FRIEDMANN'S PATIENTS ARE IN SAD PLIGHT

ARE TOO WEAK TO TRAVEL HOMEWARD

Los Angeles People Long to Return West, But Are Too Weak to Stand the Journey—Man, Whose Wife Died in April, Succumbed Friday, and Orphan Children Are Stranded in Providence, Rhode Island.

United Press Service

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 16.—The four orphan children and other relatives of Alex Williamson of Los Angeles, who traveled 4,000 miles across the continent to receive treatment for tuberculosis from Dr. Frederick Friedmann, the German scientist, are anxious to return home, but it is not believed that they can stand the journey.

Williamson and his wife were victims of the white plague, and in the vain hope that the German's visit meant the restoration of their health, they crossed the continent to be inoculated with the turtle serum. Their children and some affected relatives were also taken.

Instead of becoming better, as they had hoped they would after inoculation, the members of the party gradually became worse. The children all contracted the disease.

Last April Mrs. Williamson died. Friday evening Williamson also succumbed.

The surviving members of the party, who have long since lost faith in the Friedman cure, are longing for California. They believe they have more chance of recovering their health by an open air life in the West. The weakened condition of Williamson, however, kept the party in the East so long that their affliction has reached an advanced stage, and it will be almost fatal to transport them westward.

Lane is to Visit Klamath Country

FRANKLIN K. LANE

In order to acquaint himself with conditions throughout the west, Secretary Franklin K. Lane, of the Department of the Interior, has arranged to spend the latter part of the summer on the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Lane will accompany him.

The Klamath country will come in for much attention from the cabinet official, on account of the Klamath Reclamation Project, and Crater Lake National Park. Both of these institutions have been much in prominence in the office of the Interior Department this year, and the Secretary intends to acquaint himself with the actual conditions.

One of the purposes of Secretary Lane's visit to Oregon will be the inspection of the proposed irrigation and power projects in Central Oregon that are being surveyed jointly by the state and the Reclamation Service. He will also gather more data on the question concerning the completion of the West Umatilla project.

One of these will span Williamson River on the Klamath reservation, replacing the old wooden structure on the Fort Klamath road, near which Landen and Stone drove their team into the water last week.

The bridge across Klamath River will span that stream at Keno. These are to be all steel, with concrete foundations and approaches.

GROCERY CLERKS WOULD PLAY BALL

CLERKS SELLING GROCERIES ISSUE CHALLENGE TO BROTHERS PEDDLING SHIRTS, SUITS AND SOCKS

Greengoods vs Drygoods will be the battle array on a local diamond some of these days, if the drygoods and clothing salesmen of Klamath Falls accept the challenge for a baseball game issued by the grocers. The men who deal out the edibles say they are in deadly earnest, and that unless the woolcutters accept the deal to play for money, marbles or chalk, the aforesaid woolcutters are forever branded as pikers of the lowest order.

Reports from the camp of those who are challenged are hot forthcoming as yet, but it is understood that they are considering the matter, and the clothing salesmen are taking the measure of the crowd for baseball talent. It is understood that they can put on the diamond a team that, barring clerical errors at psychological moments, will wipe the earth of every ball player who ever essayed to sell cream brick for limburger.

MEXICAN FINANCING UNDER THE PRESIDENT THAT WOULD BE A TERRIBLE BLOW TO THE ECONOMY—PLOT TO KILL BRYAN

Six Thousand Federals and Militias Are Fighting Across From San Francisco—Hope of the United States to Delay Action is Regarded as Certain Situation Until After the Election. Mexico is in Danger of Being Shattered.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—It is believed that the hope of the United States to postpone action in regard to the Mexican situation until after the election in October has been destroyed, as a result of the influence of representations of England and Germany.

It is understood that the British foreign office has practically notified the state department that the United States must guarantee peace in Mexico under the provisions of the Monroe doctrine.

Other European nations are expected to follow with similar demands.

America is the only civilized nation now withholding recognition of the Huerta government. It is believed that if he is recognized now Huerta will construct this as a "black flag" on the part of the United States, and be more arrogant than ever.

President Wilson today instructed Secretary Bryan to telegraph Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City to urge here immediately. He will call in a conference over the Mexican situation.

Oscar Branzel, one of the Mexicans in Mexico, conferred with President Wilson today. It is understood that he reported alarming conditions. Secretary of State Bryan returned to Washington on July 15.

Klamath's Christmas Duck Shooting Hit by U S. Bill

Federal Game Law Would Stop Hunting in This Section December 15th. Sportsmen's Association Will Get Active at Once, Following Sacramento's Letter

Instead of enjoying duck and goose shooting from September 1 to February 15, as the state law provides, Klamath county sportsmen will have to get all their sport between September 15 and December 15, if the federal game law for the protection of migratory birds goes into effect as it is at present. This was discovered by L. S. Upson, a well known sporting goods dealer of Sacramento, who spends several days here each year, enjoying the unrivaled fishing and shooting. Upson, who has just returned to California, after an outing on Spring Creek with J. Barney Chambers, writes the following to the local sportsman: "The first thing that I ran into upon entering the store this morning was a copy of the rules and regulations for protecting all migratory birds. Oregon is affected as follows: "Season opens September 15 and closes December 15. "This includes both ducks and geese. "It will be unlawful to kill either ducks or geese before sunrise and after sunset. "This law will not go into effect until October 1, so your season will open September 1 of this year.

"The United States is divided into two districts, No. 1 and No. 2. You are in what is called the breeding district, No. 1. California is in No. 2. Most of the states in district No. 1 start shooting September 1. "This bill, of course, has not as yet been signed by the President, and is still open for change. Would suggest that your Sportsmen's Association address a letter of protest to B. T. Galloway, acting secretary of the Department of Agriculture. "In the writer's opinion, and knowledge of your territory, he believes that your season should open (Continued on Page 4)
