ALBERT OEHLER OF THE RECLAMATION SERVICE RETURNS FROM A VISIT TO HIS PARENTS IN TEXAS

Albert Oehler, purchasing agent for the reclamation service, returned Thursday afternoon from a visit with his parents in Texas. He has been away for over a month.

While in the South, Mr. Oehler took occasion to go over the border into Mexico, and view at close range some of the skirmishes between the federal and rebel forces. Thrilling in the extreme are some of the stories of these conflicts, as related by the well known young clubman and raconteur.

The Boy Went to Sea in a Coconut Tree

While the old, rusty, salt-encrusted tramp, the Foxton Hall, was rolling, pitching and plowing along through the rollers of the Caribbean Sea, Chief Officer Donnelly sighted a monster coconut tree, in the branches of which a human being was clinging. The sight impressed Donnelly as being somewhat unusual, as the ship was then near the Windward passage and at least 100 miles from Jamaica. So the steamer was hoisted, and Donnelly put out in a whale-boat to investigate. When he returned to his ship he brought with him two passengers, Willie Gee of Jamaica and Willie's dog of the same place. Being equipped with the vigorous imagination of his race, Willie entertained his rescuers with many and assorted explanations and descriptions of his strange voyage in the tree and then requested food. Willie, who is only 10 years old, was blown away from shore in a hurricane, and through many long hours he clung to his dog, confident that things would turn out all right. Since he joined the Foxton Hall's little company Willie has devoted most of his time to the commissary, and when he returns to Jamaica his folks will hardly recognize in the stout, radiant little fellow the likeness of the hungry pickaninny who went to sea in a coconut tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noel and family have returned from San Francisco, where they spent the holidays.

Joe Dervan was in from his ranch near Stukel bridge Thursday.
