

Recall of Worden is Asked in Petition Filed Today; Frank Ira White Will Run as the Recall Candidate

F. IRA WHITE TO BE THE RECALL PARTY'S ENTRY

CONSENTS TO OPPOSE WORDEN IN COMING ELECTION

Former Newspaper Man Has Been Urged for Some Time to Run for Office on the Recall Ticket, But Up to Yesterday Evening He Had Steadfastly Refused—Today He Admits Being a Candidate.

Opposed to William S. Worden in the coming recall election will be Frank Ira White of this city, whom those opposed to Judge Worden would see in his place as county judge.

This was current on the street this morning, and early this afternoon Mr. White confirmed the report.

"I have been urged for some time to run against Judge Worden," said White, "and I have decided to do so. I will announce my platform in a few days."

"It has been known that opponents of the present county judge have been strongly urging White to make the race ever since Elias Obenchain declined to come out in opposition to Worden.

The position taken by him for the greater part of the time caused many to believe that he would not accept the offer, but he made up his mind Thursday to come out.

White, prior to coming here, was engaged in newspaper work in Portland and in the Middle West. He has resided here for six or seven years, and during that time has taken an active part in the work of building up the Klamath country. This is the first attention he has given politics in this section.

Minister is Asked to Quit Church

The Episcopal controversy between high and low churchmen has caught the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the novelist, who has been read all over the world. He has been asked to leave the Episcopal church and join the Roman Catholic church. Not long ago his low church opinions got him into trouble with the high churchmen.

Dr. Brady has for some months been the pastor of the Church of the Ascension, Mount Vernon, a suburb of New York. The Rev. Edwin B. Rice, who was assistant pastor there for eighteen years, recently left and went to the one other Episcopal church in the suburb. He has stirred up the agitation against the novelist minister. All of which came about through the Eucharistic candles presented by Mrs. Horace Greenfield. Dr. Brady placed the candles on the altar, announcing they would remain there, despite criticism by his vestrymen. Then a report was spread that he proposed to substitute red cassocks for the black vestments.

"Why cannot these dissenters in the Episcopal church," asked Dr. Rice in an open letter, "follow the monks of Galdy, and go over in a body to the Church of Rome?"

MAY LIGHT THE RESERVATION BY ELECTRICITY, TOO

SPRAGUE RIVER DAM TO SERVE TWO PURPOSES

Project Engineer in Charge of Work Being Done by Indian Service Says Big Highway Is Being Made—Chief Engineer of the Indian Service Arrives Tonight to Consider Some Alterations.

If the present plans of the reclamation department of the Indian service are carried out, the dam to be built on Sprague River will develop electric power for lighting Chiloquin, the Agency and other points on the reservation, according to H. W. Hincks, project engineer for the United States Indian service on the Modoc Point Irrigation project now under course of construction.

Mr. Hincks is here from Chiloquin to meet W. M. Reed of Washington, chief engineer of the Indian service, and L. M. Holt of North Yakima, Wash., superintendent of irrigation in this district. They will arrive this evening to inspect the work, and consult as to proposed changes.

"We have been considering a change in the location of the Sprague River dam from a mile above the confluence of the Sprague and Williamson rivers to a point half a mile above Chiloquin bridge," said Mr. Hincks today. "In connection with this, it is possible that a power plant may be installed at the dam. Such a dam would develop 500 horsepower, which current could be utilized in developing the industries around Chiloquin, as well as lighting different parts of the reservation.

"The Indian service is also considering the advisability of irrigating an additional 2,500 acres of reservation land, in addition to the 6,200 acres now arranged for. This land is on the west side of the Williamson River, and the water for irrigation could be easily flumed there."

WARRIORS BOLD IN ENLARGEMENT

CAPTAIN O. C. APPLIGATE RECEIVES AN ADDITION TO HIS TROPHIES AND RELICS OF THE MODOC WAR

Captain O. C. Appligate, whose information regarding the Klamath Indians' history and the history of this section is boundless, and whose collection of Indian trophies, curios, etc., is nothing short of a museum itself, has received another addition to his treasures, a number of enlarged photographs of various leading actors in the Lava Bed tragedy of the early '70's.

The pictures include Winema, old Chief Sconchin, Scar Face Charlie, Captain Jack, his wives, Doctor McKay and others. They are from old prints and photographs owned by Captain Appligate.

The pictures, together with other information regarding the modern Indian, were sent to a daughter of Professor Horner, one of the instructors at the Oregon Agricultural College, as an assistance to her in getting up a thesis.

In returning the photographs, etc., sent by Appligate, Professor Horner also included nicely mounted enlargements of all the pictures.

to compete in the relay race, as a lady's race has been arranged for in addition to the men's contest. In this race each contestant will ride two miles each day, changing horses each half mile. The total time it takes to ride the six miles, change saddles, etc. will decide the winner.

In addition, there will be a pony express race, where the riders change to saddled ponies, cow pony races for men and women; half mile and quarter mile dashes for Indian riders, and a cowboy quick change race. H. Sanders Suggests Conducting Experimental Work on a Small Scale—Hogue's Plan Provides for Pumping Plant for Lowering the Level of Water on the Lands East of Railroad—Roads Wanted.

Reclamation of the swamp lands was discussed with a large number of the land owners this morning at the Chamber of Commerce by W. H. Sanders of Los Angeles, consulting engineer of the United States reclamation service, and C. C. Hogue, fiscal agent of the service on the Klamath project.

Mr. Sanders was chairman of the board of government engineers that first approved the Klamath project, and made the settlement with the Klamath Canal company and other local irrigation companies many years ago. He has visited the project a number of times since, and is thoroughly informed of the conditions here.

The engineer apparently has no objections with the suggestions offered

Dr. Ayres Would Apply Psychology

Dr. Leonard P. Ayres has just written for the United States bureau of Education a summary of practical psychology, that is psychology as applied to the man who wants a job. Psychology, he insists, may determine whether or not a candidate for a place as motorman in a street car or chauffeur is worthy of the job. He calls attention to the fact that Professor Munsterberg of Harvard tested motor-men in Boston, and found out by psychological tests that 25 per cent of the candidates had to be eliminated. S. E. Thompson used psychological tests, "called reaction time tests," in selecting girls to pick faws in the steel balls used in ball bearings.

Dr. Ayres sees great possibilities in psychological tests for choosing the right persons for jobs. He says:

"When the best possible adjustment shall have been attained between work and workman each one will have his full opportunity to achieve at least something for the commonwealth and common weal. The task of the world will be better done and the workers will receive greater rewards, deeper joy and fuller satisfaction in their doing."

Ed Akin's Escape is Almost Miraculous

Huge Log, Rolling Over the Prostrate Body of a Workman, Breaks His Wrist, Bruises Face and Hips

Were it not for the fact that he fell near a tree limb and a snathook, Ed Akin, an employe of the Doak ranch, near Odessa, would be in a wretched condition today, instead of in bed at the ranch house, nursing a broken wrist and a badly bruised body.

Akin was working with a party of men taking logs off a carriage, when a large log rolled off the carriage. Akin was standing in the path of the huge timber, and in his frantic effort to escape the workman tripped and fell.
