FOREIGNER POSES AS AN AMERICAN

WORSE STILL, THOSE WHO HAVE HEARD HIM, SAY HE POSES AS AN IRISHMAN—IS TAKEN TO PORTLAND

Immigration Inspector R. P. Bonham brought a man giving his name as John Murphy over from Lake county last night, and lodged him in the Hotel de Low.

This morning Bonham left with his prisoner for Portland, where he will turn him over to the federal authorities for a hearing.

It seems that Murphy has been enjoying the privileges of a citizen after having been denied naturalization papers.

Chief of Police Smith heard the man talking this morning, and says he is a foreigner, all right, but judging from his accent, he has never been near the Emerald Isle. It is evident that he borrowed the name of Murphy.

National Polish Alliance Meets

Farm's Utility Honors Belong to the Porker

A subscriber writes in and asks why it is that we claim that the hog is the greatest money maker of all farm animals?

This statement is not often questioned. It is acknowledged by most people who have given it any consideration. The hog is an economical cog in the farm operation. He is a conservator of waste, a gleaner in the fields, and a helper of the farmer in adding to his bank balance.

Because of his saving qualities, he has been denominated as "the gentleman that pays the rent for the householder; the mortgage lifter for the farmer." In the past he was adopted by the farmers of the corn and hog belt as the only feasible way of marketing the corn crop. Being turned into the field and fattened. This was known as "hogging the corn," thus saving all of the labor of gathering, storing and feeding out again.

At times, when the wheat crop was an over-production, and prices were down below the 50-cent mark at the farm, the hog was used to market wheat. He has done his part in converting the by-product of the dairy and creamery into a merchantable article through his stomach. The feeder of a bunch of steers follows them with a drove of hogs that are fattened on the undigested corn fed the steers. Hogs take care of the by-product of distilleries, beet sugar plants, of the garbage of the cities and of many other factories where food products for human beings are manufactured.

In Texas and several Southern states they inform us that they can make port at 2 cents a pound on peanuts, and more pounds per acre than they can with a crop of corn, letting the pigs do their own picking or digging, as you please to call it. The hogs can convert kafir corn, milo maize, cow peas and soy beans into choice pork that can be cashed every day in the year.

Then, again, he is a forager; he can grow on alfalfa and clover, and several other kinds of pastures, but especially is he adapted to converting alfalfa into lean pork, and when balanced properly makes one of the ideal feeds for pork production at the cheapest possible cost.

Then again, while the sheep, cows and horses will increase from 60 to 100 per cent annually, the hog will increase from 500 to 2,000 per cent annually. He can be turned into the market as quick as a crop of grain.

These are some of the reasons why we claim that the hog is the greatest money maker of the farm animals—American Swineherd.

How a Suffragette Eats Corn in Camp

This is a photograph of Miss M. F. Baird, ardent suffragette of New York, showing how she eats corn. Some of the suffragettes have established a camp at Hempstead, L. I., for the good of the cause, and they have determined to live an outdoor life for a few days.

Negro, Fastest Sprinter in World, Trains as a "Baggage Smasher"

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 15.—Howard P. Drew, the Springfield high school student, who has several times equaled Duffey's record of 9.3-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash, and who promises to be the greatest sprinter the world has known, trains by "smashing baggage" in the railroad station at Springfield, it has just been learned. He says that is the best exercise he can find to get him into condition to win a race.

Drew was pronounced by the late Mike Murphy, the great trainer of the Pennsylvania University, as the greatest amateur sprinter he has ever seen. When in high school he made his way by acting as bellboy in the largest hotel in Springfield, but since leaving school Drew has more time on his hands, and he finds that from ten to eighteen hours at smashing baggage yields him much more in the way of income than did his old job at "bell-hopping."

Strangely enough, since he has become a baggage handler, Drew has increased not a little in speed. Three times this summer he has been credited with running 100 yards in 9.2-5 seconds.

Drew qualified for the finals in the Olympic games at Stockholm, but on the last day pulled a tendon, and was compelled to withdraw from the finals.
