KLAMATH ROADS MUCH PRAISED BY THE PUBLIC

AUTOMOBILISTS ARE ALL DELIGHTED

Highways Through Scenic Eastern Oregon Are Excellent, Say Tourists. The Only Complaint Made is About the Cost of Gasoline. Writer in the Journal Says That May Result in Harm if Not Remedied

The hundreds of auto tourists traveling through Oregon are fast spreading the news that by far the best roads are through Eastern Oregon. The excellent roads in Klamath county are receiving their due amount of mention and are resulting in turning travel this way. The only complaint being made by motorists through Eastern Oregon is the claim that the charge for gasoline is too great. Unless this is remedied it will result in harm to the country. Sunday's Portland Journal contains the following: Local motorists are high in their praise of eastern Oregon roads leading north and south through the state of Oregon as compared with the Pacific highway, which is supposed to be Oregon's main north and south touring route.

George Duncan, a timber operator of this city, with H. E. Lewis, and Mr. Duncan's driver, James Van Tuyl, in an American underling "six" together with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fish, and Miss Hazel Weller, in Mr. Fish's Cadillac, shipped their automobiles to The Dalles, July 6th and left that point Sunday, July 7, driving to Redmond, a distance of 141 miles for an early dinner.

The usual route out of The Dalles was not taken by this party, instead after leaving The Dalles they went via Dufur, Tygh Valley, Maupin, Shaniko, Madras, Metolius, Culver and into Redmond over the old military trail that has since been made a substantial macadamized road. In fact the greater portion of the road from The Dalles to Redmond is made of macadam and is in exceptionally good condition.

Subway Laborer Now Great Tenor

This is Luigi Gasparini, laborer in the New York subway till Oscar Hammerstein, impresario, chanced to hear him sing while he knocked the mortar from old bricks in the subway. Then he told the man to report to the chorusmaster of the new opera house now in course of construction.

Hammerstein took Gasparini to Engine No. 3 fire house, where the boys have a piano.

"Sing some more," ordered Oscar. "Please, boss, I canna sing dis songs. My throat is full da brick dust. To-morra I sing for you!" said Gasparini apologetically.

"Go on!" shouted the crowd. Gasparini found a piano player and then set out. First he sang the Miserere from "Il Trovatore" and then followed other operatic selections.

Hammerstein, addressing Gasparini declared: "You report to the chorus master of my opera company and leave this job."

"Tanks you, boss, tanks you," gasped Gasparini. He took his coat, got his pay check, and went home to 333 East Forty-seventh street.

A petition, asking the improvement of Eleventh street from Main street to Upham street, was presented at last night's meeting of the council. As there were hardly enough signatures attached, the matter was laid over without action.

Local Sportsmen, Loading For Deer and Getting Ready For the Start of the Season--Deer are Plentiful

Deer hunting will be good this year according to a number of local sportsmen who have been out in the mountains getting a lineup in preparation for the opening of the shooting season.

The season opens Friday, August 1, and already quite a number of hunters have left for the mountains to prepare their camps. Many other parties are planning going on Thursday and later in the week.

The limit on the number of deer to be killed is three instead of five. At the last session of the legislature a bill changing the limit from five to three was passed.

There is no change in regard to the shooting of does or fawns. The law provides that it is unlawful to kill any deer without horns, which will include all does and fawns. It is very necessary, to be safe, that the hunter see the horns before he shoots.

In a circular sent out to the red and gun clubs of the state, by the state game warden, Mr. Finley warns against carelessness in shooting which often results in the killing of human beings, and advises that every man in the field get a good sight of his game before he shoots. He states: "There have been many instances of hunters being mistaken for deer. We have not had as many cases in Oregon as in some of the other states, yet we have a few cases. We strongly advise that deer hunters wear a bright red shirt in the field and a red hat. The man who gets shot in the mountains died in broad daylight, more likely to be taken for a deer than he is going through the brush in the man who wears red."

AMBASSADOR WILSON MAY TRY HONOR

European Nations Are Bringing Pressure to Bear to Cause the Resignation of General Huerta as President—In the Event That This Is Accomplished, It Is Believed That Peace Will Be Restored Once More

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Congressman Stephens of Texas introduced a resolution in the house, proposing a joint senate-house committee to make an investigation of the Mexican situation, and recommend to congress some tangible action.

Stephens stated that he had not consulted either President Wilson or Secretary Bryan regarding the possibility of such a plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—President Wilson announced today that there is no Mexican policy now. He has decided to give the Mexican people a chance to reconcile their differences.

Enormous pressure has been brought to bear upon all the parties in Mexico by financial circles and foreign nations. Wilson believes this will force a settlement.

European financiers are trying to force the resignation of President Huerta. It is said he can bring peace by quitting his office.

It is not known how long President Wilson wants to wait before further action, but he does not want to delay any great length of time.

Ambassador Wilson will probably resign.

PARIS, July 29.—The Constitutional committee asserts that Huerta's rule in Mexico is a matter of a few days. "Huerta is Mexico's Caudillo."
