Anderson's Chances Better in This Bout

Fistic Experts Agree That Northern Boxer Will Enter the Ring Tonight Without Any Staleness

The following by Jay Davidson in the Los Angeles Herald is a good expression of the opinion of all the Southern sport writers regarding tonight's twenty-round encounter at Vernon:

Flery Kansan to Lead Progressives

Victor Murdock, the red-headed representative from Kansas, the original insurgent of the house of representatives who started all the trouble which led to the overthrow of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, has gone a step further. He has become the leader of the progressive party on the floor of the house.

Three months ago Murdock was not certain of the position he would take between the republicans, with whom he was then acting, and the new party. But with the opening of the new congress he has come to a conclusion. The Kansan is brilliant and daring, and he may make the new party a power on the floor, where others would fall. He is probably the only progressive on the floor who could match John B. Mann, the republican leader, and Oscar W. Underwood, the majority leader.

TENTH STREET TO BE IMPROVED NOW

ORDINANCE WILL BE AMENDED AT ONCE, AND ACTION TOWARD MACADAMIZING THOROUGHFARE WILL BE TAKEN

Whether or not Tenth street is to be improved will be decided within a short time, as the property owners and Councilman Doty of the Fifth ward have brought the matter to a point where, if it is decided that the street shall be improved, work will be started in a short time.

City Attorney Rutenic was last night instructed to amend the ordinance providing for the improvement so as to have a date set at once for hearing objections, and for the settlement of the manner of improvement. Some ask that the street be macadamized forty feet in width, with ten feet for parking and sidewalk on each side. Others think thirty feet of macadam is all that is necessary, but all want the street improved.

The proposed improvement of Tenth street will extend from Main street to Prospect street. Grading and macadamizing are the principal features of the work, and the cost has been estimated at $10,300.

Thousands of West Side Acres to be Irrigated

Keno Man, Whose Electric Plant is Lighting Keno, Contracts With Farmers to Furnish Power for Pumping Water to Their High Lands. Poles Going up

The West Side high lands, so productive when farmed by "dry" methods, are to become double so, according to farmers in the vicinity of Keno, following the announcement that work toward irrigation for these tracts has been started.

The plan adopted by the farmers is to pump water from the Klamath River to their farms, using a centrifugal pump and a 2,900 volt motor. A number of outfits of this kind have been ordered by affected land owners from the Baldwin Hardware company, after a careful study of the needs was made.

Robert Emmitt of this city has just completed the surveying of the pipe line and ditches for irrigating the F. T. Nelson farm near Keno, and the installation for the pump has been commenced there. Nelson will raise the water fifty feet in order to irrigate his property.
