WAR SECRETARY SAYS NO JINGONISM CAN BE ATTACHED TO REPLENISHING OF BENICIA AMMUNITION

He denies flatly any unusual activity in the army posts.

RECLAMATION RUIN OF REPUBLICANS

Mr. Hill replied that not much work had been done.

Later, Mr. Hill said that an engineer from the service had been lost on a prairie while escorting a congressional party. This, suggested Mr. Lane, was because of the presence of the party.

Plans for the amelioration of conditions among farmers were then discussed. Mr. Lane asked a reduction of freight rates, and Mr. Hill suggested a radical extension of government credits.

Mr. Hill became solicitous as to the welfare of the familiar "common people." He said that, for the benefit of the populace, he would like to see the work completed.
