at the head of the force in order to catch the thieves and criminals of New York, then I shall not catch the thieves and criminals of New York, for I shall never put such a man at the head of the police force. You and others who are talking like you ought to be ashamed of yourselves.' I have a disgust against all such people. Some clergymen, even, come and talk the same way to me.

"My notion is that I want an absolutely honest man and a gentleman at the head of the police force, and I am going to stick to that notion. Of course, he must also be intelligent. Mr. Waldo fulfills these conditions. When you know you have an honest man, you feel much relieved. He may make mistakes, but he is honest, and will not corrupt the force. Our force is showing better all the time. For a generation the heads and leaders of the force have gone out of offices millionaires. I can count up several of them now who are still alive and living the lives of millionaires with their country houses and their yachts. That is all at an end.

"There are grafters still left from the old regime. They are being retired one after another, and every chance we get we dismiss one. But the process of purification and education takes some time. We have made much progress in the last three years. And I hope by the end of my term to be able to say that all graft has been cut off from the police force.

"You ask me what the sources of graft are. Why, the great sources of graft are in the enforcement of the excise law, the law against gambling and the law against prostitution. If you turn the police loose on these three things they will take graft right and left. When I came in here as mayor, the thirteen thousand hotels and saloons of this city were paying, the least of them, $25 a month for graft, to the police and politicians. Do you perceive that that foots up to $3,900,000 a year? I am saying this to you to illustrate how much can be collected in this great city from these three sources of graft. Each of the other three sources can be made to yield nearly as much as the liquor traffic. In years past all of these three sources were made to pay the maximum, and as I have said to you, the chief officers in the police department retired one after another, millionaires."
