WANTS REVENUE FUND FOR THE NATIONAL PARK

SINNOTT INTRODUCES BILL IN CONGRESS

Measure Provides for a Separate Fund for Use in Crater Lake National Park, to Be Derived From Revenues Received for Licenses, Permits, Etc., in Connection With Park—Goes to Land Committee

In order to establish a method of having for use in Crater Lake National park all the revenue derived from licenses, etc., issued by the park, Congressman Nick J. Sinnott has introduced in congress a measure providing for a revenue fund for the park.

The bill has been referred to the committee on public lands, and will be reported upon later this session. The bill provides:

"That the secretary of the interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to create and establish for the Crater Lake National park a revenue fund, to be known as the Crater Lake National park revenue fund. All moneys in such fund shall be kept separate and distinct from the general fund, or any other special fund under the control of the secretary of the interior.

"That all fees, receipts and proceeds of any kind or character received from any lease, license, permit, franchise, or privilege granted in connection with the management of Crater Lake National park, or from any other source connected therewith, shall be placed and held by the secretary of the interior in said Crater Lake National park revenue fund, and shall be used and expended as directed by him solely for the use and benefit of said Crater Lake National park, as provided hereinafter, and not otherwise.

"That such Crater Lake National park revenue fund shall be expended under the direction of the secretary of the interior for the repair, construction and improvement of roads, trails and bridges in Crater Lake National park, and for such other purposes in connection with the management and administration of said park as the secretary of the interior may consider proper, necessary and expedient, and for no other purpose or purposes whatsoever.

"Circular" Vendig Under Indictment

"Circular" Joe Vendig, one of the best known sporting men in the world, has fallen into trouble in his old age, for he is under indictment by a New York county grand jury for perjury. Vendig, who has been a bookmaker at racetracks throughout the country for more than a quarter of a century, jumped into international fame when he managed the fight between Jim Corbett and Charley Mitchell, the English "Boxing Champion," as he called himself in Florida. Corbett knocked out the boastful Briton in three rounds.

In the days when the big fights were given at Coney Island, like those between Corbett and Jeffries and Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, Vendig was the stakeholder. Thousands of dollars were placed in his hands by fighters and bettors, and he always accounted for every cent.

Lately Vendig has been "the outside man," for the Yellow Taxicab company of New York. It has just been learned by the grand jury that police officials and aldermen had received favors worth thousands from this concern. The testimony of Vendig on this phase of the case resulted in his indictment for perjury.

German Stars Angry at Kaiser

BERLIN, May 20.—The Kaiser's selection of Putnam Griswold, the American opera singer, for the part of the King in "Lohengrin" at the gala performance preceding the marriage of his daughter, Princess Louise, to Prince Ernst of Cumberland, has aroused German opera singers. That an American should be chosen in a land where singers are so plentiful was considered too much, but to place him in a Wagnerian opera was more. Putnam Griswold was tickled to death by the compliment of the Kaiser. This is what he said:

"I consider this about the biggest compliment the emperor could pay to an American singer, and I am proud as pleased as it is possible to be. Quite apart from this special pleasure it would be a real delight under any circumstances to sing at such a performance. Not only was the scenery entirely new and better than anything I have yet seen for the first act of 'Lohengrin,' but the Royal opera really shows this time what it can do. I did not know that so much could be got out of 'Lohengrin.'"

America and Cuba Unite in Service for Maine Victims

Soldiers, Sailors and Citizens of Both Nations March in Long Procession Just Before the Unveiling of the Monument to the Men Who Lost Their Lives

NEW YORK, May 20.—Two nations—the freed and the liberator—today paid honor to the heroes who died on board the battleship Maine, when that ship was blown up in Havana harbor at 9:40 on the evening of February 15, 1898. The occasion was a memorial service and ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling of the national Maine monument at the Fifty-ninth street and Broadway entrance to Central park.

One thousand Cuban sailors from the warship Cuba, 10,000 United States sailors from the ships of the North Atlantic fleet came here especially for the occasion; the Sixty-ninth regiment, First Regimental cavalry and the naval militia of the New York State militia and several Spanish war veterans' associations took part in one of the greatest naval and military parades New York has seen in years. Starting from Fortieth street and Fifth avenue, the troops proceeded to Fifty-ninth street; thence down Fifty-ninth to Broadway, up Broadway to Sixty-sixth street, and thence east into Central park. Here the troops and sailors countermarched so that the heads of the various divisions simultaneously appeared surrounding the monument. In the reviewing stand were Governor Sulzer of New York, Governor Haines of Maine, Mayor Jackson and other city officials, Rear Admiral Charles Sigsbee, who was captain of the ill-fated Maine at the time of the explosion, and Father John Chidwick, chaplain of the old Maine.

Previous to the arrival of the troops at the monument, they were reviewed from a specially erected stand at the plaza, Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. At the head of the procession was Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic fleet; Admirals Winslow, Fletcher and Usher, in charge of the various divisions of the North Atlantic fleet; State Commander Chauncey W. Herick of the New York United Spanish War Veterans, and Commander Jackson and Lieutenant Sogbaum of Admiral Winslow's staff.

Turkish and Balkans Sign Treaty of Peace

British Statesman is Warmly Congratulated for His Work. Conquered Land Goes to Allies

LONDON, May 20.—Representatives of the Turkish, Bulgarian, Montenegrin, Grecian and Servian nations today signed a treaty of peace, ending the bloody war that has been carried on in the Balkan country for the past several months. By the terms of the agreement Turkey surrenders all its territory in Europe west of a line from Enos, on the Aegean sea, to Midia, on the Black sea. Crete is also surrendered. One of the terms of the peace pact provides for an autonomous government for Albania, the powers fixing the boundaries.

The remainder of the conquered territory is to be divided among the allies. The boundary lines have not been decided upon as yet. The powers are to settle the ownership of the islands in the Aegean sea. The indemnity is to be settled by the Paris commission. Sir Edward Grey, the British minister of foreign affairs, was thanked by Baron Danoff for the allies for the signing of the peace treaty. Danoff declared that the success of the negotiations were largely due to the tact and diplomacy of the British statesman.

Everything possible for the inner man was provided by the corps, and the dinner was a big contrast, some of the "Grand Old Boys" said, to the rations served some decades ago on the firing line.
