

Immigration Board Finds Thaw Can Be Deported; Jerome Is Arrested

REPORTER'S GAME LANDS JEROME IN CANUCK JAIL

LOCKED IN CELL THAW FIRST OCCUPIED
Prosecutor and Newspaper Men, Expecting to Take Thaw Home to New York, Were Indulging in a Little Penny Ante, and Citizens Saw Money Pass—Penalty Upon Conviction Is Year Imprisonment, in Canada

United Press Service
COATICOOK, Sept. 5.—Charged with gambling, William Travers Jerome, the attorney representing the state of New York in the fight for Harry K. Thaw's return to Matteawan, was arrested today.

Jerome was led through the streets by a hostile mob, and was lodged in jail. He occupies the same cell Thaw was lodged in when first arrested.

While waiting, hoping to return home with Thaw, New York newspaper correspondents assigned to the case started a game of poker in Jerome's automobile. Milford Aldridge, a citizen, seeing money pass between the players, swore out a complaint.

After Jerome was in jail an hour, Magistrate Mc'Lee admitted his release on bail. Jerome asserts that this arrest is a plot on the part of Thaw's attorneys.

The trial of Jerome has been set for tomorrow morning. The maximum penalty is a year's imprisonment. The newspaper men say they were playing penny ante. Jerome, they declare, lost 54 cents.

When the Thaw inquiry resumed this morning, L. T. Marechal, counsel for the Dominion officials, told the defense that any attempt to resign to the immigration board's decision would probably result in Thaw's deportation direct to Matteawan instead of Vermont.

W. L. Shurtleff, Thaw's personal attorney, seems to think that it is only a matter of a few hours until Thaw is back in the United States.

Sheriff and Mrs. Low, R. H. Brewbaker and wife and Mrs. Len Johnson autoed to Spring Creek today, where Sheriff Low will serve legal papers while the others fish.

Harry E. Anglin, superintendent in charge of building the new court house, is in San Francisco on a short mission of business.

State Fish Car, Laden With Trout for Klamath County, Will Arrive From Portland on Train Tonight

The state fish car will arrive from the north this evening, bearing a consignment of trout for Klamath county streams. This will be the first big shipment of trout fry here this year. There are several varieties in the shipment, and the fry will be distributed in the various streams needing restocking. A number of cans of trout will be put off here to be sent to creeks for liberation. Tomorrow morning the car will be taken to Chillicothe and Kirk to plant fish in that vicinity. From there fish

HURRICANE AND TIDAL WAVE HITS CAROLINA COAST

SEVERAL SHIPS ARE WRECKED BY TEMPEST
Damage Is Estimated at Five Million Dollars—So Far as Reported No Lives Have Been Lost, Although Shipping Is Badly Damaged—Several Crews Rescued After Hard Fights With the Elements

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 5.—Meagre reports received here place the estimate of damage caused by last night's hurricane and tidal wave at $5,000,000. A hundred mile wind and violent rains swept the entire state. The worst damage was along the coast. Twenty-four persons were rescued from the steamer George Wells, off Hatteras inlet.

So far as can be ascertained there were no fatalities.

WASHINGTON, N. C., Sept. 5.—Wireless reports from Cape Hatteras fail to substantiate the reports of heavy fatalities at Ocracoke, N. C. The Ocracoke life saving crew is assisting the crews of distressed steamers.

The wrecks include an unknown English oil steamer ashore off Ocracoke, a three-masted schooner and a one-mast schooner. A vessel with one mast standing is visible ten miles off Cape Hatteras.

BUTCHER FINED $75 AND COSTS

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF USING SULPHITES IN FOOD
COMMISSIONER WAS THE COMPLAINANT
J. J. Hales, one of the owners of the Klamath Falls Meat company, on Thursday pleaded guilty to a charge of using preservatives in meats. He was fined $75 and costs by Justice of the Peace Gowen.

The complaint against Hales was made some time ago by M. S. Shrock, deputy food and dairy commissioner. He charged the local butcher with using sulphites in hamburger he was selling.

John Bunny, Comedian, Wearing the Smile That Made Him King

John Bunny, star comedian of the "movies," has become a king, and this is the smile he wore when he learned it. It is the smile which has made hundreds of thousands laugh in the moving picture shows, and the fair young woman with the smile is to be a queen.

Not, of course, a real queen nor a real king, but the King and Queen of Mirth, and they will reign at Coney Island during Mardi Gras week, the closing of the most popular ocean side resort in the United States.

John Bunny's smile had as much as anything else to do with his election. In fact, it is probable that without his smile he would not have been thought of for the place. Just as soon as he found he was the victor he announced he had chosen Miss Lillian Walker as his queen. She is of the "movies," too, and she has a winning smile.

Bunny and Miss Walker are members of the Vitagraph Stock company, appearing in the comedies and society dramas staged by the company for motion pictures.

MANY TRAINS TO PINE TREE CO. RUN TO ROUND-UP TO BUILD MILL

PENDLETON ESTIMATES THE ATTENDANCE AT THIS YEAR'S SHOW TO BE CLOSE TO 75,000 PEOPLE

PENDLETON, Sept. 5.—Entries are coming in very fast, and from the present indications there will be more than 200 world champions entered in the bucking contest alone.

The crowds are augmenting every day, and railroad officials who are in a position to know, say there will be 75,000 visitors at the Round-Up this year.

The O. R. & N. alone will run twenty special trains into Pendleton, and the Northern Pacific will have about half that many, making a total of thirty trains. This is in addition to the regular open day excursions and the special cars which will be coming from towns where the special train service will not be extended.

WORLD FAMOUS BOTANISTS AT CRATER LAKE

SCIENTISTS DELIGHTED WITH KLAMATH'S WONDER
Information Gathered by Party Will Be Used in Lectures Before Leading Universities of Europe—Swiss Scientist Sees His First North American Indian at the Klamath Agency Thursday Afternoon

(Staff Correspondent)
CRATER LAKE, Ore., Sept. 5.—The first international Phytogeographical excursion to visit North American territory spent yesterday and today examining plants, flowers, shrubs and trees at Crater Lake and surrounding slopes. The object of the visiting botanists is to study authentic data on the geographical distribution of plants; to study the flora, climatic conditions and elevation, the inter-relationship of different forms of plant life as it merges from one type into another.

Not all of their time was spent on plants, however, as each and every one seemed vastly interested in the wonderful Crater Lake. They even braved the rain storm of Thursday afternoon to sail out to Wizard Island on a tour of inspection.

Their exclamations of surprise and delight and expressions of wonder and amazement far exceeded anything the boldest booster has ever dared to write.

Prof. Carl Schroter of Switzerland doubted the existence of the North American Indian.

"I've been in America since July 3d," he complained, "and nowhere have I seen anything that resembles in the least the pictures one has seen of your Indian."

Thursday afternoon Mr. Smith of the Klamath Agency, and when they returned to Crater Lake the professor admitted the existence of the Indian.

"They look just like the pictures," he said "only more so."

The excursionists are making a tour of the United States under the personal direction of Dr. Henry C. Cowles of the University of Chicago. The trip to Crater Lake had not been included in their regular program, and for it they are indebted to the Medford Commercial Club and to P. J. O'Gara, the eminent pathologist, whose headquarters are at Medford.

The personnel of the excursionists include men who have attained the very pinnacle of fame in the botanical and entomological world, and their future lectures and papers on Crater Lake will be of great value to Klamath county. Those in the party were:

Dr. H. Brockmann-Jerosch, Zurich; Frau Dr. Brockmann-Jerosch, Zurich; Prof. Adolf Engler, Berlin; Dr. Geo. E. Nichols, New Haven; Dr. Ove Paulsen, Copenhagen; Dr. Edward Rubel, Zurich; Prof. Carl Schroter, Zurich; Prof. T. J. Stomps, Amsterdam; Mr. A. G. Tansley, Cambridge; Mrs. A. G. Tansley, Cambridge; Prof. C. von Tuleuf, Munich; Prof. Henry C. Cowles, Chicago; Dr. Alfred Dachnowski, Columbus; Mr. Geo. D. Fuller, Chicago; Prof. F. E. Clements, Minneapolis; Mrs. F. E. Clements, Minneapolis; Mrs. Alfred Dachnowski, Columbus; Dr. E. P. Meinecke, United States forest service; Prof. F. K. Butters, Minneapolis; H. D. Foster, forest service.

GAMINETTI CASE GOES TO JURORS

EARLY VERDICT IS EXPECTED BY THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN CONNECTED WITH THE TRIAL OF THE YOUNG MAN

United Press Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Following the conclusion of arguments in the trial of Drew Caminetti, Federal Judge Van Fleet at 11 o'clock began his charge to the jury.

The jury will soon reach a verdict, say those who have been following the case. At 12 o'clock Judge Van Fleet adjourned court until 2 o'clock.

The defense made exceptions to Van Fleet's charge. Among other things he told the jurors not to be moved by sympathy.

THIS DIVORCE IS A COSTLY ONE

POTTERS ADVISED TO PRUNE THEIR WITNESS LISTS DOWN, THUS SAVING SOME THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Some idea of what the costs of a divorce suit might run into is contained in the opinion of Circuit Judge Benson written today, denying a change of venue in the Potter divorce suit.

Action for separation was commenced here some time ago by Olive Potter against Wesley Potter. Both reside in Lane county, and are in their early twenties.

Some time later Potter filed an application for a change of venue to Lane county. He said he had sixty-seven witnesses there to testify for him. The wife opposes this, and her

Mrs. Richard I. Hammond Dies in Portland After a Long Illness; Her Husband and Brother Go North

Following prolonged sickness, Mrs. Richard I. Hammond passed into the beyond at Portland at 11 o'clock last night. Telegrams conveying this sad intelligence were received late last night by her husband and her brother, Charles S. Moore.

Mr. Hammond and Mr. Moore left this morning for Portland. It is believed that the remains will be interred there, where the father of the deceased is buried.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Hammond was Miss Frankie S. Moore. She was born in Marion county, where Mount Angel is now located.

Her parents were prominent in the early history of the state. Judge William S. Moore, her father, who was a millwright of prominence in the Willamette Valley, and constructed many of the state's first factories and mills, came to Klamath county in 1873, and he constructed the grist mill and sawmill at the Klamath Agency.

IS ORDERED SENT OUT OF COUNTRY WITHOUT DELAY

MONTREAL WRIT THOUGHT TO BE A DELAY

Immigration Commissioners Find Thaw Is Subject to Deportation for Entering Canada by Stealth, and Because He Has Been an Inmate Asylum Inmate—Jerome Leaves in Automobile—Destination Unknown

United Press Service
MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—It is reported authoritatively that Judge Gervais of the king's bench this afternoon issued a habeas writ, requiring the production of Harry K. Thaw in court here immediately.

COATICOOK, Sept. 5.—The board of immigration this afternoon found that Harry Kendall Thaw was deportable from Canada on two counts: For entering Canada by stealth and for having been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years of the date of his entry to the Dominion.

The board ordered the immediate deportation of Thaw. An appeal was immediately entered by Thaw's counsel.

It is stated that the writ of habeas corpus obtained in Montreal is a bar to immediate deportation.

While on the stand Thaw was most cheerful. He was calm when questioned regarding the flight. When asked if he killed White he grew nervous, but did not hesitate in replying: "I refuse to answer."

Prosecutor Jerome, representing New York, left town in his automobile this afternoon. His destination is unknown, but it is believed that he is on his way back to Montreal or Quebec.
