INDIANS MAY BE OWN BOSSES SOON

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS HOPES THAT REDSKINS MAY SOON BE ABLE TO LOOK OUT FOR THEMSELVES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—That the American Indian should be released as soon as possible from the paternal care of the United States government, now his guardian in virtually everything he does, was the opinion expressed in the annual report from the bureau of Indian affairs, submitted to Secretary of the Interior Fisher by Robert G. Valentine, until recently commissioner, and made public this week.

The commissioner voiced the hope that the day might be near "when the United States will finally have lifted its hands from Indian affairs, and all Indians in all respects will stand on an equal footing with all their fellow Americans."

"With all the exceptions compatible with the Indians' welfare," he added, "they should be made subject to the laws of their states and be taught to look to their local government instead of the national government. My conviction is that no possible obstacle should be placed in the way of the transformation of Indian affairs administered by the United States into the affairs of normal citizens, under the ordinary jurisdiction of the states."

"The home condition of the Indians is one of the most unsatisfactory features of the Indian problem," said the commissioner, "for which reason special attention is being given to the instruction of Indian girls. The character and efficiency of the training given to them must be improved, because it is realized that for the girls, more than for the boys, the instruction should be of an intensive form. Girls can be kept in school for a few years after they have developed into womanhood." It was stated.

The greatest investment the Indian service has, continues the report, is in the so-called returned students, who have been away at the larger schools and have returned to live at or near their home reservation. There are about 35,000 of these Indians, who represent an economic investment, it is estimated, of about $55,000,000. These students frequently are considered merely trouble makers by the superintendents of the reservation, declares the commissioner.

The superintendents forget entirely he adds, that this class of Indians protest against the order of things as they find it when they return to their reservations because "they have seen better things, but have not quite found their own way to them. And I am sorry to say," he continues, "that frequently the greatest obstacle to their finding their way lies in the government machinery and personnel itself. Every Indian school in the country should consider it a vital part of its daily work to keep track of the students who have attended it. These returned students are the hope of the Indian problem. We would hardly think of spending a similar amount in training a race horse and then turn him loose under unfavorable range conditions to shift for himself."

EDIT PAPER AS A FINAL EXAM

JOURNALISM STUDENTS AT THE
STATE UNIVERSITY WILL TAKE
ENTIRE CHANGE OF ONE ISSUE OF EUGENE PUBLICATION

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 10.—As the final examination for the three classes in journalism, Professor Allen has arranged to have the entire editing and publication of the Morning Register of Sunday, February 24, done by his students, the first year class acting as reporters, while the second and third year classes will comprise the editorial staff.

This is the first time that the practical work of the journalists has been carried to the extent of having complete charge of one of the state's largest morning papers. The staff as picked from the two classes will be announced in a day or so. As soon as the appointments are made the department editors will commence immediately upon the work. The students will gather the news, edit it, decide the editorial policy of the paper for that issue, write all the heads and dispose of the telegraphic matter. The regular management, however, will look after the business end of the paper.

Too Tall for Operatic Stage

Mrs. Clara Butt, the famous English contralto, who during her stay in this country will sing at the wedding of Miss Helen Gould, says that she is too tall for the operatic stage. Mrs. Butt is over six feet two inches in height. She is devoted to her three children, and, although she declares that her voice is worth $5,000,000, basing her estimate on her average earnings for the last few years, she says she would rather lose her voice than her children. Mrs. Butt and her husband, Kenneth Rumford, a celebrated baritone, are very fond of outdoor sports, and believe that they owe their wonderful voices to their love for healthful pastimes. Mrs. Butt has sung before every ruler in Europe, and she possesses more royal decorations than any other living woman.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY QUICKLY RELIEVES CATARRHAL DRAINAGE

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by medicines taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take.
