ARGUMENTS ARE TO BE APRIL 28

ABSENCE OF FEDERAL ATTORNEY CAUSES A POSTPONEMENT OF OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD CASE

PORTLAND, March 26—Argument before Federal Judge Wolverton in the Oregon & California Railroad company land grant forfeiture suit has been postponed from April 8 to April 28th, at the instance of B. D. Townsend, special district attorney. Townsend is also attorney for the government in the Alaska coal cases being pressed before the criminal courts in Chicago, and cannot reach Portland by the date at first set for taking up argument here.

All testimony is in, and with the taking up of argument next month, final stages of the trial on merit are being reached. While the evidence is voluminous, it is not believed that the argument will consume much time, because of the thoroughness with which the case has been covered in the hearing on demurrer. Although this is a trial on the merits, both sides concede that the issues are really matters of law, which have already been determined by the decision of the demurrer hearing.

When Judge Wolverton first decided against the railway attorney on demurrer, attorneys for the company concluded to appeal directly, but later either to secure greater delay or to gain some fancied advantage in going before the highest courts in an appeal from a refusal of a new trial in the lower courts, taking testimony was decided upon, and the form of a trial on its merits pursued. This procedure has involved about a year, as testimony was taken in all parts of the country.

In view of the fact that the lower court has decided the law points in the case already, and the taking of testimony is regarded rather formal, it is believed that the judge will not find it necessary to take the issue under advisement for any considerable period after argument is finished next month. The case involves 3,800,000 acres of land yet held by the Oregon and California for the Southern Pacific.

N. Y. Bankers Watch U. S. Irrigation Plans Cause of Non-Settlement of Irrigated Farms is Given in a Report Issued by National City Bank

In the March circular sent out by the National City bank, one of the greatest financial institutions in the country, considerable attention is paid to the irrigation projects of Uncle Sam. Attention is particularly called to the failure of settlers to take advantage of the offerings of the government. The article follows in part:

"In the aggregate, as shown by the recent census, about 13,000,000 acres have not all been irrigated. There are literally millions of acres now lying dormant to which water has been brought at an expense of from $40 to $50 an acre, or more. Relatively few persons are now taking up or purchasing these reclaimed lands, and there is a more or less temporary condition of stagnation in agricultural development of the West is easily traced to the inflation of values of raw land, which culminated about 1911. The attraction of the West has been in the opportunity of obtaining free government land by homestead entry, or cheap land by purchase. The building or even the proposal to build irrigation works has caused prices for raw land to advance from little or nothing, or say from $5 per acre up to $50 or $100 per acre. For a time sales were made at these high prices, but at present such sales are rare. Many of the private enterprises have become bankrupt or are practically insolvent, largely because the lands are not being utilized for the production of crops to an extent sufficient to enable the owners to pay for the works. In the meantime the interest charges and cost of maintenance and operation have eaten up not only the prospective profits, but the investment itself.

There is always considerable risk in pioneering, and even though lands may be irrigated and successfully cropped for a time, there has resulted from excessive use of water the destruction by swamping or alkali of from 15 to 30 per cent of the lands which at first were highly productive. In short, there are certain damages connected with farming under irrigation, as in any new business, which are not always taken into account by investors who are not thoroughly familiar with the risks involved.

Under these conditions, it is being recognized that further agricultural development in the far West must be done, if at all, largely through construction by the government, because of the fact that the government with its present system, can, and is, building these works more economically than private capital, as it is not required to pay the high rate of interest, nor does it consider the profits of the works. The cost of the works built by the government has ranged from $22 per acre up to $93 per acre, and has averaged something under $45 per acre.

Taking fifty or more of the private works begun by private capital during this time, the estimated cost has ranged from $35 per acre up to $150, or an average of a little under $65 per acre. This represents fairly well the difference in cost, although the government works as a rule are built more permanently and with provisions for a more complete water supply."

POLICE SHAKE UP IS PLANNED

COMPLETE RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE PORTLAND DEPARTMENT IS NOW UNDER CONSIDERATION IN METROPOLIS

PORTLAND, March 26—That a complete reorganization of the police department is under consideration, the prime motive being to put Police Captain Keller, favorite of the Rushlight administration, in charge of the day of first night relief, came to light in a stormy session in the mayors office last Saturday when Chief Slover and Captains Moore, Riley and Keller were in conference.

Despite his known friendship for Keller, Chief Slover went on record as opposed to promiscuous changes to benefit the substitutes and new patrolmen who are assigned upon taking up their duties to the service on the "milkman watch," as the second relief is known.

The chief's views were pleasing to Captains Moore and Riley, but Keller protested so strongly that as a compromise the records of all members of the department will be secured to confirm the contention that the older members of the force, unable to stand the rigors of the early morning work, are on the day relief, while the recruits are all members of the second night relief.

"There's one patrolman who has been on the force nine years, and yet he's out in the jungles on my relief," Keller said, when the discussion was warm.

"Yes, I sent him out there when he referred to Commissioner Fitzgerald as a fat pig," replied the Chief.

The meddling by councilmen in behalf of favorites was decried by the chief, who claimed that frequently he found it necessary to send a patrolman to the second night relief only to have the patrolman appeal to a councilman, the councilman appeal to the mayor, and the mayor then order the patrolman back to the original relief.

"As long as councilmen interfere with police business and politics are to control the conduct of this department," said the chief, "it is impossible to regulate the men as they should be."

HAIR TURNING GRAY OR FALLING? JUST MIX SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

It's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's," which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well known down town druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments, by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, but
