BWANA TUMBO IGNORANT OF THE HIGHBALL

STRENUOUS ONE NEVER HOISTED A COCKTAIL

Roosevelt, in His Testimony Today, Swore That He Can't Remember "Toeing" a Brass Ball for a Score of Years, and Only Used Alcoholic Beverages After Exposure, or When Attacked by Chill

MARQUETTE, Wis., May 27.—"I've never drank a cocktail or a highball in my life. Neither have I swallowed any whisky or brandy except upon the advice of physicians," said Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in testifying in today's proceedings of his damage suit against George A. Newitt, an editor.

"I do not like the taste of whisky or brandy," he continued. "Neither do I smoke or drink beer. I dislike both, and the only time I've drunk whisky or brandy without the advice of a physician has been perhaps after a great exposure or when chilled."

"I have never made it a practice to drink at bars. I do not believe I have taken a drink at a bar or in a saloon in 20 years."

Roosevelt was called as his own first witness. He gave a full outline of his public life, including the African lion hunt.

The courthouse was crowded with spectators. Society people made the most of the occasion to display their latest finery.

During his testimony, Roosevelt denied that the Progressive party's national organization was pushing the suit against the Michigan editor.

Jacob Riis, journalist, author and social reformer, emitted a volcanic "Lord, no!" when asked if he had ever seen Roosevelt under the influence of liquor.

"He's a gentleman," said Riis. "The worst profanity I ever heard him use was 'By Godfrey.'"

Golf Champion Begins Season

Jerome D. Travers, the national golf champion, has just begun the season of 1916, and he hopes to prove during the summer he is as good as ever. His first play at the Oakland Golf club tournament showed him playing brilliantly, but on his second day he was defeated by Fred Herreshoff, who is rapidly gaining fame as a golfer.

Travers has not rounded to championship form, and in his match in which Herreshoff beat him he did not play as of old. However, his friends have no fear that he will show the same ability as of old when the hot weather warms his muscles.

WOMEN CITIZENS DEFINED FULLY

BUREAU OF NATURALIZATION SENDS OUT INFORMATION AS TO WOMEN WHO ARE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE

County Clerk DeLap is in receipt of information regarding the rights of women to the ballot who are either foreign born, or are married to foreign-born men. The information is sent out by the bureau of naturalization of the department of labor.

The extension of the right of suffrage to women in many of the states has emphasized the necessity for ascertaining definitely the citizenship status of the women residents of these states.

The following provisions of law are applicable to women: Act of March 2, 1907: "Sec. 2. That any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband. At the termination of the marital relation she may resume her American citizenship, if abroad, by registering as an American citizen within one year with a consul of the United States, or by returning to reside in the United States, or, if residing in the United States at the termination of the marital relation, by continuing to reside therein."

Sec. 1994, United States Revised Statutes "Any woman who is now or may hereafter be married to a citizen of the United States, and who

LEWIS HERE TO SEE ABOUT THE BIRD PRESERVE

AGENT OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY IN CITY

Expert. It is believed, IWH recommends the Rescinding of the Order Prohibiting Hunting on Certain Lands in the Klamath Bird Reserve, Principally on Private Lands Near Klamath Falls

It is probable that arrangements can be made to exclude that portion of the Klamath bird preserve north of the straits, from the restriction against hunting, according to L. Alva Lewis, agent of the United States biological survey, who is in the city from Portland.

The matter will be taken up with the department of the interior, and it is believed that an order can be secured to permit hunting on the private lands and water between Klamath Falls and the railroad across the marsh.

Mr. Lewis expects to remain in Klamath county a couple of weeks. He will go to Clear Lake tomorrow to look over the government reserve there, and see that it is properly posted.

Two Democratic Louisiana Senators

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Senators J. R. Thornton and J. E. Ransdell of Louisiana have "run out" on the national Democratic administration so far as free sugar is concerned. They will not vote for that part of the tariff bill sent by Oscar W. Underwood, leader of the house of representatives. They will not stand for free sugar as advocated by President Wilson and adopted by the house.

But few expected they would do anything else. The last Underwood bill, which came up in the last session of congress, was opposed by them, so far as the sugar schedule was concerned. Ransdell, as a member of the house, and Thornton, in the senate, voted against free sugar then. Nevertheless, President Wilson has such a strong hold on the senate that few members of it and few political observers in Washington believe that free sugar will fail. Already there have been indications

PATCH RETURNS FROM SESSION AT WASHINGTON

PROJECT ENGINEER STRONG FOR LANE

Returning Head of Work on Klamath Project Says New Secretary of the Interior Improved All Attending Conference—All Are Certain That Whatever Action Be Taken Will Follow Careful Consideration

"I believe that, instead of injuring Director Newell of the reclamation service, the testimony offered at the conference proved conclusively that he did the best thing possible in every circumstance, and he is stronger than ever," said Project Engineer W. W. Patch, who returned Monday from the reclamation service investigation just closed in Washington.

"It will be some time, of course, before anything can come of this meeting, owing to the voluminous testimony, but all those attending, both reclamation service officials and water users, are agreed that the decision of Secretary Lane will be unbiased, and will only be given after careful investigation. Lane proved himself to be endowed with a very retentive memory, and during the daily sessions, which finally consumed 11 hours a day, he was always closely interested, and asked a number of questions. He was careful to pin all complainants down to facts, and many kicks were exploded by Lane on account of the lack of evidence or specific details.

"There is no doubt in the minds of anybody but what there is room for much improvement in the reclamation service, and I believe the meeting in Washington will bring about many changes needed. In addition it will quell the unreasonable kicks made on some projects which cannot be substantiated."

One of the greatest complaints made against the reclamation service by the water users, according to Patch, was the lack of co-operation. On this point, however, he said, the various water users could not seem to agree as to what constituted co-operation. The Rio Grande project representative stated that the water users there were willing to employ an engineering expert at a high salary to act in an advisory capacity with the reclamation service on the
