THE NEW POSTMASTER GENERAL

Copyright by Harris & Ewing

Representative Albert Sydney Burleson, who has been appointed as postmaster general by President Wilson, has served nearly fifteen years in congress. His first election was to the Fifty-sixth congress. He was one of the staunch supporters of Governor Wilson in the house of representatives from the beginning of the pre-convention contest last spring, and took a prominent part in the campaign. In congress his chief work was done at a member of the appropriations committee.

REV. STUBBLEFIELD SAYS A GREAT TREAT IS IN STORE FOR KLAMATH FALLS PEOPLE WHO HEAR DR. GRANT EVANS

(By Rev. J. S. Stubblefield)
The cultured and intelligent people of Klamath Falls have a great treat in store for themselves. Dr. A. Grant Evans, who is coming here to begin union meetings next Friday is one of the clearest and most logical thinkers of our generation. He is the man who built up one of the greatest state universities west of the Mississippi River. He is not, however, a mere disembodied intellect, made up of an aggregation of concatenated abstract ideas, but his great head is really overshadowed by the greatness of his heart.

TO DESTROY PART OF IDAHO FOREST

LAND IN PRIVATE HANDS BECAUSE IS MORE VALUABLE FOR FARMING—NEW METHOD USED FOR DISPOSAL.

Special to The Herald

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.—The government is selling 267,000,000 board feet of timber in the Priest River Valley of the Kaniakau forest, Idaho. This sale differs from most of those made by the government in handling its national forest timber business. Not merely the ripe timber will be sold to make room for a new crop, but on part of the area the purchasers will be expected to take everything in sight, after the time-honored fashion of most lumbering that is done on private lands. In short, the forest will be destroyed. In the Kaniakau sale part of the area will be clear-cut because the land is more valuable for agriculture than for forests. Stump land in the same neighborhood sells for as high as $40 or $50 an acre; sometimes even more. While the present stand of timber on the best land within the forest is, according to the forest service, in general worth more than the land apart from the timber, the annual returns obtainable from farm crops make agriculture the best form of use for this land.

To open to homestead entry land with from $5,000 to $7,000 worth of timber on each homestead unit, as is the case on many homestead areas on the Kaniakau, tends to put a premium on its entry by timber speculators. From the speculators they go to lumber companies, and the lumber companies may hold back agricultural development either by keeping the timber intact for a long period, or by cutting the land clean and then holding it at a price which the prospective builder looking for cheap land to develop cannot pay. Therefore the government does not open to entry heavily timbered agricultural land on national forests until after the timber has been cut off.

In this instance the federal government will receive about $650,000 for the timber, of which sum $335,000 will go to the benefit of the state for public schools and good roads, and the rest will be converted into the treasury. All told, the yearly receipts from the national forests have been about $2,000,000, of which timber sales have contributed about one-half, but the forest service reports that the demand for government timber is now increasing rapidly. Since July 1st twice as much timber has been sold as was sold in the entire preceding twelve months, and while the timber will be paid for only as it is removed during a term of years, the forestry officials expect to see the timber receipts mount up fast each year during the period immediately ahead.
