PARCEL POST TO GO ON STAGES

POSTMASTER C. L. BRANDENBURG TELLS OF THE EFFECT OF THE NEW FEDERAL LAW—ISOLATED TOWNS BENEFITED

"The parcel post will carry packages anywhere the mail goes, and at the same rate of postage," said Postmaster Brandenburg today in answer to a query that has been puzzling Klamath Falls people. This means that after the new system goes into effect the many communities in this section that are reached by a stage route will have the same advantages as the towns and cities on the railroads, and at no extra cost.

The section of the parcel post regulations covering local rates reads as follows:

"On all matter mailed at the post office from which a rural route starts, for delivery on such route, or mailed at any point on such route for delivery at any other point thereon, or at the office from which the route starts, or on any rural route starting therefrom, and on all matter mailed at a city carrier office, or at any point within its delivery limits, for delivery by carriers from that office, or at any office for local delivery, 5 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and one cent for each additional fraction of a pound."

This makes it plain that packages going out on the different star routes from this city will be charged for only at the regular rate. The Merrill, Fort Klamath and Lakeview stages all carry mail, and packages can be sent to points one mile this side of Merrill, one mile this side of the Agency, and one mile this side of Olney at the local rates. Beyond these points the regular rate for the postal zone will be charged.

The rate in the first zone is five cents for the first pound, and three cents for each additional pound.

The local postoffice is in receipt of a quantity of parcel post stamps, and only this variety can be used in mailing a package. The new stamps are in 1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cent denominations, and all are lithographs of different methods used in the distribution of mail.

through his body and had lodged in the back, near the skin.

Poole and August Linker, who is a Midland farmer, have had considerable trouble. Poole has objected to his wife and daughter having anything to do with his enemy.

About two months ago Chief of Police Smith ascertained that Poole had a revolver, and was in an intoxicated condition. The officer at once sought out Poole and took the weapon away from him. About five weeks ago Poole went word to the chief that he was going to leave the city, and asked that his revolver be given to Mrs. Poole. The chief returned the weapon to Mrs. Poole, as requested.

Last night Poole ascertained that his wife and daughter had gone to the Mills Addition dance, and after a search of the lodging house, found where his wife had secreted the revolver and took possession of it.

It was with this weapon that Poole shot himself.

Poole is 49 years of age, and was born in Douglas county, Oregon. He took up a homestead several years ago where the townsite of Orster is now located. This land he sold for $5,000, and moved to this city, where he engaged in the saloon business. Later he moved to Midland, where he lived some time. He has two daughters, Mrs. Winter Knight, and Alice, 17 years of age, and one son, Albert, aged 20 years.

The Drooping Ostrich Feather Is the Latest Hat Trimming

The ostrich feather drooping low over one ear is the smartest of the new trimmings. The hat shown in the photograph has an interesting arrangement of the large white plume at one side, the feather appearing to describe a circle. This effect is gained by twisting the feather, which is a beautiful specimen of French ostrich.

WHITE PELICAN WILL ENTERTAIN

RECEPTION WILL BE GIVEN BY THE MANAGEMENT OF THE HOTEL—MRS. KLEMENT H. HALL TO ASSIST IN RECEIVING

An event of more than usual interest to Klamath Falls people is the reception and concert given to the residents of the city at the White Pelican hotel tomorrow evening. Every resident of Klamath Falls is extended an invitation by the management of the hotel.

Mrs. Klement H. Hall, wife of the manager of the hotel, and Mrs. H. R. Elliott, wife of the White Pelican manager, will receive the guests, and they will be assisted by the lady guests of the hotel. The reception commences at 9 o'clock.

An elaborate musical program will be arranged by the White Pelican orchestra. In addition to the selections by the orchestra 'solo acts by Mr. Elliott and duets by Mrs. Don J. Sumwalt and Mrs. Caden will be features of the program.

For the convenience of those wishing to attend the reception, the hotel management has inaugurated a bus service for tomorrow evening. Commencing at 8:45, the hotel bus will make trips every fifteen minutes between the old Baldwin hotel and the White Pelican. Stops will be made at the Hotel Hall and at Underwood's drug store. The bus will also be at the service of those wishing to return home.

COSTUMES COME FOR THE DANCE

ANNUAL NEW YEAR'S BALL WILL BE SUCCESS AS USUAL—FRIENDS FOR CHARACTERS WILL BE ATTRACTIVE

Manager J. V. Houston of the opera house today received twenty costumes from San Francisco, which will be rented to dancers wishing fancy costumes for Houston's seventeenth annual ball, to be given New Year's eve. The costumes will be on display at the opera house tomorrow.

The annual masquerade ball is well known to Klamath Falls people, and since it was first instituted in 1895, when the opera house was first built, it has been the pride and joy of Mr. Houston. Since the opening night prices of $10 each have been awarded for the most comic, best sustained and most original character; since the opening night, the announcements of the prize winners has always been made by S. C. (Chap) Graves, and he will officiate in the same capacity again this year.

oil told Burns. Later Hochta personally "double-crossed" his fellows to Burns.

Hochta's motive was said to have been a desire to displace J. J. McNamara as secretary treasurer of the union. When McNamara went to jail, a confessed dynamiter, Hochta was given the office. When the government's guns were trained on Hochta during the present trial he was forced by his fellow officers to resign.

William J. Burns and his son Raymond both admitted that while they shadowed Orrie McNamagal and J. B. McNamara, then known guilty of the Times explosion, in hopes of getting men "higher up," the two dynamiters "pulled off" other jobs and destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of private property and endangered human life.

Orrie McNamagal testified that the McNamaras were planning to blow up the city of Los Angeles and fire it, "as a lesson" to open shop advocates there.

The stories of the one hundred dynamitings in various sections of the United States, told at the McNamara trial in Los Angeles, were rehearsed in the conspiracy trial. J. B. McNamara's claim on the train that was bearing him from Detroit to Chicago under arrest, that the American Federation was behind him was repeated also.

The government presented through nearly 500 witnesses, mostly hotel and telegraph employees, evidence covering the movements of the defendants. With this testimony, Orrie McNamagal's confession and the close relation shown between Herbert Hochta and J. J. McNamara and the indicted iron workers, besides a mass of incriminating correspondence, the government built up its case in support of charges of conspiracy and of unlawful transportation of explosives.

The defense was a general denial by thirty-one of the forty indicted men, together with numerous character and alibi witnesses.

Two witnesses for the defense, William Quigley, a union carpenter of Detroit, and Fred W. Seis, a union man from Chicago, were arrested for alleged perjury. Quigley impeached an important government witness against defendants Wachmeister and Kline. Seis was called in an effort to discredit McNamagal's confession.

District Attorney Charles Miller also caused four of the indicted men, Hochta, Butler, Ray and Smythe, to be taken into custody by raising their bonds beyond their resources.

At the very opening of the trial a bomb was thrown in the defense's case.
