Hon. Will R. King of Portland has secured a place as appraiser of customs at New York, a life position, at $9,000 a year. Mr. King makes the following statement: "This place came to me entirely without solicitation, although one would think from reading the Portland papers that I had been here with hook and line, fishing for anything I could get. As a matter of fact I have been here in the interest of my party, and not as an office seeker."

There is no doubt that Mr. King will accept the place, as it pays more than any of the others for which he has been mentioned. McLemore Went South to Purchase Larger Herds, But Californian, Have Raised Prices of Cattle

Fifteen cars, or about 500 head of 2-year-old steers and cows, and yearlings, will arrive here the first of the week from Santa Clara Valley. The cattle were purchased in California by D. M. McLemore, and are being shipped to Klamath county for summer range. Part of the shipment will be sold to local cattlemen, and the remainder put in pasture. Luke Walker, who is interested with Mr. McLemore, has secured pasture on the reservation, and all those not sold will be taken there on arrival.

Mr. McLemore went to California with the intention of purchasing 1,000 head, but since the recent rains stockmen who before were anxious to sell have withdrawn their cattle from the market, and as a result the price of cattle has advanced.

A large number of stock cattle have been shipped to Klamath county from California this spring, but it is believed that this will be the last large shipment made this year. The improvement in the grass, caused by rain, will result in the cattle being kept in California.
