OKLAHOMA HEAVYWEIGHT DIES AS RESULT OF BLOW FROM JESS WILLARD; MANY ARRESTS

WAS UNCONSCIOUS FOLLOWING KNOCKOUT RECEIVED LAST EVENING

Willard, Tom McCarey, Tom Jones and Several Other Sporting Celebrities Are Placed Under Arrest. Will Be Held for Manslaughter. Physician Says Damage Was Done When Man's Head Hit the Floor

United Press Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—After hanging all night, following an operation, Young John Bull, an Oklahoma heavyweight pugilist knocked out by Jess Willard, died this morning.

Immediately Sheriff Hammet arrested Tom McCarey, promoter; Jess Willard, referee; Nulton and Manager Harry Gilmore Jr. and Tom Jones, and the seconds to both men.

Young John Bull, as the dead fighter was known here, met Jess Willard at Vernon last evening. He lost the fight by a knockout.

Willard's blow was terrific, and the force of it caused the boxer's feet to fly up as his head struck the ground.

When Bull failed to recover consciousness, Dr. H. G. Berogus, the club's physician, was called. The doctor summoned others of his profession, and worked all evening, even operating, but without success.

This morning the physicians announced that the injury to the skull was caused not by Willard's blow, but by the impact of the fighter's head with the floor.

All of the men arrested were herded into the sheriff's office today. It is believed that a blanket charge of manslaughter will be lodged against them.

JOHNSON AND ESPEE MIXED INTO TROUBLE

POSTMASTERSHIP FIGHT HEARS OF 1910

Hell, Appearing Before Congressional Committee in Regard to the Contest Regarding the Postmastership of Sacramento, Tells Members of Committee That Railroad Used Influence to Elect Johnson

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—"A week before the California election in 1910 I discovered that the Southern Pacific was using its whole political power to effect the election of Hiram Johnson as governor," declared Hell before the senate subcommittee hearing the Fox case today.

This declaration came after a clash in a hotel today between Hell and Spreckels.

Wednesday, in appearing before the committee, Spreckels told the investigators that Hell was a crook.

This afternoon Spreckels said he believed Hell was sincere in his attack on the Southern Pacific.

Last evening Senator LaFollette blocked the appointment of Fox as postmaster of Sacramento, and this, it is believed, will continue indefinitely.

FIRE STARTED AT DRUG STORE

HONANZA MERCHANT SAYS THAT EARLY REPORTS FROM THE HOXANZA CONFLAGRATION WERE ERRONEOUS

According to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Harpold, who are stopping at the Marshall House while in the city for a few days, from their home in Honanza, the early reports of the recent fire in Honanza erred as to the origin of the fire.

"The papers stated that the fire started in the attic of the Harpold building," said Mr. Harpold, "and I wish to make a correction. The blaze really started on the top of the drug store, which was in a shed adjacent to the Harpold building."

"The electric wires running into both buildings passed over the roof of the drug store, very close to the boards. A lot of trash and papers had been thrown on this shed roof, and were so piled as to come in contact with the wires."

"Just before the fire was discovered the lights in the drug store went out, and there immediately followed an odor of something burning. Attention of this odor was called to the proprietor, but he explained it by saying that a fuse had burned out, and that an odor of that kind always resulted when fuses burned."

"A few minutes later flames were coming from the roof of the drug store shed."

"Many witnesses will vouch for the truth of this, among them being several from Klamath Falls."

International Relay at Celtic Park NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The chief interest in today's great field and track meet at Celtic Park centered in the international relay race, in which teams from Canada, Boston and New York were entered. The same teams met at the big Chicago athletic meet on August 16th. Next in interest was the 20-mile marathon, in which Jim D. Ry, the Hamilton, Ontario, distance runner, was expected to finish well.

Eyes of Army Are on Carter

Major General Carter, in command of the United States troops stationed along the Mexican border in Texas and New Mexico and Arizona is being closely watched by civil and military people alike, as he is considered in the light of a barometer to the policy of the United States toward the use of Uncle Sam's troopers in the Mexican situation.

Should the administration deem it necessary to send soldiers into the Southern country, this invading army would be in command of Carter, who has had charge of all the border maneuvers of the past three years, and who is thoroughly alive to existing conditions among the Mexican people.

THAW HAS OWN WAY, BUT CASE IS COMPLICATED

LAWYERS SAY "GO"—HE SAYS "NO"

Attorneys for Escaped Mattawan Prisoner Believe He Will Be Safer in Vermont, But to His Idea, the Dominion Still is Whole Lot Better Footing—May Yet Be Returned to New York Asylum for Insane.

By JOHN C. NEVIN (Staff Correspondent)

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, Aug. 25.

The Canadian government officials this afternoon delivered an ultimatum that Harry Kendall Thaw can decide whether he will go to Vermont or stay in Canada. He alone is to decide.

Thaw's lawyers have decided to leave the matter to him. Thaw has concluded not to make a decision before Monday at the earliest.

The situation is most complicated. Thaw wants to stay in Canada, but his lawyers say Vermont is safer for him, as the Canadian law regarding undesirable aliens is unfavorable to Thaw.

The prisoner was told flatly today that he is considered as an undesirable, but Canada does not want to surrender him without affording him protection.

So the government has told the attorneys for the New Yorker that if he wants to go to Vermont they will help him there.

If Thaw insists on staying and fighting deportation, he was warned that he will be surrendered to the New York authorities if he loses.

AFTER INVESTIGATION, THE GOVERNMENT CANNOT BRING UP CHARGES AGAINST

Development of the Government's Water Power Possibilities in Oregon by Ryan to Bring About the Reclamation and Rebuilding of Klamath Water Users Believe They Have a Friend Before Lane in W. A. Ryan

In W. A. Ryan, special representative of the interior department, who has just completed an investigation of the Klamath project, the friends of Klamath county have a friend whom they can feel assured will be strong and able representative of their interests before Governor Lane.

With the great interest shown by Assistant Secretary Ryan in the Reclamation and Rebuilding of the Klamath project, there appears to be every reason to expect immediate relief for the settlers under the government's plan.

Contrary to the usual custom, government officials in the past, Mr. Ryan arrived in Klamath Falls, the first of the week without immediate visit, and has been studying the situation, visiting the farmers on their land and learning the actual conditions from the men who till the soil.

During the hearing in the park yesterday afternoon, Mr. Ryan occupied a seat next to Mr. Miller, and as former after farmer came forward and related their troubles and offered their opinion as to the proper remedy, Mr. Ryan was able to follow the majority of the actual conditions as they existed on the particular water users' farm.

In discussing the Klamath project, after the meeting in the park, with a pronounced opinion, Mr. Ryan was indicated in the opinion that most of the trouble was due to the farmers themselves. Mr. Ryan went on record as saying that the farmers of the Klamath project are entitled to the utmost consideration. He said in part: "I have made a full investigation of the project. I know what the farmers are doing, and I know what I am talking about when I say that they have made an earnest, conscientious effort to develop and utilize their lands. Nowhere under government projects have I found a more intelligent and industrious set of farmers than under the Klamath project."

"Your farmers have done more toward improving and building up their farms than those of any other I have visited. I find that in many instances they have even neglected their health."
