

CALIFORNIA LAW WILL BE TESTED IN THE COURTS

ADMINISTRATION SAYS WILL SOON BE SETTLED

Wilson and His Advisers Are Confident That the Measure Will Never Be Settled by Arbitration—Eligibility of Japanese to Citizenship is the Latest Matter to Enter Prominently into the Dilemma

WASHINGTON, May 20.—According to those closely connected with the administration, the dispute over the anti-alien land bill in California will be settled by the time the Webb bill becomes effective in August, or the matter will be in the federal courts, to test the legality of the measure.

The cabinet held a long discussion on the matter today. At this session Bryan reported in full his conference with Baron Chinda, the Japanese ambassador.

Wilson and his advisers are confident that the dispute will never go to the point of arbitration. A test case in the courts as to the constitutionality of the measure will be taken before that.

There is also a possibility of getting an opinion from the United States supreme court upon the eligibility of Japanese to citizenship. The cabinet is also considering the race equality question.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Secretary Yoell of the Exclusion League announced today that the initiative and referendum petitions on the anti-alien land law will be in circulation within 10 days.

Members of the league were in session all last night, carefully preparing the petitions and laws. These are to be in accordance with the state laws, so it will be impossible to invalidate them after their passage.

The officers have been showered with letters of congratulation and offers to circulate the petitions.

INJURED BOY REMAINS SAME

FIVE-YEAR-OLD SUFFERER IS STILL IN A SUB-CONSCIOUS CONDITION—DOCTORS HAVE HOPES

No change whatever is apparent in the condition of Bowne Henry, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Henry, who was struck by an automobile Sunday. The youngster is still in a sub-conscious state.

Every sound of traffic causes the little sufferer to involuntarily wince, and for this reason Klamath avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, is closed to vehicles.

MOTHER'S DAY IS SET BY CONGRESS

STRIKING CONTRAST IN THE TREATMENT ACCORDED HENRY LIN'S MOTHER AND THE ATTITUDE TWO YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The universal recognition of Mother's day, May 11, in which all classes of citizens, from the president of the United States down to the humblest toiler, joined in tender remembrance of the "sweetest woman in the world—my mother," as Speaker Clark feelingly described the spirit of the day, would seem to indicate that the world, or, at least, our portion of the world, is moving forward to better things.

The unanimous adoption of the resolution introduced by Congressman Heflin of Alabama, two weeks ago, calling upon the president of the United States, the senators and representatives "and all others in authority" to honor Mother's day by wearing a white carnation or other white flower, was a fine contrast to the treatment accorded the resolution of ex-Senator Burkett of Nebraska, who introduced a similar measure several years ago in the upper branch of congress. It was laughed out of the senate, among the staid members of the body thinking that there should be a Father's day, a Grandfather's day and a Grandmother's day. Senator Burkett made a speech in favor of the resolution which, since that time, has become a classic.

Now Congressman Heflin, again alone, introduces a resolution, and it is passed unanimously, thereby fitting for all time Mother's day.

Master of the Air, Not to Fly Again

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—

"They won't call me the master bird man any more," said Lincoln Beachey, the aeronaut. "I am done. I have flown my last. I wouldn't enter an aeroplane again at the point of a gun. I know why they came to see me fly. It was a morbid curiosity to see something happen, like it has happened to others—they wanted to see me killed."

Horace Kearney's mother begged him in Chicago last September not to teach her son any new tricks. But he did. Two months later Kearney was killed.

Charles Welsh's wife asked her husband not to do anything like Beachey's spirals. Welsh said that, inasmuch as Beachey did them, he had to in order to "get the money." Two weeks later he was killed at Trenton, N. J.

Not long ago Mrs. Eugene Ely wrote to him when he sent her some tickets for an exhibition: "Charlie would have been with me now if he had never seen you fly."

"So I am done," said Beachey. "I am not going to take any more chances myself, and I am not going to lead others to their deaths."

LANE RECEIVES SUGGESTIONS OF THE WATER USERS

NO REFERENCE IS MADE TO DISMISSALS

Among the Matters Asked for Are the Appointment of Water Users as Fiscal Agents on the Projects, Access to Maps, Books and Plans, Suspension of Payments in First Years and Time Extension

WASHINGTON, May 20.—In response to the request of Secretary of Interior Lane, the representatives of 18 water users' associations and the Land Owners' Protective league of the Salt River valley have submitted to him some suggestions for changes in the administration of the reclamation service. The most noteworthy point in these suggestions was the omission of any reference to the dismissal of any officers or employees of the reclamation service.

The "users" ask that they be consulted on about everything pertaining to the project—construction and administration. Among these are the appointment of the users' associations as fiscal agents, the submission of contracts for the sale of power and excess water, and the rates thereof; also control and management of projects as soon as possible, and meanwhile the access to all documents and records and maps and books in the local offices of the reclamation service; also suspension of payments to permit settlers to clear, level and cultivate their lands; also that land entries under the act should not be subject to reduction after bona fide entry. Lastly, extension of the time of payments up to a limit of 25 years.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TONIGHT

TALE OF EDITORIAL AND POLITICAL STRIFE, TAKEN FROM THE GERMAN, WILL BE OFFERING OF STUDENTS

Students of the Klamath county high school will, this evening, don Teutonic garb, slap on grease paint and impart into their voices a dramatic fervor that will outdo even the noted ravings of one McCullough. The occasion for all this is the comedy, "The Editors," which is to be produced by the Senior class, with the assistance of other students.

The play is an adaptation from "Die Journaliste," Freytag's great German play. It was translated into English by Miss Beale Applegate and Mrs. Ernest Eddy of the high school faculty. The play is full of bright lines and clever situations, and it deals with the rivalry of two newspapers in a political campaign. Through it all runs a pretty vein of romance.

An exceptionally large cast will produce the play, and, according to those who have been fortunate enough to be present at rehearsals, the young actors are faultless in their work.

Vice-President in His French Tile

WASHINGTON, May 20.—

President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan may taboo the silk hat, but that is one point on which Vice President Marshall will not follow the administration. He may stand by his when it comes to a tie vote in the senate on the Underwood tariff bill, and save it from going back on its promise. He will stand with the administration even if it must go to war with Japan, but when it comes to heading the president and the vice president disagree.

So herewith is published a photo of the vice president in his "Mother's day" regalia in Washington. He came forth then with a white chrysanthemum in his buttonhole and a French silk hat. The hat was not quite as pronounced as the many Parisian wears, but it was peaked toward the top, and the brim was almost flat. They don't wear many of those in Indiana, but the vice president, away from his home, is having lots of fun in his new job.

Autoing to Grants Pass E. W. Yarnick and wife left this morning by automobile for Grants Pass. They will spend several days at Medford, on their way to the Josephine county metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Johnson are here from San Francisco for a visit of several weeks. Mr. Johnson is president of the Klamath Development company.

Mrs. L. M. Vincent came in from Midland yesterday to do some shopping. She returned home today.

LAW SCHOOL AT NORMAL BUILDING

ANOTHER MOVEMENT IS DISCUSSED BY ASHLAND PEOPLE FOR UTILIZING THE FORMER TRAINING SCHOOL

ASHLAND, May 20.—Another proposition is up for the occupancy of the old Normal buildings. There are two on the docket now.

One for a private normal came before the Commercial club a week ago and the latest came before the council Friday night, when rules were suspended and Rev. McCullough of the Baptist church presented a petition asking the council to rent the Normal school building for the purpose of opening a school of art, law, music, etc.

He wished to know the rent of the building for all or a part, if the city had authority to lease the buildings for a year or more, etc. Rev. McCullough spoke at some length, outlining the plans in a limited way.

Robert Chayne was in from his ranch on the Merrill road Monday.

SAYS HE CAN PROVE WOODS BOUGHT BREEN

COLLINS TESTIFIES FOR PROSECUTION

Opening for the State, Attorney says He Has Witnesses Who Will Testify That Hill Owner Paid Breen to Plant Dynamite in the Hope of Arousing Prejudice Against the Striking Textile Workers

BOSTON, May 20.—That he has witnesses actually reworking the planted dynamite who are ready to testify that Wood paid John Breen, who planted the explosive at Lawrence, was one of the statements made by District Attorney Feltner in the opening of the Woods dynamite conspiracy trial.

The defendant is William W. Wood, multi-millionaire, and president of the American Woolen company. He is charged with a conspiracy to plant dynamite in an attempt to demoralize the strikers at the Lawrence mills in 1913.

Unlike previous trials in which there has been labor on one side and capital on the other, the trial of Wood presents the reversed aspect of capital and labor the accused. Facing Justice Brown with Wood were Frederick H. Atteaux, a Boston manufacturer of machine tool accessories, and Donald Collins, a Cambridge dog breeder. The three men were indicted last August by a special grand jury called to investigate the matter shortly after John J. Breen, an undertaker of Lawrence, Mass., and school commissioner at the time, was charged with planting dynamite, and was fined $500 after he refused to take the stand in his own behalf.

Breen, who was found guilty of planting the dynamite on May 15, is to be the chief witness for the prosecution.

The defense admits that Breen planted the dynamite, but insists that Wood and Atteaux know nothing about it.

Collins has deserted his co-defendants, and testified for the state. He stated that he had been instructed to divide sticks of dynamite into six bundles, wrapping them into newspapers.

During his testimony, Collins said that Breen asked him if he knew Woods. When he replied in the negative, he says Breen said "Woods and his millions are behind me in this."

Hill Says Reclamation Was the Ruin of the Republicans

Railroad Builder Appears Before the Investigation Being Conducted by Secretary Lane of the Interior Department. His Presence is Requested

Washington, May 20.—That the reclamation service had been the ruin of the Republican party, and that it would be the ruin of any party that treated it as it has been treated, was the statement of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad system, at the hearing before Secretary of the Interior Lane on the reclamation service. Mr. Hill previously had said that if the government did not propose to carry out the work of reclaiming arid lands in the west, the work should be turned over to private corporations, who would complete it.

Another startling claim of Mr. Hill was that the reclamation service started in his office. Darion Miller, now president of the Burlington railroad system, was a second party to a campaign started in the office of Mr. Hill, according to the assertion.

The address of Mr. Hill occupied nearly two hours. During his speech Mr. Hill said that government prices for the reclamation of western lands were much higher than those put upon the same property by private persons. Mr. Hill submitted figures to prove this contention, and also to show that Canada was reclaiming lands at a lower cost than that in the United States.

Secretary Lane opened the conference with the announcement that Mr. Hill had been quoted in the public press in criticism of government reclamation work. Secretary Lane had, therefore, asked Mr. Hill to make a statement at the conference.

Lane said he had seen criticism purporting to come from Mr. Hill, specially comparing our reclamation work with that of the Canadian government. Mr. Hill answered that "it is easy to criticize—easier than to build reclamation works." He had advised settlers to build their own works because government works cost twice as much as private work.

Mr. Hill quoted cases as given by the census reports to show that government costs were much higher than others, but, he added, that there might be two sides, as there generally are, to every question. The other side was in part supplied by very brief remarks.

Several Times Come Secretary Lane tried hard to get a statement from Mr. Hill that would be inductive to the question of reclamation, from all of which Mr. Hill seemed to extricate himself, and he finally gave up, contenting himself with the statement that Mr. Hill had said that "it is easy to criticize—easier than to build reclamation works."

Mr. Hill asked for a few minutes' time to speak for the state of the Canadian work. Mr. Hill mentioned the Canadian work, and said that he had seen the same work in the United States, and that he had seen the same work in the United States, and that he had seen the same work in the United States.

Emma Goldman Jailed by San Diego Police

Lecture for This Evening is Prevented by the Authorities. Agitator is Taken to Avoid Trouble

SAN DIEGO, May 20.—Emma Goldman, traveling companion of Dr. Ben H. Williams, who advanced the cause of the woman voter, is being held in jail. The police say this step is necessary to protect the agitators from the crowds here.

The Goldman woman was scheduled to speak here tonight. Posters of paper to that effect caused a rumor to go around the streets, and the police immediately became active. Emma and Dr. Heitman were arrested at 4 o'clock this morning, upon their arrival from Los Angeles.

Gerke was arrested a short time later, and all are in the city jail.

"The Goldman people were arrested because they are safer in the city jail than in the streets of San Diego," said Captain of Detectives Meyers. "There have been many threats of trouble should she and Heitman attempt to speak."

The party will be held in prison until the situation becomes quieter in San Diego. A big vigilance committee surrounds the jail. Reporters have been barred from the jail, and nobody is allowed to communicate with the trio.
