Carnahan leaves tomorrow for San Francisco, where he will appear before the United States circuit court of appeals for the Ninth district, to supplement his brief for the appellates in the suit of A. D. Daniels against John C. Leonard, Vestal Wakefield, Valentine Bernhard and Mark T. Howard, with an argument.

Fred H. Mills also goes to San Francisco tomorrow, he being attorney for Mrs. Jessie Robertson, nee Wagner, who is one of the sixteen defendants in the famous "thirty-seventeen" litigation.

Suits were brought by Daniels to set aside the patents of the others to lands in Southern Oregon. The cases were tried in the United States district court at Portland, and after the defendants secured a victory, the action was appealed to the circuit court of appeals.

At Last—Wahool!

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—Real tariff making commenced today when the ways and means committee opened a session to draft a measure.

An enormous amount of technical data has been submitted and the measure will be submitted as soon as the special session opens. It is expected that the entire subject will be handled in a single measure instead of schedule by schedule, as has been the rule in the past.

PEACE MAY YET BE FOR TURKS

INFLUENCE OF THE POWERS IS FELT IN DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES AND IT IS EXPECTED THAT ARMS WILL BE STORED

United Press Service

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Peace in the Balkans is visible, according to a dispatch from Sofia, which says that Bulgaria is ready to agree with the proposal of the powers that Turkey have religious control of Adrianople if the holy city is ceded to Bulgaria.

United Press Service

LONDON, Feb. 2.—War is scheduled to start against Turkey tonight, but the ambassadors of the powers do not believe that Bulgaria will oppose Germany's advice.

The German minister at Sofia has presented a note suggesting that the offers contained in Turkey's reply to the note of the powers were fair. The other powers have sanctioned the note.

'GROUN' HAWG SEES SHADOW We've Six Long, Cold Weeks Ahead as a Result

While the streets are yet in a possible condition, and there is still fuel in abundance, order several more cord to be delivered immediately. Likewise, try plans to keep the pipes from freezing, and if you are figuring on your overcoat lasting through the remaining days of the winter, prepare at once to shell out a handful of shillings at one of the "closing out" sales of winter garments.

And don't forget where you put your skates after using them during the holidays. You may have use for them before long, and unless all hope on the weather has been knocked around, skis and snowshoes will remain popular utensils with the travelers.

The reason for all this is the annual appearance of the Ground Hog. He came, he saw (his shadow) and he beat it. Promptly at noon, the official Ground Hog clawed his way out of the official burrow, and after digging the gravel from his eyes and combing out his whiskers, he prepared to make his official observation of all that had transpired since he began his annual hibernation.

"Prepared," as used in this case, is well chosen, for the first thing that G. Hog's eyes caught was his shadow, and after a moment's glance at this, he fairly burned the dust in his haste to return to his winter domicile, for if there is anything that frightens a Ground Hog, it is a glimpse of his shadow on the second of February.

Now, small and insignificant as this animal may seem to some, he is one of great importance to the return of spring, as his hasty retreat always means a postponement of six weeks in the arrival of balmy spring weather. For this reason, we are doomed to endure for forty-two more days the rigors of the past few months, and overcoats and stocking caps will continue in vogue.

The end of the winter, according to the prediction made by the Ground Hog Sunday, will be March 16, or

This Remarkable Picture of the Ground Hog on a Sunny February Second, Was Taken Immediately After He Emerged from the Ground, and Before His Shadow Had Climbed Out of the Burrow in Pursuit.

Palm Sunday, just a week previous to Easter. It is generally conceded that Easter bonnets, ribbioned, beflowered, bewildering, will be as much in evidence as ever, but there are several speculative parties who are willing to wager good coin of the realm that fur-lined coats will accompany the new bonnets.

BOSTONIAN SAYS THIS IS AN OLD SETTLED SECTION

FATHER NOAH SALES TO CITY

Population Was Sparse in That Old City, But Increased with the Bostoner Spirit That Penetrated the Air Here, Cain Soon Started an Antediluvian Home, and Built a City for Himself.

United Press Service

PORTLAND, Feb. 2.—The Oregonian this morning prints a startling story under a Boston date line, which connects Klamath Falls, Ore., with an eminent scientist, with biblical times. The article in part follows:

"That Cain, the son of Adam, established the first city in America near Klamath Falls, Oregon, and that it was to this city that Noah fled after the flood, is the assertion of Charles Hallett, Ph. D., an archaeologist, in a report to the Peabody museum at Harvard.

"North America is assumed to be the biblical Land of Nod, lying to the east of the Garden of Eden.

"Cain migrated there and although the population was sparse, built the new city.

"The Land of Nod was inferentially the birth place of the alleged Adam, from where he was taken when the Lord established the Garden of Eden."

Minneapolis Physician's Discovery Said to Actually do What is Claimed for Friedmann Cure

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—An article appears in the Daily News today to the effect that Dr. J. H. Burgan, a leading Minneapolis physician, has discovered a tubercular cure that local physicians declare will rival the wonderful cures claimed for the discovery of Dr. Friedmann, the German scientist, whose serum has been the subject of so much discussion during the past few months.

The basis of the serum, according to Dr. Burgan, is taken from a healthy pig. As soon as he has experimented further with the possibilities of his tubercular cure, Dr. Burgan will make it public.

All Parts of the Country Will be Represented, According to Information Received in This City

One of the greatest gatherings of the character ever held in Klamath county is assured Wednesday, when the dairymen of the county assemble at the Klamath Chamber of Commerce to form a county dairymen's association. From all parts of the county comes assurance of attendance.

All of the farmers and dairymen residing close to the city will be here, and there will be big delegations from Merrill, Bonanza and Fort Klamath, according to tidings brought from those places by interested persons.

In anticipation of the event, tentative by-laws have been drawn up, and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce are lending every assistance possible to Secretary C. T. Oliver to further interest in the movement and entertain the visitors.

The organization is being formed for the sole purpose of promoting the dairying interests of Klamath county, not for the purpose of forming a cooperative creamery association, as some believe. The membership roll is open to any dairymen who wish to belong.

Scared of Hindus

United Press Service LONDON, Feb. 2.—King George and the queen were very closely guarded today when they motored from Windsor castle for Buckingham palace.

The heavy guard was ostensibly because of the activities of the suffragettes, but the real cause was the fear of an Indian plot.

The king and queen feared a repetition of the assault on Lord Hardinge in India.

LYLE SAYS MONEY IS DUE; NOT OWED

MANAGER OF BLACKBURN HOSPITAL HOLDS IN HIS ANSWER THAT DR. CHILTON IS INDEBTED TO HIM

That Dr. Chilton is indebted to the approximate amount of $600 is the allegation made A. J. Lyle in his answer to the action filed against him a few days ago by Dr. Chilton. The answer was filed today by Merryman & Duncan and Thomas Drake.

In his answer Lyle admits an indebtedness of $30.02 to Chilton. He alleges that Chilton agreed to pay half the expenses of the hospital and receive half the receipts, but Lyle charges that Chilton has collected various sums, and has failed to pay anything toward the maintenance of the hospital.

Electors are Preparing for Washington Trip

Forty-Eight Messengers, Each Bearing the Official Electoral Vote of his State, are Soon to Start

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—Forty-eight excursionists are now putting the finishing touches on the last presidential election. They come from the nearest and furthest parts of the United States, with expenses paid in a generous manner by Uncle Sam, and each carries with him a packet addressed to "The President of the United States Senate."

Their is an important function, although a very pleasant one. They are charged to deliver the certified votes of the various electoral colleges to the presiding officer of the United States senate that the president-elect may be formally declared "elected" on March 4th. For this service Uncle Sam pays $12,972.25 every four years.

On the second Wednesday in February, according to the Constitution, the certified papers are carried by two messengers, with the presiding officer and members of the senate following to the house chamber, where in the presence of both houses of congress, they are opened, counted, compared with duplicate copies, and accepted as documentary proof of the election of the president. While the senate is now presiding over both Senators Bacon and Gallagher, in alternating periods, it is to the Georgian that falls the honor of "declaring" the election of Wilson. He will occupy a place on the rostrum beside Speaker Clark, and will preside at the ceremonies. This formally closes the election, and marks the inauguration of the incoming presidency.

The trusted bearer from Oregon who brings the votes of the electoral college of Oregon travels a distance of approximately 3,100 miles, the greatest of any, and receives $100—not to mention the "free" fare to Washington, but the expenses of the journey, amounting to $121. The Chamber of Commerce has arranged to have the messenger from Klamath Falls, Ore., arrive in Washington on the 10th of February.
