TO COMPLETE SECOND THIS

WATER FURNISHED... All of Poe Valley farmers will be served with water for irrigation next spring and summer. Loomis will furnish water to 7,000 acres of land. Work is almost completed. With the British labor problem settled, and work almost done on the other interests, completion of the second unit of the Klamath irrigation project will be under way by the close of next season, says Henry Brothers.

There is more work to be done on the Upper Klamath, but it will be finished in a few days. The South Fork Valley Irrigation project, which covers the Valley from the mouth of the Klamath to the mouth of the Rogue, is also well advanced.

In the occupation of the land, the work is well advanced. The contract, which was awarded to Henry Brothers of Bonanza, Idaho, called for the completion of the work by December 31. As the construction work is well advanced, employees of the project are confident that the project will be completed by the end of the season.
