SOUTHERN OREGON "U" INCORPORATED

ARTICLES ARE FILED IN SALON FOR INCORPORATION SOON TO BE FOUNDED IN MEDFORD, PROBABLY THIS FALL.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of the corporation commissioner at Salem for the University of Southern Oregon, with R. W. McCullough, W. T. D. McCullough and W. N. McCullough as incorporators.

The articles specify that the enterprise is "religious, benevolent, literary, educational, fine art and musical."

"The University of Southern Oregon is an institution of learning where young men and young women, who cannot afford to attend elsewhere can be instructed in those studies and branches of learning as universities of high standards and high tuition, with the same care and instruction, by competent and efficient instructors, lecturers and professors."

The estimated value of the property and money is $2,000, and the city of Medford made the location of the place of business.

Gossip and Progress of Nearby Communities as Chronicled in the Press.

Cement Plant Started
Construction of the apurs and sidings on the Beaver-Portland Cement company's property at Gold Hill was commenced Friday. The local section crew and an extra gang of the Southern Pacific company will complete the track this week and all will be in readiness for the arrival of the giant crusher and other machinery, which has already been shipped. The arrival of Constructing Engineer Leigh Hunt, A. D. Nicholson, millionaire cement manufacturer, and directors of the Beaver-Portland Cement company, is announced for this week. Final arrangements for the construction of the company's $500,000 plant will then be attended to and construction work commenced. Ashland Record.

Again the Danger
Although the recent rains soaked everything quite thoroughly, the present warm weather and high winds have combined to dry everything out again quite as thoroughly. The opening of the hunting season with its consequent carelessness on the part of hunters and campers makes it necessary to take extra precaution to prevent large forest fires by discovering small ones.—Medford Sun.

New Fire Apparatus
Ashland has a new American-La France chemical engine and hose motor car, purchased at a cost of $5,800. The Record Man, after an inspection, writes to remark that it is a beauty, and looks like it will fill the bill.

Homer Reynolds and Roscoe Rumsey, 13 and 13 years old, have been returned to the state reform school. The boys had broken their parole by stealing paper sacks from the Medford Candy company and gunny sacks from a rancher.

The famous homestead cases of Margaret and William Lindsay in the Dead Indian country have been finally decided by Secretary Lane of the interior department in favor of the homesteaders. The Lindsays moved onto their homesteads in 1901—since which time their troubles with the government and its secret agents and emissaries have become famous.

Judge Calkins of the circuit court held last Saturday that the municipal bond issue of $200,000 voted by the city of Grants Pass last December for the purpose of building a municipally owned railroad from that city to the Applegate Valley was legal.

Democrat Wins by Mulhall Testimony

Archibald C. Hart, just elected representative in congress from the Sixth New Jersey district, gives most of the credit to Colonel M. M. Mulhall's testimony before the senate lobby investigating committee. Mulhall made the statement that in the congressional election of 1910 of Major S. Wood McClave against William Hughes, now United States senator, he paid "every dollar of the campaign expenses of McClave, even to his meals and carfare."

But the fact that President Wilson endorsed Hart and that the progressives put up a candidate, thereby splitting the republican vote, had something to do with the democrats' success. This was the first election in which the charges of Mulhall against the manufacturers had become an issue.

over into an imposing building, modern in architecture and convenience, if plans now afoot are carried out.

Big Issue
The resources of Crook county are given publicity by the Bend Bulletin, which, in celebration of its tenth birthday, appears in a 44-page edition. In story and in picture the industries, pleasures and possibilities of that flourishing section are set forth in an attractive manner.

The attorney general has rendered an opinion to Thomas E. Farrell, deputy district attorney at Lakeview, that the county cannot collect license fees chargeable against foreign sheep brought into the county for feeding if the sheep are removed without the owner ever applying for a license. He held that the only recourse is to bring suit against the owner for violating the law.

New Creamery
The Lakeview creamery was started last Friday, and Manager Troest manufactured 250 pounds of butter at the first churning. This starter was very encouraging to the management as he did not expect to receive so much cream at the beginning. He stated that it was one of the choicest lots of cream he ever handled, the quality of the product fully attesting this fact.—Lake County Examiner.

Here, Home Industry Always
A traveling photographer hit the town this week, and then hit out again. He went around town and insisted on taking pictures of all the business houses, representing to some of our citizens that he was an agent of a calendar company and to others that he was representing an insurance company. Then two days later he went around trying to sell the pictures, but Marshal McGrath went after him for a license, when he hit the high places. Right here we want to protest against the ordinance that permits traveling photographers to do the county while charging a local man, who pays license and taxes.—Alturas Plaindealer.

The citizens of New Pine Creek have decided to fix up a fine picnic grounds on the shores of Goose Lake, just a little north of the state line, at the Amick place.

Even J. Bull is Outdistanced by United States When it Comes to Consumption of Carniverous Diet

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Americans are the biggest meat eaters in the world. They beat Johnny Bull, with all his legends about the beef of Old England. Moreover, they eat more beef per capita than the British do.

Figures for meat eating in 1909, just made public by the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, show that the per capita consumption of meat for that year in the United States, was 152.30 pounds, divided as follows (fractions omitted): Beef 80 pounds, veal 7, pork 47, mutton and lamb 6, goat meat, 13.

Over in England, where they boast about "good old roast beef," the per capita for that product is only 59 pounds. Moreover the proportion of beef in the total eaten by the American is exactly the same as for the Britisher, 47 per cent. Inhabitants of the "tight little isle" make up their total by eating 26 pounds of mutton a year, as against the Americans 6 pounds.

The Spaniards are the smallest meat eaters, their per capita consumption being only 49 pounds. Germany's is 115 pounds. In both Germany and France pork is the favorite meat.

"In view of the growing scarcity and high price of cattle and swine and their products in our markets in recent times, it is well to call attention to the comparatively insignificant part played by the bovine species in our meat dietary," the bureau declares. "It may be seen that we consume only six pounds of mutton and
