

MILITARY MOVES START THE WAR JINGO AFRESH

ARMY OFFICERS SAY ORDERS ARE LONG STANDING

War Department Denies Emphatically Rumors of Mobilization as Set Forth in Metropolitan Morning Papers—Say the Coast Artillery Change is a Regular Transfer Arranged for Some Months Ago

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Officials at the Presidio emphatically deny that they have received orders for two regiments of infantry to leave at once for Hawaii.

The report appearing in the morning papers, they state, is absolutely baseless.

These reports held that two regiments were to leave on the Monterey this morning. The only movement that is to be made is a change of post to Hawaii for several companies of coast artillery. The companies now on duty in the islands will return.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The orders for the transfer of several companies of the coast artillery corps to Hawaiian fortifications will not be rescinded. This was given out by the war department this morning.

Officials of the department stated that general orders for the moving of the troops were made several months ago. They state that it is merely one of the frequent changes of posts, and that it has absolutely no connection with the Japanese agitation.

WOODROW WILL NOT COMPROMISE

TELLS CORRESPONDENTS THAT HE WILL BACK THE HOUSE LEADERS ON THE TARIFF MEASURE

Washington, May 16.—President Woodrow Wilson will back the leaders of the house on the tariff revision measure. He stated this emphatically at the semi-weekly conference with the newspapermen.

During the conference, the president declared that he refuses to consider any compromise affecting the wool or sugar schedules. He branded all stories to the contrary as baseless.

It will be at least three days more before the bill is referred to a committee in the senate. Senator Penrose does not believe it will be voted upon this week.

Will Temple returned yesterday from a visit with his parents in California. While away, he toured the southern part of that state.

Mrs. D'Oyley Carte Who Died Recently

Every one of the mothers and fathers, the grandmothers and grandfathers of today, who enjoyed the Gilbert and Sullivan operas in their vogue, might show his appreciation of them by sending a garland for the grave of Mrs. D'Oyley Carte, who has just died in London. Without her there might have been little of the great musical combination which entertained millions in the old world and the new.

One of those who knew the inside of theatrical matters in London in the days of Gilbert and Sullivan, said on her death: "Hers was the genius that kept these men together, and smoothed out the difficulties that arose from time to time."

She began as an actress with Charles Wynham, but her stage career was short. She married D'Oyley Carte, and very soon built his business up far beyond what it was. She superintended the production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, and when they crossed to the United States she made trips here to see that they were properly staged. Later, she arranged lecture tours for Archibald Forbes, Sir Henry M. Stanley, Matthew Arnold, Oscar Wilde, and many others. When she became prosperous she supported many old players, and said little about it. On her husband's death, in 1901, he left her the whole business, then appraised at $1,500,000.

PREP LETTERS MUST COME OFF

NEWLY ORGANIZED ORDER OF THE "O" AT UNIVERSITY WILL NOT ALLOW STRANGE GODS ON 'VARSITY CAMPUS

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 16.—"Prep" school monograms, letters and numerals of any kind, are barred from the campus.

Men who have not won their "O" are prohibited from wearing 'varsity stripes, or "O" sweaters.

The 'varsity locker room is reserved for the exclusive use of "O" men. This includes lockers, showers, benches, glasses, etc.

The head of each house shall be requested to instruct his house members on the rules of the Order of the "O."

These are a few of the drastic measures taken by the Order of the "O," which was revived last Tuesday night. Wallace Caulfield, Elmer Hall, John Parsons and Carl Fenton were appointed to see that these rules are enforced.

The committee began its work yesterday, when three different freshmen found it advisable to remove "prep" school monograms from their sweaters. The committee, backed by some 40 Oregon huskies, will probably have no difficulty in enforcing this rule.

The writ is made returnable on May 25. The county treasurer will either have to pay the warrants on the courthouse fund or make a showing to the court why he does not do so on or before May 25.

Ray Merrill is here for a short sojourn.

SMALLPOX IS BOUGHT HERE FROM ROSEBURG

STRANGER IN THE CITY TAKEN TO PESTHOUSE

George Sackett, Who Arrived Last Night From Douglas County, Is Near the Secondary, or Most Contagious Stage—Believed He Was Suffering From Some Slight Skin Rash When He Called on Physician

Smallpox was unwittingly brought to Klamath Falls by George Sackett, who arrived last night from Roseburg, and it was not until this forenoon that the health officers learned of the presence of this contagious disease in the city.

Sackett has been taken to an isolated dwelling house, and the room he occupied at a local hotel last night has been thoroughly fumigated. As he is not acquainted here, he did not mingle with people last night or today, so there is no fear of an epidemic.

Sackett, upon arising this morning, noted the presence of the rash which heralds the coming of the pustule, or secondary stage, the most contagious period of smallpox. Believing that he was suffering from some slight skin disease, he called on Dr. Fisher for treatment.

Fisher immediately diagnosed the case as smallpox, and he called City Health Officer Trear and County Health Officer Merryman in consultation. The police were immediately notified, and they secured a house on the outskirts of Mills addition, where Sackett will be kept during his illness.

The sick man stated to the physicians that the high fever, which is the first stage of the disease, came upon him while he was at Wolf Creek. He says he consulted a physician there, and the practitioner worked to allay the fever.

TRUE NAME MUST BE PUT ON FILE

NEW LAW GOING INTO EFFECT MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR BUSINESS HOUSES TO BE CONDUCTED AS EMBLEMPOSE

Salem, Or., May 16.—A lot of persons in the state who are conducting a business under a company name, not incorporated, or under some assumed name, are going to have to go on record as to the nature of their business and their business associates when a new law passed by the last legislature goes into effect June 2.

This law provides that persons conducting a business under an assumed name, or when the names of all those interested in the business do not appear in the business designation, must file a certificate with the county clerk, giving the style and name under which the business is being conducted, and the names and addresses of all persons interested in the business. This applies to those now engaged in business, and those to come hereafter. Those now engaged in business must file their certificate within 30 days after the law goes into effect.

Corporations organized under the laws of this state, or foreign corporations admitted to the state, and partnerships where the business designation includes the names of all the partners, do not come under the provisions of the law.

Any person subject to the law who does not comply with it is denied the right to bring any action in the courts of the state, and a failure to file a certificate is prima facie evidence of fraud in securing credit. Violators of the law are subject to $100 fine.

C. D. Chorpening has returned from a business trip to points near Merrill. He was away several days.

Poet is Niece of Cardinal Farley

It has just been learned that Katherine Ward, whose verses and poems, chiefly about children, have appeared in newspapers and magazines for the past year or more, and have been widely noticed, is a niece of Cardinal Farley. She is Mrs. D. Francis Murphy, whose husband has large textile interests in Philadelphia. Mrs. Murphy has chosen to appear under a pen name, her maiden name by the way, but her poems have attracted so much attention that the Philadelphia Catholic Standard and Times, which has published many of them, has told her story.

Mrs. Murphy has no children of her own. But traveling about much over the United States with her husband, she has become a keen observer, and mothers and children have appealed to her. Many of her poems on the subject have been printed and reprinted all over the country. Mrs. Murphy is a handsome woman, reminding one of Lillian Russell in days of the past.

"An Eulenburg" is Labeled

BERLIN, May 16.—A coal miner named Lack today began a two months' prison sentence for calling a man "an Eulenburg." The courts held that the epithet is a libel. CABINET TALKS ABOUT PROPER TIME TO REPLY

BRYAN, WILSON AND CABINET MEET TO CONFER

WASHINGTON, May 16.—After a session of more than two and a half hours, the cabinet instructed Secretary Bryan to immediately draft a reply to the protest of Japan.

Members of the cabinet are reluctant as to when all was considered, but it is believed that the nature of the reply was fully outlined.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Wilson and his cabinet held a long session this morning, at which the Japanese situation was given close attention.

The conference was devoted chiefly to a discussion as to the advisability of sending an immediate reply to Japan's formal protest, or to await a more complete diplomatic interchange, following the signing of the anti-alien land bill by Governor Hiram Johnson of California.

This afternoon the matter will be considered further by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan. Viscount Chiune, the Japanese ambassador, is expected to call and participate.

The government is endeavoring to prevent any jingoism by offering no further movements or maneuverings by the army or navy.

Conditions in W. Va. Will Startle Nation

Organizer For the United Miners Says Wages in That State Are Much Lower Than Elsewhere

WASHINGTON, May 16.—"If the senate should appoint a committee to investigate conditions in the coal fields of West Virginia, this committee would bring to light a story of hardship and squalid conditions that would startle and arouse the entire nation."

This statement was made today by W. B. Farley, organizer for the miners' union. Farley is in conference with a number of senators and congresmen regarding the West Virginia situation.

"The bulletin issued by the bureau of the census are proof positive that, by their treatment of the men, the mine owners of West Virginia have cut the wage cost of producing a ton of coal to 55 cents. In the other states, it is 80 cents higher."

"The stories of brutality, as related by Mother Jones," concluded Farley, "are fair samples of everyday conditions there."
