SEA GIVES UP BODY OF DARING NEWSPAPERMAN

LAWRENCE'S BODY FOUND NEAR TOWN OF REDONDO

With Sweater and Coat Pulled Up High Over His Head, Indications Are That He Was Trying to Get Rid of His Heavy Clothing When He Was Drowned—His Nose Was Broken and Head Scarred

United Press Service

REDONDO BEACH, Calif., Dec. 19.—

The body of Lawrence, the newspaperman who accompanied Aviator Kearney on the proposed aeroplane trip from Long Beach to San Francisco, was found today.

A sweater and a heavy coat were pulled high over his head, and his right hand was entangled in the coat sleeve, indicating that he was drowned while trying to divest himself of his heavy clothing.

Lawrence's watch was stopped at 5 o'clock.

His nose was broken and his head scarred.

Lawrence was automobile editor of a Los Angeles paper.

No trace of Kearney's body has been found. Searchers are lining the beach for many miles.

To Survey Tract

Ernest P. Hands, assistant superintendent of surveys for the government, came in from Portland last night to make a survey of Buck Island, in Upper Klamath Lake. This tract has hitherto been unsurveyed. The survey is being made upon the application of P. K. Hamilton, who has been homesteading on the tract, in order to make it possible for him to secure title.

Witnesses Denounced

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Attorney Earl Rogers resumed the cross-examination of Officer Johnson in the Eddy case this morning. The attorney denounced the affair in which Eddy was said to have been caught as a "trap," and planned. He said that all knowing about what the girl was doing were equally guilty.

Langell Valley Folks Marry

W. C. Edler and Miss Francis Graham were married at the Methodist parsonage last night by Rev. George H. Pease. Mr. Edler is a prominent rancher of Langell Valley and Mrs. Edler is the daughter of a prominent rancher residing in the same locality.

Citizens See Battle in Which Police Win

After Killing his Wife, Adam Boehlar Barricades Himself in Home and Defies Police Department

United Press Service

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 19.—Adam Boehlar last night murdered his wife by cutting her throat. This morning he barricaded himself in his home and defied the police.

The entire department was called out and made an attack on the house. One policeman was fatally shot in the chest and two spectators were wounded. After the general police charge, detectives shot Boehlar dead.

CANADA PAPERS HONOR WOMAN

ACCOUNT OF THE DEATH OF MRS. L. CAMPBELL, MOTHER OF LOCAL MAN, RECEIVED HERE FROM FAR EAST

Papers have been received here from St. Thomas, Canada, giving an account of the death of Mrs. L. Campbell, mother of D. B. Campbell of this city. The following is from the St. Thomas Daily Times:

An old and respected resident of St. Thomas passed away late Sunday morning in the person of Mrs. Nancy Campbell, widow of the late Lachlan Campbell of this city. Mrs. Campbell had been ailing for some time, having been under the care of a nurse since last July.

The deceased was a member of one of the pioneer families of Elgin county, and she is the last but one of this family. She also had the distinction before her death of being the oldest living member of the Ladies' Benevolent and Temperance Society.

Mrs. Campbell, who was in her 77th year, is survived by two sons, John L., of the Ingram & Davey store, St. Thomas, and D. B. Campbell of Klamath Falls, Oregon, and one daughter, Mrs. R. C. Cochran of Winnipeg, Miss. Christie Black of this city is a sister.

Deceased's father, the late John Black, located on the Edgewood road, Yarmouth, and it was on this farm that she was born. Her husband, who for many years was high constable of Elgin county, died four years ago.

The rebels have destroyed some bridges on the line of the Mexican Northwestern railway.

PEACE ENVOYS KILLING TIME

ADJOURNMENT IS TAKEN UNTIL SATURDAY IN ORDER TO DECIDE ON A REQUEST MADE BY THE SULTAN OF TURKEY

United Press Service

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The peace envoys were in session fifty-five minutes this morning, and then adjourned until Saturday afternoon. The Greek envoys were in attendance, and it is reported that the Turks will not renew their protests.

It was unofficially learned that the adjournment was taken to permit the envoys of the allies to consult their governments regarding the Turkish demand that Turkey be permitted to re-victual Adrianople. If this is refused it is reported that the Turks have been instructed to end the negotiations.

United Press Service

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A further hitch has occurred in the peace conference. The Turkish envoys have just been instructed to meet the Greeks only under certain conditions. It is doubtful whether the Greeks will agree.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Taft has pardoned Captain William Van Schaick, master of the steamer General Bloccum, which burned and cost the lives of a thousand people June 15th, 1904. The pardon becomes effective Christmas Day.

KELLER BOY IS ALMOST HURT

YOUNGESTER IN "TOASTING HIMSELF" WHEN HIS NIGHTGOWN CATCHES FIRE—ONE LEG IS SLIGHTLY BURNED

Paul Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Keller, narrowly escaped serious injury, when his nightgown caught fire this morning. The lad was slightly burned on one leg, and his hair was somewhat singed as it was.

The youngster was alone in the house at the time, his parents being at the Keller cafe, and preliminary to dressing, he was "toasting his shins" at the stove. He noticed the heat growing, but believed it was the fire until he found the back of his nightgown in flames. He managed to pull the burning garment over his head before he was injured, but the shirt was almost entirely destroyed before he could get out of it.

Fighting Continues

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 19.—The Turks and Greeks are still fighting in Epirus, according to dispatches from Bisanli. The Greek batteries raked the Turk fortresses and an aviator dropped bombs. The casualties were heavy, and the outcome is doubtful. Messages from Athens insist that the Turkish fleet is bottled up in the Dardanelles. There was no fighting on the sea today.

The Pet Dog Muff and Boa Hat

By the attachment of a very realistic head, tail, legs and a doggie collar of leather with brass trimmings, this muff is made to look like a pet dog. This is just the sort of Christmas present to delight the heart of a girl, and it may be had in several kinds of fur. The hat has an attached feather boa that falls nearly to the floor, but when wound around the neck is a lovely ostrich neckpiece that makes a charming ensemble with the hat.

MORGAN ADMITS GREAT POWER IN TRUST CIRCLES

KING OF FINANCIAL WARS IN PROGRESS

Tells of Organization of the Great Steel Combine—Says of the Arrangements Are Not in Writing, But Are Understood—Deposits in Morgan's Bank November 2nd Amounted to About $110,000,000

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 19.—J. Pierpont Morgan resumed the attack in the money trust probe at 10:00 this morning. The room was packed.

Mr. Morgan testified that the deposits with his firm on November 2nd amounted to about $110,000,000. He said that he was a director of many of the firms making the deposits in his bank. He declared that he had special agency contracts only with the New York Central and the Great Northern railroads, with which firms. These contracts, he said, gave his firm the exclusive right to market the roads' securities.

In addition, Mr. Morgan said, his firm acts for the steel and other corporations, but the agreements are merely understood, and nothing is in writing.

Morgan admitted that at the time the steel corporation was organized he had approved the entire board of directors. He would not admit that he had actually named the board, but said:

"I will say this: Whoever went on the board went on with my approval."

"Who decided that the Morgan company be the agent for the steel corporation securities?" was asked.

"I did," was the reply.

"You are opposed to competition, Mr. Morgan?" asked Mr. Undermyer.

"No; I like a little of it," was the reply, "but I favor co-operation and concentration. I want to talk about this. I believe that there is no way in which one man can gain control of the money. You call this a money trust? A man may own all of the money in Christendom, but he cannot control it."

The committee adjourned until January 2.

Canal to be Built for Great Logging Plan

All of the Timber on the Doak Ranch on Upper Klamath Lake is to be Cut. Work Will be Great Convenience for Home and in Vicinity

All of the timber on the Doak ranch on Upper Klamath Lake is to be cut and sold to the sawmills, according to James Douglas, superintendent of the ranch, who is here today purchasing supplies. In order to get the logs to the water a canal is being dredged through the ranch property, and the logs will be floated through this to the lake.

"There are about 7,000,000 feet of timber on the ranch," says Mr. Douglas, "and loggers are now at work cutting this. The Adams dredge is at work there dredging a channel six feet deep through the property. This canal will be over two miles long, and will allow the logs to be put in the water at a high solid place.

"In addition to getting the timber out of the lake for the sawmills, the canal is practically a highway for the upper country timber. The loggers can haul to the canal, and the logs can be hauled through it, instead of paying for extra handling. The canal is being dredged through the property, and the logs will be floated through this to the lake. The cost of loading this and unloading it will be very small, as the gravel can be loaded on barges and the loaded barges floated to any point on the lake. Mr. Douglas, Mrs. Rose Terry, Harold and other Upper Lake people, who have been attending to business matters in town today, will return home late this afternoon.

every spring. This will save considerable time and money every year. heretofore it has been necessary to haul the logs to the spring by ramping.

The canal also opens the way to the gravel bar on the Doak ranch, which contractors declare is the best kind for building purposes. account of the absence of sand or gravel, and the uniform size of the logs. The cost of loading this and unloading it will be very small, as the gravel can be loaded on barges and the loaded barges floated to any point on the lake. Mr. Douglas, Mrs. Rose Terry, Harold and other Upper Lake people, who have been attending to business matters in town today, will return home late this afternoon.

Spring Creek to Be Fish Hatchery Site

Governor Announces that he Will Personally Take up the Matter With the Government Officials

It is probable that the state fish and game commission may yet establish its central trout hatchery in Klamath county, as Governor West has promised to make the matter of securing the Spring Creek site a personal matter with the secretary of the interior. This news was brought to Klamath Falls by Fish and Game Commissioner Charles F. Stone, who returned last night from a meeting of the commission held in Portland. "Although the Annie Creek site was the best looking one around here," said Mr. Stone, "Commissioner Wilson told us that a wheel would have to be installed to raise the water for the proper fall. In case this wheel should stop the water by which the fish are raised, the hatchery would be in danger of perishing. The fall on Spring Creek is high and the site is suited in every way, so if we can secure this site we will be much better off. In this case the site will be used as a central hatchery for raising trout to distribute to the different streams all over the state. This would do away with the need of small hatcheries.
