MADDOX FILES AMENDED PAPER

NEW PAPER FILED IN THE SUIT AGAINST CHARLES LOOMIS WITHOUT WAITING FOR OPINION ON DEMURRER

An amended complaint in the action of J. A. Maddox against Charles Loomis was filed this afternoon by C. M. O'Neill, attorney for the plaintiff. A few days ago a demurrer was filed to the original complaint, but this has not been argued.

Maddox and Loomis made a trade whereby Loomis secured Maddox's interest in the White-Maddox building in exchange for some acreage near Merrill. Maddox claims that the acreage was not as described and that the building was not as described.

POLICE WRITE ON BEING DETECTIVES

QUALIFICATIONS BORDERING ON THE IMPOSSIBLE ARE REQUIRED IN SOME OF EUROPEAN ESSAYS

United Press Service
LONDON, Jan. 20. — Sherlock Holmes could scarcely qualify under the tests enumerated by the winner of the prize essay contest on "How to become a good detective," recently participated in by 243 members of the metropolitan police force. Five or six years service as a uniformed policeman, a knowledge of Italian and other languages, and five or ten years by the election of officers who are non-progressive, but in the main, the tenor of the meeting was good, and the chief desire seems to be for better and more permanent road construction and the accomplishment of the bonding act by the legislature.

There was a banquet given in the rooms of the Commercial Club on the evening of January 15th by Beall & Co., a large Portland road machinery house, which was attended by practically every judge and commissioner present. Judge Cleeton acted as toastmaster, and much good feeling and get together spirit was manifested there on the part of the commissioners. Hon. L. R. Webster, one of the foremost good roads enthusiasts of Portland, was there, and delivered a stirring address. Representative Spencer from the house, and a member of the committee on good roads, was present, and

"I believe that every county court should attend these annual conventions since persons who are to manage the business affairs of the county should be progressive and up to date, and be thoroughly informed on what is being accomplished outside their own community."

On the last day the entire body was taken by automobiles to the Multnomah county farm, twelve miles from the court house. Multnomah county has one of the best county farms and the most modern improvements of any county in the United States, far surpassing that of San Francisco. It has a farm of excellent acreage, on an electric line and fine automobile road, with large, commodious buildings, hospital, heating and power plants, dairy, barn, separator house, laundry, and all modern conveniences.

The party was entertained at dinner, and afterwards shown around the premises. The hospital department is most complete, containing modern appliances in every particular. There are about seventy-five employees. The building has in the upper story an assembly hall which will hold 300 or 400 people. Among the equipments are a moving picture machine, a stage beautifully decorated, piano and gramophone. At stated times the inmates assemble and while away some of the weary hours which men in their condition can appreciate perhaps more than some of the rest of us who do the same thing in Klamath Falls.

A. Lopez of Los Angeles is here attending to business matters.

DARROW IS AGAIN ON TRIAL

Darrow was accepted as a juror and held out for the acquittal of James B. McNamara. Mrs. Bain admits that she accepted the money, and persuaded her husband to agree to the proposal.

Mrs. Bain testified at Darrow's first trial that Franklin used every persuasion at his command to gain his ends, telling the aged woman that the McNamara brothers were being persecuted and that a frame-up was being worked to "railroad them to the penitentiary."

Franklin was the state's star witness in the Lockwood case, and corroborated Mrs. Bain's testimony in detail.

Darrow's closest friends say that the noted attorney is practically a pauper as a result of expenses incurred in his first trial. On account of this, it is said, he has signified his intention of doing most of the work in his own defense in this trial.

Darrow has held many positions of honor during his career. At one time he was a member of the Illinois legislature and in 1902 was appointed a commissioner to arbitrate the strike of the anthracite coal miners.

The later years of Darrow's life have been given to the defense of labor.
