LADY DETECTIVE RECOMMENDS MEMBERS OF HER SEX FOR POLICE FORCE

Mrs. Isabella Goodwin, a full-fledged sleuth of the New York police department, who aided in capturing the taxicab bandits a year ago, believes women would do valuable work in the department. She bases her opinion on her fifteen years of service as a police matron, begun just after the death of her husband, a member of the force. Mrs. Goodwin says that girls are naturally more careful and modest before a woman than they are before a man, and that a word in time, a reminder of the right attitude, will often save a mistake. She believes that police women could do a wonderful work in saving girls who were inclined to stray to the streets.

MINING MAN IS ON WAY NORTH

PREFERS TO PAY HIS OWN WAY BACK TO ALASKA TO FACE A TRIAL RATHER THAN REMAIN IN MEXICO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Preferring to pay the expenses of his extradition to Alaska to stand trial for murder, rather than remain longer in the haunts of "greaser cut-throats," in Guasajuato, Mexico, Jos. MacDonald, a wealthy mining man, is on the last leg of his journey from this city to the far north. He is accused of slaying N. C. Jones, a mission worker, in Treadwell, Alaska, in 1902.

MacDonald was exonerated by a coroner's jury and then went to Mexico. The case was later re-opened, and his extradition ordered. The Huerta government announced its inability to pay MacDonald's way back to Alaska. The wealthy miner welcomed the chance to pay his own way, even going so far as to pay the fare of the guards sent by Huerta to take him to the border.

With fifteen men he will start from San Francisco in June, 1914, sailing the Fram. Ten members of the South Polar expedition will accompany him. In command of the Fram will be Captain Thorvald Nilsen. Others of the party will be Dr. B. J. Kirkland of Christiania and Dr. Harry Edmos, an American. Commissary plans will be outlined several months before the start.

REACH'S GUIDE ARRIVES HERE

AUTHORITATIVE WORK ON GREAT NATIONAL GAME NOW READY FOR DISTRIBUTION—BOOK IS COMPREHENSIVE

The 1913 Reach American League Guide—the official handbook of the great junior major league presided over by famous Ban Johnson—has just made its ever welcome appearance, thus ushering in one more baseball season; a function which it has fulfilled each spring for thirty-one consecutive years. This long term embraces virtually two baseball generations, assuming that fifteen years measures one generation in a field in which events move swiftly and the actors make their entrances and exits in painfully quick time. So, this long continuity of publication alone has served to make the Reach Guide the standard annual publication of the baseball world, without considering the merits of the contents of the book. But combining time and quality, we have a publication which simply stands alone in its chosen field in every way, including the literary contents, official records, illustrations, quality of paper, serviceable binding and general typographical excellence. Thus, from every standpoint is the Reach Official Guide for 1913 a splendid handbook of baseball and a decided credit to the American League, to the Reach company of Philadelphia as the publishers, and to its editor, Francis C. Richter, the veteran baseball writer and authority. It should be noted, by the way, that this is the twelfth annual issue of the Reach Guide as the official handbook of the American League, and the thirty-first consecutive year of its publication by the A. J. Reach company as a book of records and reference for the entire baseball world.

FISHERMEN ON POWER BOAT ARE WELL PAID FOR TWO MONTHS' CRUISE IN THE FAR NORTHERN WATERS

SEATTLE, Wash., March 21.—Every fisherman aboard the power halibut schooner Washington, which has just arrived in Seattle after a two months' cruise in Alaskan waters, received a check for $551 as his share of the money received for the catch.

During the time the Washington was in the north she made three shipments to Seattle, in addition to the big catch she brought down. Each one of the shipments met a good market, which accounts for the large dividends.

The latest trip confirms the belief along the water front that the Washington is one of the luckiest halibut schooners running out of Seattle. Her luck has been a byword for the past fifteen months, during which time she has netted her owner, E. B. Larson, $4,500, or an average of $500 a month. This includes several months during which she was laid up.

SALOON MEN THUG VICTIMS

PENDLETON WIFE GOING MAD—KING ARE ATTACKED BY MEN—KING OF THE UNDERWORLD AFTER AN ALIBIATION

PENDLETON, March 21.—Three men are seriously injured and another slightly as result of ambush of several saloon men in this city by an underworld gang.

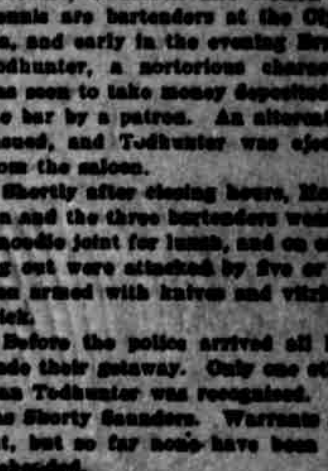

Charles Morrison, proprietor of the Olympia bar, has a deep cut on the side of his head, many contusions and several ribs torn. Carl Churchill has a broken jaw, and Ray Stary may lose one eye from knife wounds.

Stary, Churchill and Nelson St. Dennis are bartenders at the Olympia, and early in the evening Ernest Todhunter, a notorious character, was seen to take money deposited on the bar by a patron. An altercation ensued, and Todhunter was ejected from the saloon.

Shortly after closing hours, Morrison and the three bartenders went to a nearby joint for lunch, and on coming out were attacked by five or six men armed with knives and vibrated brick.

Before the police arrived all had made their getaway. Only one other than Todhunter was recognized. He was Sherry Saunders. Warrants are out, but so far none have been apprehended.
